ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1955

The municipal officers elected to serve you, the citizens of the Town of Sanford and Village of Springvale, herewith respectfully summarize some of the many and varied activities pursued throughout the year ending December 31, 1955.

At the outset of the year 1955, Sanford citizens were faced with the grim fact that Goodall-Sanford, Incorporated, had closed its doors. Goodall-Sanford, Incorporated, an industrial name for many years synonymous with the finest in plush, woollens, drapery cloth and summer suiting no longer was the source of employment for some 3,500 people in our community.

During the past year, several new industries decided to cast their lot with Sanford by locating here—some of them are already in production to a certain extent, while others are getting geared for production as fast as time will permit. Many of our older people, i.e., those in the age bracket from 50 to 65 years of age, look into the future with serious forebodings as it relates to the probability of getting employment again. Their fears are not without foundation. The New Look about all Post World War II industry is the constant hiring of increasingly younger people—this practice, if continued at the existing accelerated pace, presents all levels of government with some very complex and serious problems having a direct bearing upon welfare costs on the local level, and the capacity of municipalities to carry the inevitable burdens that are increasingly being placed upon them. In the development of a new economy for Sanford via the route of diversification, it is our hope and prayer, that new industries will adopt a pattern with a "Newer Look" which will afford opportunity of employment to these older people who have proven themselves to be among the most serious, stable and dependable in the labor market.

During the year, many conferences were held jointly with the representatives of new industries, the Chamber of Commerce and the Grossman Brothers and we can assure the townspeople that concerted effort on the part of all concerned is constantly being made to reactivate all of the idle industrial floor space. We are confident that with patience, perserverance, hard work, and with the help of Divine Providence, Sanford could well become, in the not too distant future, the center of industrial activity in York County.

Since occupation of the new Mountain View Infirmary by the aged, we have been plagued with a faulty heating system—this necessitated expensive alterations which, we hope, will put it in good working order once and for all. While the infirmary was built to house twenty-eight persons, we actually had thirty-four patients in residence there as of December 31, 1955. These patients are under the very able and good care of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Holland. Welfare costs, during the past year, did not climb as anticipated by your municipal officers. This we believe, is a reflection of the frugality of our people when they were working, and we hope that the new year will bring no drastic change in this department.

During the year 1955, many tons of Federal Surplus Food was made available to families whose earnings did not exceed the per capita income limitations set up by the Federal Surplus Commodity Credit Corporation—this surplus food, in many cases, meant the difference between many families and the welfare department office door. This surplus food is also made available to all public assistance cases as a dietary supplement. The items of food available consists of beans, butter, cheese, corn meal, dry milk, flour, lard and shortening.

Summing up, may we say that we sincerely believe that all departments of municipal government have been administered with an eye to economy, that every measure to save was taken.

True, undoubtedly, some mistakes were made, but, we can, without fear of contradiction, assure you that they were of a human nature and not intentional.

In closing may we extend to you, the people of Sanford, our sincere thanks for having given us the opportunity of serving you during the year 1955, and may we also extend our deepest appreciation and thanks to the personnel of every municipal department for the cooperation given us during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,
THOMAS A. MEUNIER,
ARTHUR M. CARIGNAN,

Selectmen of Sanford, Maine

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF THE BOARD OF ENGINEERS OF SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

To the Municipal Officers

Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1955.

The mobile equipment is in very good condition. Engine No. 2 is now 27 years old and still running. How long this truck will stand up on a pumping job nobody knows.

The public has been warned of this condition for the last ten or more years. The Warrant Committee has refused to listen to the plea of the officers of the Sanford Fire Department, therefore said officers should not be called negligent if the Town of Sanford should lose the service of this pumper.

Due to a severe cut in appropriation for the Fire Department there has been no outside fire alarm work except emergency work, therefore the outside lines are not in the best of condition.

Due to this same cut citizens of the Town of Sanford living outside the hydrant limits of this town should take every precaution in regards to fire as this department is very low on the type of hose needed to give protection to the large area and long distance from water hole or brook to farm or forest on fire.

As the outgoing Chief I wish to thank all departments in the Town of Sanford for the cooperation with this department during my term as chief of the Sanford Fire Department.

Respectfully submitted,

ALMON H. STACKPOLE, Chief
F. HAMMOND, 1st Asst.

SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen,
Town of Sanford

Dear Sirs:

The Board of Engineers of the Springvale Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1955.

The Springvale Fire Station and equipment are in very good condition.

There have been very few fires of any size this year in Springvale and we would like to thank the people at this time for their cooperation in helping to prevent fires getting started by keeping cellars and attics, smoke pipes and chimneys clean. Also for getting permits from your fire department before starting outside fires to burn rubbish, grass, etc.

We have made 700 building inspections this year in business places, schools, churches and shoe factories.

We would like to thank the Ladies' Auxiliary for the drapes they made for the Fire Station meeting hall windows and the many things they have given the Fire Department for the kitchen.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the Selectmen and their clerks, the Sanford Fire Department, Police and Highway Departments, Call Men and Permanent Men for their cooperation and assistance in the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMORE L. HANSCOM, Chief

ALBERT BALDWIN, Asst.

HILLIARD M. BOOTHBY, Asst.

REPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE
AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

Sanford, Maine

December 31, 1955

Chairman Board of Selectmen

Sanford, Maine

Herewith a report of the Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency for 1955.

Public alerts were held during the year at the direction of the State Civil Defense Headquarters with participation held to staff and Communications Personnel. Individual units in the organization held their several training activities with the police, fire reserves and ground observer units being the most active. In this connection, the Civil Air Patrol has performed a very important service on several occasions, and has conducted schools which have reflected the state of training being received.

There were no natural disasters during the year, although the hurricane season gave us some imminent worries.

The equipment purchased in previous years has been kept in good operating condition and it is hoped that in succeeding years additional necessary equipment may be added to promote instruction for those who will be desirous of becoming a member of this organization.

Having been appointed as director in September, I should like to express my thanks to Mr. Allan Horne for his excellent assistance in orienting me in the various duties of Director, to the Selectmen for their cooperation and to all other citizens of the town who have given support to me, and to the promotion of a Civil Defense Organization.

Respectfully submitted,

MOORE GREENWOOD,
Director Civil Defense
and Public Safety, Sanford

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1955

To the Selectmen, Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The following is a report of the activities of the Health Department during the year ending December 31, 1955:

The annual vaccinations and inoculations for smallpox tetanus, and pertussis were given to those children from public and parochial schools whose parents consented to such immunization.

Children five and six years of age were given initial inoculations of poliomyelitis vaccine in June.

Our Well Baby Clinic was held on the third Thursday of every month at the Unitarian Church Gymnasium. Attendance at the Clinic continued to rise through the year.

There was no great change in the total number of contagious diseases reported by the town of Sanford, although individual disease totals differed. The number of whooping cough cases more than doubled and measles cases were slightly increased, while there were several times fewer cases of mumps than in 1954. Poliomyelitis cases were slightly increased, but as compared with some severe past years, the outbreak was relatively mild. The state-wide fatality percentage for polio was actually less than last year's.

House calls, office calls and hospital visits were made to patients entitled to welfare and old age assistance.

Infractions of plumbing and livestock laws and other complaints of public nuisances were dealt with as they occurred.

Thanks and appreciation are tendered to Miss Estelle Authier, R. N., and Mrs. Elwin Holland of Mountain View Infirmary for their work in the Welfare Department.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.

REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION

1 9 5 5

To the Citizens of Sanford:

Following is the report of the public health nursing activities of The Community Health Association of Sanford. Our nursing program accomplishments are submitted under four classifications.

- I. Service for bedside nursing care and nursing care to ambulatory patients.

1,137 visits were made to patients at the request of the patients' physicians and care was given as ordered.

- II. Combination service of bedside nursing care, health education and clinic participation.

1. Program with Diabetics

343 visits were made to diabetic patients for instruction in the technique of administering insulin, in personal hygiene and in explanation of diets as ordered by the physician.

Assistance was given a representative of the New England Diabetic Association in planning and observing a Diabetic Fair Exhibit. An educational exhibit was arranged by the Association and also it was made possible for anyone over the age of 15 years to have free x-rays. The nurses attended for the purpose of conferring with visitors, for giving clinical tests and for arranging blood sugar tests for persons with diabetes.

2. Tuberculosis Program

447 visits were made to tuberculosis patients, suspects and contacts. These visits were made under the direction of the county health officer, the local health officer and private physicians.

207 individuals had chest x-rays at clinics held bi-monthly at the Henrietta D. Goodall Hospital. These clinics are organized and attended by The Community Health Association nurses. The reports of x-rays are submitted to the patients and doctors.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

The York County Tuberculosis and Health Association has helped by paying for some of the x-rays at these clinics. Their clerk is available to The Community Health Association on occasional afternoons in doing clerical work pertaining to tuberculosis patients.

3. Program for Cancer Patients

242 visits were made to patients with cancer, urging continuous medical supervision. Also, dressings were changed and nursing care given as needed.

Arrangements were made with the Maine Cancer Society for one individual to be transported to Portland for treatment; also to obtain special medications for the patient.

4. Program with Well Babies and Pre-School Children

1,214 conferences were held by the nurses with parents concerning the development and care of an average child in this group.

Letters were sent to parents of three-month old babies, explaining the need for immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough and vaccination against smallpox. The letter suggested that the parents consult with their family physicians or attend the Association's clinics in this connection.

10 immunization clinics were organized and attended. Assistance was given the Town Health Officer at these clinics. 36 pre-school children were vaccinated against smallpox and 319 injections were given for prevention against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

9 foot clinics were held for the examination of children's feet. 117 children were examined by a podiatrist and cared for.

5. Communicable Disease Control Program

30 home visits were made to this type patient. These visits were in addition to those made in the tuberculosis program. Also, the immunization clinics described under the well baby and pre-school program are a part of the communicable disease program.

Blanks and summaries were completed on all cases having been diagnosed as poliomyelitis. This is a state law. As a case is reported to the health officer, the services of the Public Health personnel are sought to acquire detailed information regarding the patient: for example, where he lives, sewerage system, milk and water supply, and whether paralysis is present. Bedside nursing care was also given to those requested the same in their homes.

A clinic was organized and attended for the administration of the Salk Vaccine against poliomyelitis. 398 children received the same. Assistance was given the Town Health Officer at this clinic.

6. Program for Cardiac Patients

258 visits were rendered to individuals with heart trouble. A concentrated program was centered on the patients to insure that they keep under medical care and follow doctors' advices. Special care was given to the patients' diets.

7. Pre-Natal Program

192 visits to these patients included instruction for care during this period.

One Mothers' Class was attended. Four lectures were given by our nurses, including the showing of charts and movies applicable to pre-natal patients. Arrangements were made for a lecture on "Nutrition," delivered by the Home Demonstration Agent of the Farm Bureau.

8. Program for Crippled Individuals

173 visits were made to crippled individuals, interpreting to patients and families care recommended by specialists.

III. Sanford Health Camp at Highpine, Maine

Seven continuous weeks of care were given to 24 Sanford children. The children were referred for care by physicians because of physical or emotional disturbances. A health education program was presented to these children to teach them methods for aiding themselves.

Mrs. Roberts, one of the Association's visiting nurses, served as a part time assistant to the supervisor, Miss Tabor, at the Health Camp.

IV. Nursing Service in Parochial Schools.

Visits were made to the Parochial Schools for consultation with the teachers.

Clinics were organized and attended for the immunization and vaccination of children in the sub-primary and first grades.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

Patch tuberculin tests were applied to children in the sub-primary grades.

Analyses for detection of sugar were done in the seventh grades.

In addition to executing the above program, we have continued to consider our work in relation to other organized groups in the community. Assistance has been given, whenever requested, in helping other organizations assist individuals

An educational program for our nurses has been one of our aims, for a well-informed nurse gives better professional service.

In conclusion, in rendering our particular service, we have followed a program that has emphasized the improvement of the health and welfare of all who live in the community.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD T. HANSCOM, President
The Community Health Association

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The activities of the Park Commission during the year 1955 have been varied. Progress, particularly with respect to public playgrounds and recreation, has been gratifying.

Twenty-five 8 to 10 foot nursery-grown shade trees were set out in various sections of the town.

The Park Commission extends its appreciation to all citizens who have cared for and protected these young trees and also those trees and shrubs which were planted in prior years.

Attendance at all public playgrounds during the year 1955, including Goodall Park, reached 22,255, an increase of 4,094 over 1954 "play and recreation" figures.

More than 7,000 baseball participation units were recorded for Goodall Park during the spring and summer, which saw the adult twilight baseball league revived after a lapse of several years—under the auspices of the Park Commission. For our purposes, we count each individual who participates in a regularly played game or an organized practice session as a "participation unit." These participation units, with respect to Goodall Park baseball for 1955, break down as follows: High school baseball, Sanford High and St. Ignatius High, 1,180 units; Junior American Legion, 890; twilight league, 1,380; Midget League; 1,420, (boys 8-11 generally not active in Little League; PONY League, 2,170.

Despite a reduced appropriation, the Park Commission successfully completed extensive repairs to the grounds, to the fence and to the grandstand at Goodall Park and secured new, heavy duty steel mesh nets for the tennis courts in the Elizabeth Benton and Springvale playgrounds.

Much of the repair work at Goodall Park was accomplished by regular employees of the Park Department with a substantial assist from a group of boys of the PONY League. The tennis court nets which will be installed next spring, will replace nets which have been in service for more than 10 years.

Goodall Park, which was deeded to the town by Goodall-Sanford, Inc., three years ago, now is generally considered to be in excellent condition throughout—its playing field in better shape than it ever has been in its 40-year history. This the Park Commission is happy to report since it feels that by promoting an expanding spring-summer baseball program for the youth and young men of the community, in a clean attractive setting, it can continue to be an ever increasing factor in holding down local juvenile delinquency.

At this time, the Park Commission also would like to thank the Universal-Allied shoe factories, the Wasco Chemical Co., and Thomas W. Cole Post, American Legion, for contributions to the Goodall Park PONY League program; Gendron Lumber Co., Central Tire Retreading Co., Local 1802, A. F. of L., and Goodall-Sanford, Inc., for contributions of uniforms to the twilight league program. As the result of the generosity of these various firms and organizations, much of the Goodall Park 1955 baseball program was operated without cost to the taxpayers of the town of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES BLOUIN

Mr. Maurice J. Maurice, Chairman
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

Sanford, Maine

Dear Mr. Maurice:

In accordance with Chapter 16, Section 3 of the Revised Statutes of 1944 and at your request, the records of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1955.

I herewith enclose my report of this Audit with supporting schedules and questionnaire.

The records of the Town Treasurer, Selectmen, Superintendent of Schools and Town Clerk and Tax Collector of the Town of Sanford have been audited weekly and their records checked with mine and have been found to be correct.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET M. SHAW,

Auditor

Mr. Fred M. Berry, State Auditor
State Department of Audit
Augusta, Maine

Dear Mr. Berry:

I am enclosing a copy of my report of the Audit of the Town of Sanford, Maine for the year ending December 31, 1955.

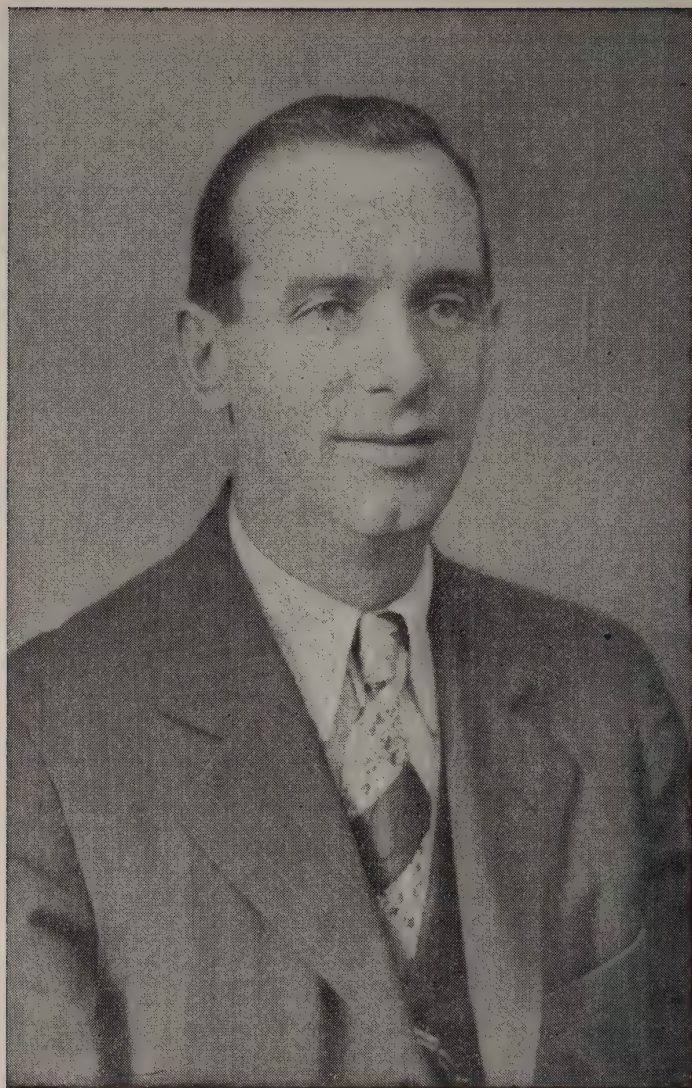

A copy of this report is on file in the Office of the Selectmen of the Town of Sanford, Maine.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET M. SHAW,

Auditor

Enclosure.

In Memoriam

ARTHUR M. CARIGNAN

Born at Somersworth, New Hampshire, January 27, 1891 — Died February 5, 1956.

Resident of Sanford for thirty-eight years.

Representative to Maine Legislature from Sanford — 1933 to 1936.

Member of the Board of Selectmen — January 1, 1942 to January 1, 1956.

Assistant to Town Treasurer — January 1, 1956 to time of death.

We, who were privileged to serve with him, have had our lives enriched by his sterling character, his devotion to duty, and sincerity of purpose — we cannot but feel that to such a one, death has no terrors; it is an awakening to a higher life; it is not a good night but rather a good morning.

“Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of our better days,
None knew thee but to love thee,
None named thee but to praise.”

To those left behind, may we say:

Early parting is the bitterest experience of human life.

Death is the dawn of morning.

The dawn will be eternal life.

Eternity will see the glad reunion.

Respectfully,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,

THOMAS A. MEUNIER,

Selectmen of Sanford, Maine

The next time you pass a public school pause a moment to think what that school means to humanity. Recall the long dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance — when greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand. From the very beginning of man's struggle for knowledge, self-respect, and the recognition of his inalienable rights, the school has been his greatest ally. We refer to the school as "common" because it belongs to us all. It is ourselves working together to meet a universal need. But it is a most uncommon institution. It is relatively new. It is democracy's greatest gift to civilization. Throughout the world, among upward struggling peoples, wherever parents share in the aspirations of their children, the American common school is being copied. Let us keep our public schools strong and free.

In Memoriam

We wish to pay tribute to the beloved memory of Mrs. Mildred D. Hardy, devoted and much respected teacher, who has passed on to her eternal reward. Her excellent work and exemplary life contributed much to the youth of Sanford. Her kindly and intelligent guidance and instruction were an invaluable means of inspiration and influence to all who knew her.

SCHOOL SIGNALS

The "No School Signal" will be sounded only on those occasions when concern for the pupils makes it imperative.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home, even when school is in session, if road conditions in their locality are particularly hazardous.

Whenever possible, information on the "No School Signal" will be given over the following radio stations: Station WGAN, Portland; Station WIDE, Biddeford; Station WWNH, Rochester; Station WCSH, Portland.

On occasions when the "No School Signal" is sounded at 7:45 a. m., there will be no school for the entire day. The reason for this is the impossibility of securing busses and setting up bus routes during the noon hour. Please note that the signal for the afternoon session has been changed from 11:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS AND SANFORD SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1955 fiscal year it is a pleasure to report on the status of the public school system of Sanford.

All the human virtues we prize, all the goals toward which we work, depend upon education. The key which unlocks the door to every enlightened hope, every ideal of man, is the key to ever greater understanding by man of himself and his environment.

When we think back to the cherished experiences of our childhood, we like to believe that we got something unique and extra special out of our own particular school. We came from it with the feeling that, while we weren't as good as we ought to be, or even as good as we were going to be, we were certainly better than we had been. And, whatever our own experience may have been, we are determined that our children shall have much more and much better of the same.

Your School Committee has attempted during the year just closed to provide the best education possible for the children of Sanford within the ability of the community to support. Taking serious consideration of the economic situation only those things vital to the needs of the individual child were maintained. The entire program was carefully scrutinized and curtailments made in several areas. Work loads were increased without increased salaries and equipment and repair items were held to bare minimums.

The School Committee made every effort to economize and at the same time maintain the high standards of our public schools. This they were successful in doing and, despite the critical times, the educational program reached new heights during the year and our schools and our students won State and National acclaim. New honors were won in curriculum development, adult education and in the field of tests and measurements.

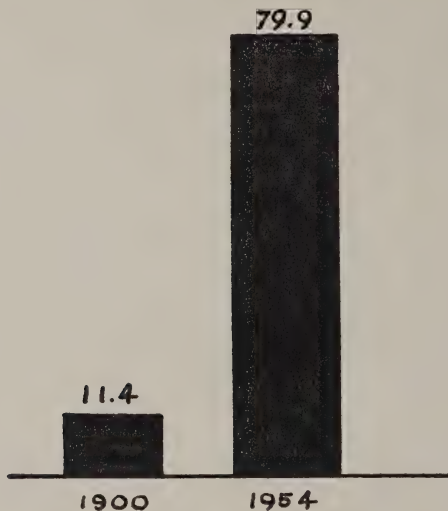

Much has been written and said during these tense years about ways of preserving a free society and of expanding the great popular benefits that have their roots in human freedom. But too little has been said about the final dependence of a free society upon education. This dependence was certainly uppermost in the minds of those who founded our own American democracy.

When we look around us and see the students that have already passed through the Sanford schools, we know that this local school system has turned out some excellent people. But then, when we look at the sorry state of the world in which we live, and the evidence of group confusion, we are brought sharply to the conclusion that there is still lots of room for improvement. We still aren't as good as we ought to be, or as good as we're going to be.

The improvement of our Sanford school system is closely related to you, the citizens of this community. Your interest, your support, your critical appraisal, your suggestions are as assential as the financial support given by Town Meeting members.

The year 1955 was a rewarding one in many ways for your School Committee—rewarding because of the record number turning out for the “open house” program during American Education Week and the increased daily visits by hundreds of interested parents and citizens to school buildings in the community. This type of interest gives faith and confidence to School Committee and staff members alike and provides them with renewed enthusiasm to make the Sanford schools the best in possibly, all new England.

EDUCATION

Curriculum

During the past year the teachers of Sanford have been engaged in a curriculum study with emphasis on the building of guides for use in the classrooms of this community.

In the process of planning a curriculum the various committees searched for material from other school systems throughout the United States and carefully reviewed the best research materials available. They added to this their own critical thinking and practical experience and have now completed curriculum guides in eight different subject matter areas.

The many skills needed by free men who must direct and govern themselves have been emphasized in the new curriculum. Among these skills are critical thinking, handling skillfully the 3 R's, delegating and taking responsibility, using freedom intelligently, pooling ideas, and expressing oneself creatively. In a modern curriculum, methods are as important as content. It is realized that children need to know ways of acting, getting information, making group decisions, and solving problems, perhaps more than they need to accumulate a body of knowledge much of which may soon be out-of-date.

The program developed gives attention to problems that are important to children living in today's world. Much use is made of experiences that go beyond the school into the community. Learnings are related to the real life of the child. Children are given repeated opportunity to develop insights into critical problems of their school—their community—their country and into the world problems.

Copies of the guides were mailed to a selected group of educators in the United States and listed below are a few comments made by some of the individuals:

"It is material such as this that make up our educational research information center. Your booklets make another valuable addition. I particularly like the many practical suggestions in those guides—how to do it, what to use, where to get help. No one needs to point out that teachers had a big hand in developing these work and study guides. There is a classroom teacher peeping out of every page."

SHIRLEY COOPER, Associate Secretary
American Association of School Administrators

EDUCATION

"Every one of the bulletins contains helpful features which merit commendation. I like very much the emphasis on 'expected attainment,' the specificity of the content of the bulletin, the very considerable emphasis on the teaching of writing, and the obvious effort to bring a sense of organization into what is a very complex instructional field. I appreciate very much the privilege of reading these bulletins, and I feel very grateful to the many people who have given such dedicated effort to their development."

HERBERT G. ESPY
Commissioner of Education

"My congratulations for the splendid work that your teachers have done in setting up the curriculum guides. This is certainly an outstanding piece of work and you and your staff deserve real credit and commendation not only from your own community but from every one else interested in education."

HARRISON C. LYSETH
Superintendent of Schools
Portland, Maine

"I would like to congratulate the people who worked on the curriculum guides. I think they have done an excellent job and regardless of the usefulness of these materials to other schools, I think the real value comes in working through the whole problem and arriving at a plan for your particular system."

LLOYD P. YOUNG, President
Keene Teachers College

In the final analysis, the kind of curriculum maintained in our Sanford schools and the eventual success depend upon the individual teacher. A clear understanding by this person of the goals and ideals set up for the system is an absolute necessity if desired objectives for improved child behavior are to be achieved. The teacher who helped construct the curriculum guides and is now leading and guiding the children of this community through meaningful experiences and activities is the person who will determine the effectiveness of our new program.

EDUCATION

Adult Education

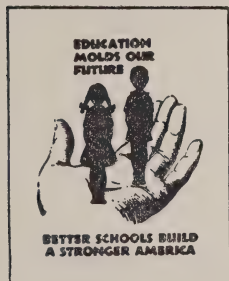

The entire adult education program has again been centered in and around the Vocational School, with emphasis on the training of the unemployed in skills required by new industries in the community and in skills expected of employees in the field of electrons.

Your School Committee worked closely with all the new industries and studied carefully the type of training required by new management and, after evaluating the skills required, offered to set up training courses for several local industries.

Courses in beginning and advanced electronics, all machine tools, mechanical drawing, drafting, blue print reading, beginning and advanced radio have been offered during the present 1955-56 school year.

The training given our men and women has restored their confidence and many of them, after a brief training course, have accepted employment either in Sanford or within commuting distance of this community.

The very future of our town depends on the ability of our men and women to learn new skills and new trades for the potential industry that we hope will move to Sanford. The training given our adults continues to be a major part of the public school program.

Your School Committee has pledged, within the financial ability of the school budget, to sponsor training courses for industries interested in employing local citizens and meeting their standards for the fair treatment of employees.

Financial

I am happy to report, for the third consecutive year, that it has been possible to keep spending within the range of our receipts and to close the financial year with a balance of $990.54. Credit for the judicious manner in which school money is so carefully handled should be given to your School Committee. Keeping spending within funds available was accomplished despite another round of cost increases for school supplies and school textbooks.

EDUCATION

In December, 1955, realizing the difficult economic condition of the community, the School Committee, for the second successive year, presented a curtailed budget request to Town Meeting Members. The present budget is possible because most major repair work will again be delayed; only a skeleton force of maintenance men will be employed during the summer months; only a minimum amount of new equipment will be purchased during the year; sub-primary classes will be reduced from a full school day to a half session each day; and purchase of school supplies will be kept to minimum needs.

Your School Committee plans to make certain revisions in the salary schedule for teachers in the spring of 1956 and to return increments to the yearly salaries of staff members. Minimum increases in 1954, added to the status quo policy of 1955, has resulted in the Sanford average salary for teachers dropping from second place in the State of Maine in 1953 to twenty-first place in 1955. (Maine towns with a population of 2,500.) The quality of education in any community is based on the ability of the community to retain the successful experienced teacher and to attract qualified teachers from other areas. Every effort must be made to restore salary schedule increments so that Sanford will remain in a competitive position for the services of the best teachers in this area.

Personnel

There were several changes and transfers which took place during the year:

Elementary School Enrollment

The number of children enrolled in our elementary schools continues to increase gradually and presents a problem that might become acute in 1957 or 1958. Despite the moving of many families, available statistics indicate that other families have been moving into Sanford.

Enrollment by Grades

	September, 1955	December, 1955
Sub-Primary	167	166
Grade 1	168	170
Grade 2	170	173

The School Committee has made plans for the housing of all elementary children during the 1956-57 school year. It is necessary to place sub-primary on a half-day basis in each school and to assign some students to a school other than the one in their school district. Temporary housing of sub-primary children in the Roosevelt School is impossible because the school is still being used by Vocational School boys. The proposed new school for the Vocational Department was delayed in 1954 when the site on Hoyt and Main Streets was challenged and the building of a school has been temporarily delayed.

The influx of only a small number of new students will place a great burden on our present elementary plant. A new industry, of any size, might well result in the need of at least one new school.

The enrollment at Sanford High School has increased steadily during the past five years and it appears that over 700 students will enroll in this fine school in September, 1956. Fortunately, the plant—high school and gymnasium—is capable of handling 1,000 students and it is not likely that the Town will have to worry about the size of its secondary school in the near future.

The Challenge

What the boys and girls in our public schools learn, how they are trained to think, what moral principles they embrace, and what attitudes guide their actions, will determine the future of this community and to a great extent the future of this nation. They must be given every assistance within the power of this town to prepare themselves for this challenge. The responsibility rests heavily upon teachers; but in the last analysis, the financial responsibility for the support of the program must be borne by all the people of Sanford. On the timeliness and wisdom of your decisions depend the quality and type of education offered your children and the prospects of a sound educational system in this community.

In Conclusion

In the past generation one era of world history closed; a new one is now opening. Apparently this new era will belong to those who can learn to work together intelligently, happily, and productively with the aid of modern science without exploiting natural resources, foreign peoples or submerged classes. This would seem to require cooperative skill, a high degree of universal education, much scientific research, great capacity for self-government, and the ability to meet challenges in the natural and social world without panic. "If this conclusion is sound, one key to the future lies in education." Luther H. Gulick.

Your School Committee is most appreciative of the public interest shown in education during the past year and because of this interest and support their efforts have been richly rewarded.

Let us never forget, whether we are teachers or parents, or elected servants of the people that our public schools are not ends in themselves. They are but expressions of our hope and our faith and the earnestness of the aspirations we cherish for our children. This is what makes their excellence a great thing to pursue.

EDUCATION

As Van Bush said recently to the American Philosophical Society:

"If we build well, our children's children may lead happy lives. That alone is worthy of our best. They may lead lives of harmony and mutual respect and diversity such as we can only dream of. But they may increase in understanding. They may be wise. Their grasp may include mysteries which now elude us, even some of those which we now believe to be forever beyond our ken. We would build for them."

The success of the public school program of this community is the result of the cooperative efforts of town officials, Parent-Teacher Associations, staff members, parents and all the people of Sanford.

In the name of the children of Sanford we thank you all for your friendly assistance and your firm belief in the future of Sanford.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit to you my report as Principal of Sanford High School.

The enrollment as of October 1 was 632 and the present enrollment is 606. This is a drop-out since the beginning of the school year of 26—far less than was expected under the local industrial conditions of the past year. Eleven of these students have moved, seven are working, and the rest have left for various other reasons. Most of the drop-out cases were, in some manner, related to the economic conditions of the town. Sanford High, with its comprehensive curriculum, loses comparatively few students because it is able to provide an education to meet the needs of all groups and levels of ability. With the projected Freshman enrollment for next fall and a small Senior Class, September 1956 should show an enrollment of nearly 700. That additional number of students will necessitate an increase in the number of teachers.

Courses of study have been finished in several departments and are being studied by those departments for possible revision. No school can afford not to be continually evaluating its curriculum and each Course of Study will be continually reviewed and brought up to date.

There have been few changes in the faculty this year. Miss Madeline Donovan left to take up new duties as a member of the Fitchburg High faculty. Mrs. Lorraine Chick has taken her place in the Business Department and is carrying on her work with enthusiasm and success.

Mrs. Priscilla McDougal was employed as Girls' Physical Education teacher and she has performed her duties with earnestness and efficiency.

Sanford High, during the past year, has shown signs that it has nearly finished its "building period" in athletics. In football the team had an excellent record of seven wins and two losses. A very large squad stayed out during the season and the interest and enthusiasm of the boys promises to carry over to another year. Mr. Alfred Nicholson and Mr. Joseph Deschenes deserve very great credit not only for the excellent record but for the fact that more boys than usual were given an opportunity to take part in this sport. Mr. Nicholson continues to coach Track and as usual this sport brings out many boys who do not take part in other athletic activities. The team is being especially successful—beginning to be rated by the greater Portland coaches and fans as a real track power.

Basketball, under Coach Justin Nunan, has continued its improvement to the point that a game with Sanford is no longer considered an "easy" game. The Girls' Basketball Team lost several important players by graduation but the present team will doubtless give an excellent account of itself under the coaching of Mrs. McDougal.

During the winter season, the physical education instructors always include among their varied activities the teaching of basketball skills. Good results are evident among both boys' and girls' groups. In particular the quality of basketball play in the boys' gym classes is improving to the point that the standard of play is very satisfactory. More and more physical coordination is also evident each year in the gym classes—the proof that the physical education program as undertaken in the elementary and high schools is eminently successful for our Sanford High School boys. The same conclusion might well be stated for the girls also.

Much credit should be given Mrs. Ellen Goodwin and her cafeteria workers—both in the high and elementary schools—for their excellent program. One of the very largest school lunch programs in the state, it has been carried on with outstanding success. High cost of food and less surplus commodities than usual make it difficult this year for many cafeterias in the state to function without a great deal of help from other sources. The Sanford cafeteria however, remains practically self-sufficient—thanks to careful planning by Mrs. Goodwin and her staff.

The Band and the Glee Club continue to hold their places as two of the finest organizations in New England. The Band will, for the first time, play in a Joint Concert with the Lynn High School Band from Lynn, Mass. That band is composed of students from Lynn Classical and Lynn English High Schools. The Sanford Band will go to Lynn in March and the Lynn Band will come to Sanford in April. The Glee Club is, at present, preparing the annual Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta—"Patience".

After a lapse of one semester, Driver Education is once again a part of the curriculum. That it is a most popular course is evidenced by the fact that time is not available for all those who wish to take the course. Next year Driver Education will be available during the entire school year. Mr. William Hayden is again the teacher.

Sanford High never loses sight of the fact that one of its important objectives is to prepare students for higher education. This school is a fully accredited member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and, thereby, Sanford High students are accepted at any college in the United States. That is by no means true of every high school. We should never lose sight of the fact that our scholastic standards are high and must remain so. Among the colleges to which we are now sending students are the following:

EDUCATION

Harvard	Michigan State
Yale	Univ. of N. H.
Mass. Inst. of Tech.	Northeastern
Annapolis	Bowdoin
Wellesley	Colby
Smith	Tufts
Wheaton	Nasson
Jackson	Gordon College
Williams	Fisher Junior College
Springfield	Farmington Teachers' College
Bentley	Gorham Teachers' College
Univ. of Indiana	N. E. Bible Inst.
Rochester Tech. Inst.	Bangor Theological Seminary
New Hampshire Tech. Inst.	Univ. of Arizona
Univ. of Maine	Emerson College
Boston Univ.

This country has great world responsibilities which cannot be disregarded. More and more, in our social studies classes our boys and girls must be taught to think internationally—much more than the students of a few decades ago. More and more, many of our graduates are going to the far corners of the world and will assume important responsibilities. They must be trained here in Sanford High School. More and more students must master at least one language other than English. Now and in the future a reading knowledge of another language is not enough. Already an important start in this direction has been made by the introduction of French into the elementary grades. Our high school mathematicians, chemistry, physics, and biology students are thinking not alone in terms of fundamentals to be learned—and they must of course master them—but they are having new vistas opened to them. We are continually being reminded that the future of our country may depend on a continued flow of young mathematicians and scientists from our high schools and colleges. We, at Sanford High School as well as many schools throughout the land, have accepted the challenge. Our mathematics and science teachers are stimulating their students to think scientifically and results are becoming evident. Research, hitherto, almost wholly a responsibility of the college, is now becoming an important part of our science and mathematics classes. Out of nearly every class one or more outstanding mathematicians or prospective scientists emerge—are recognized as such and encouraged to delve still deeper into those important subjects.

Whatever the special function in society of each student may be after graduation from Sanford High, he has needs in common with his fellow students. In addition to these common needs, successful modern education must be adapted to the individual. The teachers, the guidance director, and the administration all are fully cognizant of the fact that we have a real responsibility to our individual students and in these critical times a tremendous responsibility also to our town and to our country as well. We must assume this responsibility in its entirety so that we may continue to merit the wonderful support given to education by the citizens of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

LAWRENCE L. PAGE,

Principal, Sanford High School

FRENCH PROGRAM

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit the first report of the French program in the Sanford public elementary schools.

The program, inaugurated early in 1952, was handled by a group of volunteer teachers, Mrs. Muriel Sladen, Mr. Joseph Deschenes, Mrs. Mildred Greer, Mrs. Fleurette Bannon, Mr. John Houghton, and Mrs. Pauline Johnson. Mrs. Edward Booth was named coordinator.

Two changes were made this past fall. At the request of the Hawthorne School PTA, French instruction was started in grade four there. When one of the volunteer teachers was given a leave of absence, the school committee appointed Mr. Deschenes to teach all elementary school French classes.

Although Sanford was not the first town in Maine to start such a program, it is the only town having a continuous program from grade four through grade twelve. Other towns offer it in one grade only. The Sanford program, of much greater value, has attracted interest throughout the State and the coordinator was recently asked to write a report for the Maine Teachers Association magazine.

This year the coordinator and Mr. Deschenes gave a series of talks and demonstrations before the service clubs and PTA groups, with Mr. Booth explaining the program and Mr. Deschenes demonstrating actual classroom practices—with the help of some of his pupils. These talks were well received by all these audiences.

Similar elementary school programs are starting all over the country as a result of America's need for better linguists in dealing with other nations, a need that was the subject of the 1953 White House Conference on Education, which recommended beginning languages in the elementary schools.

French was started in Sanford because we have teachers capable of teaching French and because of knowledge of French is helpful in stores and offices in this community with its large Franco-American population. In addition, French is one of the two common international languages.

The aim of the program is to have the children understand and speak French. This is developed by having the children listen and then repeat what they hear. They learn French in the same natural way as they had learned English. The emphasis is strictly oral and, consequently, neither grammar nor reading is taught. New words are taught through pictures or real objects. The children learn about their classroom, their homes, pets, greetings, the family, colors, parts of the body, and numbers.

EDUCATION

Parents and children are very interested in the program. Typical of this interest is a quotation from the Sanford Tribune's editorial on January 26: "The audiences (at the Rotary Club and Parent-Teachers Association meetings) have been impressed by the ease with which the young pupils (grades four to eight) pick up correct pronunciation and become able to converse with a simple vocabulary."

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD F. BOOTH,

Coordinator, Elementary
Schools French Program

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report for the year 1955 as supervisor of art education.

Art teachers everywhere in the world are very gratified with the decided upswing in interest that is taking place in their field. We are particularly proud that in this year of 1955 two International Conferences have studied art education. UNESCO and the International Bureau of Education chose The Teaching of the Visual Arts in Primary and Secondary Schools as one of two special topics; the other being a study of the Financing of Education. At this Conference one hundred thirty-four delegates, many of them ministers or deputy ministers of education, from sixty-five nations turned their attention to the improvement of the art education program in their own nations.

Also in 1955 the International Art Congress (CIA) which had not met since 1938 met at Lund, Sweden with over six hundred people from many countries and many nations attending. The following statement on philosophy was adopted at the Lund Congress:

Expression through Art is a natural and inherited activity and its practice is an absolute need for all children.

Such expression and the full development of the imaginative and intuitive faculties are also of great importance to the growth of the whole spirit, mind and body and must be made use of as a process in general practice in education everywhere.

There must be an active, indigenous expression of art of the people, embracing the contemporary conceptions and experiences of that people, if society is to grow and if a healthy national and international civilization is to persist, and if a real harmony between nations is to be established which will preclude war, so that man is free to develop beyond a state of materialism and fear into a new tradition and way of life.

Space will not permit a report on the recommendations made by these two international conferences but all members of the National Art Education Association are receiving a detailed report to share with the administrators of their school systems. The delegates have tried to present the total international picture as represented by the sixty-five participating nations.

EDUCATION

The theme of the NAEA Convention this year was Art Education, A Frontier For Freedom. Complete addresses printed in the yearbook hold revealing statements. The Honorable Wayne Morse, United States Senator from Oregon, who was for twenty-one years a professor in various American universities speaks thusly:

"Stimulation of the creative impulses should begin in kindergarten and should continue throughout the entire period of a student's education. At the governmental level we are not interested in developing each citizen into a statesman, but we are interested in developing each individual into a good citizen. To do that you must cause him to recognize the importance of his exercising a freedom of choice—which means an independence of judgment on the merits of problems as they come before him.

I am greatly concerned about the danger of the stereotype in America. I am greatly concerned about the danger of the political stereotype. I am very much concerned that we are traveling too far away from the constitutional liberalism that prevailed at the time our organic law was created—because that is the only kind of liberalism I can be interested in. The constitutional liberal is one who seeks to put into practical operation those basic property rights and human values that are protected by our Constitution

It is my firm conviction that government must foster self-expression of individuals acting through groups. As I see art training, art gives people this opportunity. Art has through the ages given people a chance to exercise self expression and individual freedom of choice."

Melvin Tumin, Sociology Professor at Princeton University, has this to say: "It is this last feature I want to emphasize here above all, because it is the most direct and immediate connection between art education and a creative social life.

Let me say plainly and in detail what I mean. The survival of any society depends upon the recognition by the members of the society of the fact of their interconnectedness. Without recognizing that they are all interwoven and interdependent, no organized or productive social life is possible. Without this recognition human society quickly turns into a jungle."

On the local level we in Sanford are having a very good year in art education. There is marked improvement in the results that we are seeing in the High School art classes. The students this year show a new proficiency in the handling of various art media. There is no hesitancy in the attack of creative problems. It is stimulating to see young people give themselves wholeheartedly to the creation of an art project that they wish to be wholly theirs, with no copying or glancing about for exterior suggestions. It is this attitude that we are constantly striving for from junior-primary throughout all grade levels. As the above quoted statements are meant to illustrate, art educators are dedicated to the eradication of the stereotype and to the development of the creative impulse. It has taken many years for some grade teachers to rid themselves of the conviction that art is an exact reproduction of nature. There are those who still remain unimpressed with the unique value to the individual personality that creative art experiences have to offer the child. But, by and large, the majority are trying very hard to carry on a well motivated, creative art program in their respective rooms.

We could wish for more time to be devoted to the art program in some instances and for more variety in the experiences afforded and materials used but progress in this area is encouraging. There are more murals and group projects than in any previous year, and craft projects at the junior high school levels are constantly in evidence at both the Hamlin and Emerson schools. New racks with individual shelves at the Emerson school will provide ample storage space for additional three dimensional work such as modeling and carving.

We have had two exhibits from the Hamlin Junior High School displayed at the Springvale Public Library, one of Book Week Posters and the other of Christmas stained glass windows. Emerson Junior High School also exhibited Book Week Posters at the Goodall Memorial Library in Sanford. All were enthusiastically received by the townspeople. Volunteers from both of these schools are preparing posters for the "Keep Maine Green" poster contest and also paintings for the International School Art Program, a goodwill project of sending abroad illustrations of American teen age life through the American Junior Red Cross. These will be exhibited when completed.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Sullivan; the superintending school committee; Mr. Page; Mr. Towle; the elementary school principals; and all other school personnel for your continued support of the art education program.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,
Supervisor of Art Education

SCHOOL NURSING REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1955

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The school nursing service endeavored to give to the children the best possible health protection and guidance through a planned program coordinated with the health services of the community. There have been no changes in the routine activities from the previous year. The program, as planned, takes all the time allowed for the nursing activities.

Teachers and parents have been notified of activities and findings pertaining to their children. Community resources were used as needed for the individual child.

Specific activities carried on are listed below.

I. Physical Examinations

Students in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades and new students in the system were given physical examinations by qualified doctors. Referral notices were sent to the parents if further care was advised by the examining doctor.

Recommendations made by doctors:

- 1 child advised to obtain care for a question of a curvature of the spine.
- 1 child advised to have a chest x-ray.
- 42 children recommended for a more complete heart examination.
- 2 children needed care because of low blood pressure.
- 4 children needed further care because of high blood pressure.
- 1 child was found to have an orthopedic condition.
- 3 were found to have pigmented moles.
- 2 children advised to have ear examinations.
- 3 children found to have symptoms of extreme nervousness.

EDUCATION

34 children referred to their family doctors for further care of a throat condition.

1 child advised to have further care because of an over-weight condition.

Assistance to parents, for obtaining corrections of above conditions, was given as needed.

II. Conservation of Sight Program

The same group of children who were given physical examinations had their vision examined by an optometrist. The vision of the children in the other grades were tested by the teachers. Any child found by the teacher to have difficulty was re-examined by the optometrist. As a result of these examinations 57 children were found to need further care. The parents were informed of the condition found. 41, to date, have received correction.

Three children were referred to strabismus clinic held by a local doctor.

III. Conservation of Hearing Program

The group audiometer hearing testing was done for children in the second through eighth grades.

Twelve children were found to have hearing below average. The parents were notified and corrective care arranged for as needed.

One child was advised to wear a hearing aid and local groups helped obtain one for the child.

Arrangements were made for four children with speech defects to have a hearing test so as to rule out the possibility of deafness.

Arrangements were made for one child with a marked hearing loss to attend a hearing clinic.

IV. Examinations of Children's Feet

The feet of the children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades were examined by a local podiatrist.

The beginning of any abnormality and faulty fit of shoes were noted. An explanation of the condition of the feet was given the child at the time of examination.

As in all our examinations, the students are given instructions applicable to the situation found.

EDUCATION

V. Tuberculosis Preventative Program.

256 children were given the patch tuberculin tests. Four children were found to have positive findings and care advised.

Arrangements were made for 61 chest x-rays to be taken of children who are post-sanatorium patients, contacts to adults who have tuberculosis and ones referred by their doctors.

A record was kept of reports of chest x-rays of all school personnel. This is necessary if we are to comply with the State Law.

VI. Program for Children with Special Conditions

1. Home instruction program.

Conference was held with the State Director of Special Education and arrangements completed for one child with a physical disability to have home instruction.

2. Six consultations were held with the state psychiatrist to obtain help in planning care for emotionally disturbed children.
3. Arrangements were made for a child to have a mental evaluation at the Pownal State School.
4. Applications were made out for the attendance of three children at the State Mental Health Clinic.
5. At request of attending physicians, arrangements were completed for three children to attend the cardiac clinic in Portland.
6. Three children were referred to the Crippled Children's clinic at the request of their family physician.
7. Arrangements were made for 76 children to have their tonsils removed at the tonsil clinic.

VII. Prevention of Contagion

398 children in the first and second grades were given the first dose of Salk vaccine for the prevention of poliomyelitis.

131 injections were given to the sub-primary and first grade children for prevention of diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

EDUCATION

114 children were vaccinated against smallpox.

The health officer administered the above injections.

In addition to the above programs the school nurse attended six meetings pertaining to school nursing. Four talks were given to organized groups in the community.

Assistance was given the teachers in choosing the children to receive free milk and hot lunches.

First Aid Cabinets were equipped in the different schools.

Total number of visits made during the year:

98 home visits made to parents for health education.

436 visits to classrooms for consultations with teachers or in connection with the school health program.

58 home visits made to ill children.

204 visits made to the nurses' office by parents and interested individuals for consultation with the nurse.

In conclusion, the school nursing program as a unit of the entire school health program has helped integrate all phases of the health work presented to our students, parents and teachers. Our accomplishments have been made easier by the outstanding assistance rendered the school nurse by so many individuals—and this help has made possible the above program.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

My annual report of the Health, Recreation, Physical Education and Safety Activities of the Elementary Schools of Sanford.

The most important factor in the success of any program is the care with which it is planned and executed. The responsibility for the planning and the direction of the program of physical education rests squarely on the shoulders of the administrator, as does any other part of his program. It is his responsibility to provide the teaching and the supervision and to see that the proper time allotment is given to the program, and that facilities and equipment are provided. Above all else he must give direction to the planning, organization and conducting of the program itself.

To this end, a complete curriculum covering the sub-primary and eight grades of the Elementary division of the public schools has been completed at this time. Printing of this curriculum awaits the finishing of the curricula in Health and Safety Education activities. All three will be incooperated within a single volume.

All schools are providing a regularly scheduled daily instructional period of time in physical education for all children. The time allotment in the Sanford schools are as follows: Fifty minute periods in the junior high schools, thirty minute periods in the intermediate and upper primary grades, and two fifteen minute periods in the sub-primary and lower grades. The lower primary grade children have a much shorter span of attention, and therefore need several intervals of activities whenever possible.

According to the guiding principles set up by physical education authorities, the children of Sanford schools are having good physical education since:

—every child of the first, fourth, seventh, and sophomore grades of the school system is given a complete health examination. The results of this examination indicates the kind and amount of activity from which he will profit.

—the program of physical education is based on the needs interests, and capacities of the particular children in a particular school and grade. It is true that certain characteristics and needs are much the same for all children of the same age group, but every teacher knows no two class groups are ever alike.

—there is a daily program of physical education for every child as shown in the time allotment reported above.

—all activities are conducted in a safe and healthful environment. This shows that while a gymnasium is the preferred facility, it is not a prime requisite for a good program in physical education. Whenever climatic conditions permit, most of the activities are conducted out-of-doors. Since we have no gymnasiums in the elementary system, activities are conducted in the multi-purpose basements rooms, cleared space in cafeteria, and special rooms in the junior high schools. The Springvale Town Hall serves this purpose for the Hamlin School in that area.

—the program is all-round and includes:

for early primary grades (S. P.-3 — folk dances, singing games, relays, equipment games, stunts and self-testing activities.

for intermediate grades (grades 4-6)—games of low organization, sport techniques, team games, dancing, relays, stunts and self-testing activities, tumbling, pyramids.

for junior-high school (grades 7 - 8 — sport techniques, individual and team sports, dancing, relays, track and field events, tumb'ing, pyramids, stunts and self-testing activities, specially dancing for girls and wrestling for boys. It is planned to start intramural competitive sports for all who are able to take part in the coming year.

—there is an elementary school varsity program, the game schedule is very limited; players are given physical examinations seasonally, distances traveled if any are short and no games are scheduled to start in the evening. Varsity programs are the outgrowth of instructional programs. To this end, teams are formed in basketball in all elementary schools with a short league season under competent coaches. Football is played by the two junior high schools with a combined team under the able coaching of James Keefe.

—in addition, the following activities have been provided in the past year: Physical education activities demonstrated in all schools during the National Education Week.

School socials sponsored in junior high schools monthly, as well as for several youth organizations within the community. Groups also traveled to neighboring towns to assist in social and dancing activities where help was needed. This gives an opportunity to orient pupils from outside Sanford to group activities that they will enjoy when they enter our local high school.

EDUCATION

Saturday morning recreation education groups have continued very popular at the Sanford Memorial Gymnasium. While these groups are planned for elementary children, an ever increasing number of high school pupils appear weekly to take part in the physical education activities.

Vacation activities are provided at the Memorial Gymnasium, both during the Christmas holidays and the February winter vacation. A tournament for intramural type basketball teams has become very popular during the February vacation, and the last tournament was a great success under the direction of Justin Nunan and assistants.

Track and Field events for boys' teams of the junior high schools are sponsored pointing toward the annual spring grammar school track meet.

Baseball teams for boys, and softball for girls are provided at both junior high school under competent supervision and coaching.

I earnestly recommend that the Physical Education Demonstration Program, missing the past year, once more become an annual event. To this end, I pledge my heartiest cooperation.

In closing, I wish to thank the Superintendent of Schools, the Superintending School Committee, school principals, and all classroom teachers for their splendid assistance and cooperation given me in my work during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD W. BEALS,

Director of Physical Education.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ELEMENTARY MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my report as Supervisor of Elementary Music.

Music is becoming an important part in the total picture of the well-adjusted child. It is a means of expression that appeals to all children. With its many phases—singing, listening, rhythms, and creative activities—it provides an opportunity to gain satisfaction in at least one of these activities. The change of pace that is often evident in the music program serves as a balance wheel for the total education program. Children need the physical activity that singing and rhythmic response adds to the school day.

I visit each classroom weekly, not only as a supervisor, but also as a teacher, when I plan the week's work with the classroom teacher. We try to keep each grade level together, but that does not mean that we overlook individual differences. Each room progresses at its own rate of speed, at the same time staying within the overall framework of the total program as much as possible. The curriculum guides set up by the various departments are also proving their worth in this field. I have found this to be especially true in the case of the substitute teacher.

When try-outs for the Girls' Glee Club were announced this fall at the junior high schools, a total of seventy-five girls signed up. With all of the various activities vieing for the attention of this age group, this is an amazing number. From this group it was no trouble at all to choose the girls to represent us in this program. To date they are doing an outstanding job, and at Festival they should surpass last year's group.

We have a total of twenty-five pianos in the five elementary and two junior high schools. This makes it possible for each class to have access to a piano for accompaniment. There is at least one piano on every floor of each building and one in each auditorium. However, we have a few more grades that could benefit by having a piano in their classroom.

Last year it was decided to forego public performances in so far as operettas were concerned. The National Education Week's activities centered in the individual schools. This gave a greater number of pupils the opportunity to utilize their talents in more diversified programs and goals toward perfection and public acclaim. This was a change of pace from the past few years, and was very well received. However, plans are again underway for a different approach for the coming year.

At the Western Maine Music Festival held in Sanford last May, the Junior High Girls' Glee Club again did themselves proud. They received very favorable comments from the adjudicator and gained great satisfaction in a job "well done".

Due to the adolescent boy's changing voice and other problems—the Boys' Glee Club at Hamlin was not organized this year. However, if the need and desire arises at a future date, this department will entertain any suggestions toward reorganization. It is gratifying that the twelve to fourteen year group of boys feel the need for a glee club. But, it is even more essential that they engage in a more physical activity after school hours.

Credit for the success and continuance of the elementary music program should go to the classroom teachers. If they didn't carry on the program four days a week, then my visit on the fifth day would be to no avail. They deserve the praise and support of every citizen, not only in music but all school activities.

Sincere thanks to you, Mr. Sullivan, and all school personnel for all support and courtesies extended to me and the public school music program.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH L. HARMON,

Supervisor of Elementary Music.

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1956

We, the municipal officers of the Town of Sanford and Village of Springvale, elected to serve you during the year 1956, herewith render a brief account of our stewardship.

Sanford, during the year just ended, witnessed a most encouraging resurgence from the mortal economic blow which had befallen us with the closing of Goodall-Sanford, Incorporated. We are happy to list upon the rolls of Sanford's new industrial family the following organizations: Wasco Chemical Company, Inc., North Star Woolen Mill Company, Colonial Aircraft Corporation, Seamloc Carpet Company, Sanford Plastics Corporation, Sanford Dress Corporation, Eastern Plastics Corporation, Rollins Solution Company, Alloy Products Company, Sanford Weaving Company, A. Sandler Shoe Company, Prevore-Sanford Dress Company, Maine Optical Company, Normandeau Flush Door Company, Everett Textile Mending Company. These new industries, most of which geared themselves for production during the year which has just ended, meant the difference between life and death to our community—their choosing to locate in our midst was the sorely needed industrial blood transfusion that gave to the economic corpus known as "Sanford—The Town That Refused to Die", a vibrant and healthy outlook for the future.

We are most happy to welcome these new industries to Sanford, and we have every reason to believe that their venture will, as time goes on, prove to have been a happy and profitable one—that in the closing of their books at each year's end, they will find that Sanford has a most fertile soil wherein industry can thrive, grow and prosper.

In the Fall of 1956, the Airport was dedicated as an industrial center. Every effort is being made by your municipal officers to have all of the restrictions removed which were placed upon the airport by the Federal Government—including removal of the so-called "recapture clause". We have every reason to believe, unless the Department of Defense should deem otherwise, that an unqualified removal of these restrictions will be granted for specific areas, as industrial sites are sought by prospective clients. It is the hope and prayer of your municipal officers, that this area, with time, patience, hard work and cooperation on the part of all concerned, will become the hub or industrial center of southern Maine. We have faith that a Benificent Providence will smile upon this site and make unbelievable accomplishments possible in this area.

Construction of the new armory on William Oscar Emery Drive is progressing. This structure, when completed, will not only house the National Guard, but it will also remove a burdensome expense from the shoulders of our taxpayers. The maintenance and upkeep of the new armory will be borne entirely by the State of Maine. This building, we are told by Major General George M. Carter, Adjutant General for the State of Maine, will be available for community activities when not being actually used by the Guard—this, in a very definite way, will add to our community facilities.

Our system of streets and highways during the past year and more, suffered greatly as a result of the drastic economy program that was put into effect—this practice, if continued, will quickly cause our streets and road system to break down and revert to a condition reminiscent of colonial days. We believe in economy for all municipal departments, but not only at the expense of one department—the “Highway Department”—as was put into force via the recommendations of the “Warrant Committee” for the past two years or more—this procedure, if pursued any further, will prove to be disastrously expensive to our taxpayers, for we will find ourselves ultimately spending five dollars for every dollar we thought we were saving, i. e., in the rebuilding of our streets and roads.

Welfare needs during the first 9 months of 1956 fell to an all time low as was evidenced by the estimated budgets submitted to the “Warrant Committee” for study and approval. Some committee members were of the opinion that we were, perhaps, too conservative in our estimates of the needs for this department for the year 1957, but, we would rather be conservative than expensive, and let time prove whether or not these estimates are sufficient to meet public assistance needs during the coming year.

During the first 9 months of 1956, there were 37 aged or elderly persons in residence at “Mountain View Infirmary”. These people were kept or maintained at a net operating cost of $1.11 per day—this, we believe, reflects economical administration under the able supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Holland. Of this total number of persons in residence, 6 of them are paying cases.

Surplus Federal Food was distributed during the year to an average of some 600 families or cases—this, we might say, was not only a great help in supplementing the diets of many families or individuals, but in many instances, it meant the difference between these people and the welfare office door.

In brief, we have tried to give you some of the highlights of the many and varied activities of our office, no doubt there are some important functions that have escaped mention, but rest assured that we have tried to carry them all out in the best interests of Sanford.

In closing, may we thank you, the people of Sanford, for giving us the opportunity of serving you, and may we also extend our sincere thanks to the public, every municipal department, the clerical staff in our office and all other municipal offices, for the splendid cooperation each and all have given us.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,
THEODORE C. GAUTHIER,
ERNEST L. CHADBOURNE,

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

January 15, 1957

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen
Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The Board of Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1956.

The firefighting equipment of the Sanford Fire Department is in good condition. The fire station is in fair condition but we are in the process of repairing and painting and hope to have it in much better shape by the end of 1957.

The fire alarm system, inside the fire station, is in very good condition. Due to many changes being made by Central Maine Power Company and that we have twenty-seven (27) fire alarm boxes, for which we can not buy parts, the system, outside the station, will require much more attention over the next few years.

The permanent men have made 935 inspections this year. They have inspected places of business, churches, schools, factories and tenements. We were pleased to find that most people were willing to cooperate with their Fire Inspector by cleaning up the fire hazards in and around their buildings. We hope 1957 will find more people conscious of the many fire hazards found in and around our town.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the Board of Selectmen and their clerks, the Springvale Fire Department, Police Department, Highway Department, Town Garage Crew, Ladies' Auxiliary, Call and Permanent men and each and every person who assisted us during the year 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED HAMMOND, Chief
CHARLES E. PIKE, Assistant
EDGAR R. WHICHER, Assistant

SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

December 31, 1956

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen
Town of Sanford, Maine

Dear Sirs:

The Board of Engineers of the Springvale Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1956.

The Springvale Fire Station and equipment are in very good condition.

The permanent men have made 750 building inspections in business places, schools, churches and shoe factories, this year.

We had a 60 watt RCA Two-Way Radio installed in the Fire Station the first of the year which is working out very good.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the Selectmen and their clerks, the Sanford Fire Department, Police and Highway Departments, call men and permanent men for their cooperation and assistance in the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMORE L. HANSCOM, Chief
HILLIARD M. BOOTHBY, Assistant
RICHARD G. LAMB, Assistant

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE
AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

Sanford, Maine
December 31, 1956

To the Board of Selectmen

Gentlemen:

Herewith a progress report of Civil Defense and Public Safety as it effects the citizens of Sanford and Springvale.

The Civil Defense organization has become a closer knit service group of late, and will be, in the months ahead, prepared to function, if and when, a natural or war caused emergency is visited on the Town or the surrounding countryside. There is still a long way to go to assure the fullest training of all the people who are assigned work in one or more of the categories. The changes made to fit the program to the ever changing world conditions are at times exasperating, but it is necessary that we keep up to date.

Your Director has to spend most of the daylight hours at being the Treasurer of the Town and the time spent in Civil Defense work has to be taken usually from his leisure time, therefore with less than full time to be spent on Civil Defense, the job of orientation will be slowed to some extent.

During the early part of the year, the State Organization proposed a plan whereby all members of Civil Defense would be photographed for a new idea in Identification Card. York County was to be the Guinea Pig. Sanford members turned out in the number of 350 to have these photos taken, and each paid for these himself. Whether this will be carried out in other sections is still a matter for consideration.

During the Summer months, plans were made to hold a test "Alert" some time in the Fall, and the plan was put into effect during the State Civil Defense Week. The plan was to have all citizens go home, a "Home Run" as it were, on a signal. Then on a later signal all would get into autos and leave for prior designated areas. We were fearful that it was too big an undertaking but wonderful cooperation was received and we are still getting congratulations on the test. I can see that other communities are preparing to do something similar this next year.

It is now possible that we may obtain certain types of war surplus property, this will add to the equipment we have now, for the program of training, and also for actual use should the occasion arise. A requisition is already in for many items that we feel are necessary and useful.

Our Communications equipment is being kept in top working order and for this a big hand to the Civil Air Patrol Organization. They also were a big factor in the excellent success of the Fall Evacuation. My heartiest congratulations to this group who are always ready to do the job that has to be done.

The Town is in need of a more up to date warning system. The funds have been made available for part of the installation that will be required, and steps will be taken to relieve this situation.

The Director, Deputies and the Advisory Council meet every third Wednesday of the month at 7:00 p. m. in the Springvale Town Hall. At these meetings the various problems are discussed, and changes suggested by the State and National administrations are made known to the group. Any resident who would care to attend these sessions will be pleasantly received and given the answers to any questions that he may have regarding Civil Defense and Public Safety.

As one last thought, we should like to have applications for the position of women coordinator. This is a work that will be rewarding to any woman who has the time to devote to performing a service to the community.

Respectfully submitted,

MOORE GREENWOOD,

Director.

HEALTH AND SANITATIONREPORT OF THE
HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1956

To the Selectmen, Town of Sanford, Maine.

Gentlemen:

As Health Officer for the Town of Sanford from January 1, 1956 to January 1, 1957, I herewith respectfully submit a report of health activities during the current year.

Medical and surgical care was given to welfare cases where needed. When necessary, State children who are boarded out were also given medical care. Care was given to old age assistance cases whenever treatment was indicated. This included visits to the Mountain View Infirmary, and convalescent homes in Sanford, Acton and Lebanon.

Whenever complaints were received, public nuisances and infractions of the plumbing and sanitary laws were investigated and dealt with. When not immediately corrected, they were reported to the proper authorities.

In the public and parochial schools, vaccinations and inoculations were given to all children having parents' consent. Vaccinations and inoculations were given also to pre-school children at monthly clinics.

All cases of contagious diseases in school children which were referred to the health officer were isolated until all chance of infection of others was gone.

Poliomyelitis vaccine was given to all individuals between the ages of three months to twenty years requesting same. To accomplish this all schools were visited and frequent clinics held.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.

Health Officer.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

NURSING REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The Community Health Association is a non-profit organization incorporated under the laws of Maine. A volunteer group of directors determines the policies and the administration of the program. The directors also render assistance in attending clinics. These directors meet monthly to receive a report of the nursing activities and to familiarize themselves with current needs.

The nurse employed by the school department as school nurse supervises the nursing program. Two full time nurses are employed by the Association. In 1956 we have employed a Nason College student for part-time clerical work. The Association provides the nurses with a car for traveling on their home nursing visits.

The program is financed by a town appropriation, gifts from interested citizens, projects sponsored by the directors and charges made to individuals for nursing services. No individual is refused nursing care, however, because of inability to pay. No fee is requested for health education visits. The Association receives no payment for any of the clinics attended by the nurses.

The services rendered in 1956 consisted of (1) nursing care to bedside and ambulatory patients, (2) a combination service of bedside nursing care, health education, and clinic participation, (3) the conducting of the Sanford Health Camp and (4) the nursing service in the parochial schools in the community. All nursing care given was under the direction of the patients' attending physician.

The dispensing of material relief was done at the request of different organizations and individuals. For the most part, this type of social service work was carried on among families where there was illness and where aid was not being received from other sources.

One of the most spectacular occurrences this year, was the development and distribution for use of the Salk Poliomyelitis Vaccine. This epic-making discovery will have far-reaching effects on the present and next generation.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

Following are statements concerning visits, clinics, and activities:

- (1) Bedside nursing care and care to ambulatory patients—868 visits.
- (2) Combination service of bedside nursing care and health education.

339 visits made to tuberculosis patients, tuberculosis contacts and tuberculosis suspects.

149 visits made to diabetic patients.

301 visits made to cardiac patients.

298 visits made to cancer patients.

90 visits made to crippled individuals.

54 visits made to prenatal patients.

(3) Clinic Services—

Foot Clinics—At the foot clinics, there were 153 visits by individuals. A podiatrist was in charge of the clinic and examined and advised patients as to care. The nurses attended, assisted the podiatrist, made arrangements and appointments for the clinic.

Chest Clinics—220 chest X-rays were taken of individuals cared for in our tuberculosis program. These X-rays were taken at the Goodall Hospital and sent to the Western Maine Tuberculosis Sanatorium for reading. The State Division of Tuberculosis replaced films used by the hospital. The Association nurses arranged for and attended these clinics. Also, they made out the patients' records and reported findings to the doctors and patients. The York County Tuberculosis Association paid for X-rays for 8 of these patients.

Immunization Clinics—The health officer conducted clinics for immunization against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and vaccination against small-pox. 49 pre-school children were vaccinated against small-pox. 347 injections were given to pre-school children for protection against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus.

Salk Polio Vaccine Clinics—The Community Health Association nurses assisted the school nurse in clinics held in the public schools. Community clinics were attended by them at the Goodall Hall and the three parochial schools. The health officer was in charge of these clinics. In 1956, attendance at the clinics in the

Goodall Hall and parochial schools was 1,636 for the first dose received, 1,541 for the second dose and 406 received the third dose of vaccine.

One series of mothers' classes was held for pre-natal patients. Three classes in the series were conducted by The Community Health Association nurses and the last class by the Goodall Hospital nurses. Eleven mothers attended this series.

The Sanford Health Camp was conducted at Highpine for a seven week period. Twenty-five Sanford children were given care for the seven weeks. The children were referred for care by their physicians because of emotional or physical disturbances. This summer care benefited the children by teaching them proper care for their own conditions, improving their conditions to such a degree that school attendance was better the following year, and teaching the families care for their own children.

The program in the parochial schools consisted of consultations with the teachers and 36 visits were made to these schools. Beside the clinics for Salk Vaccine referred to above, the nurses attended and organized clinics for the giving of vaccine for whooping cough, tetanus and diphtheria.

The purpose of this report is to familiarize the citizens with the Association's activities. Public Health nursing has a preventive function as well as the function of alleviating illness; in the execution of the Association's program, an attempt has been made to apply these principles.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD T. HANSCOM,

President.

REPORT OF THE PARK COMMISSIONERS

We of the Park Commission have an excellent report for 1956.

A great deal of work has been finished and more is in progress.

Fifteen trees have already been planted in our town and plans are being made to plant more in 1957.

We of the Park Commission wish to thank the people of Sanford and Springvale for their cooperation in caring for the trees and shrubs that were planted in the past.

Our playground attendance is increasing each year. At present Elizabeth Benton has 4,090, Carpentier has 5,145 and Springvale playground has 3,902. All parks have excellent supervision which has taken care of at least 13,137 children in our playgrounds.

The number of people using Goodall Park has grown tremendously in 1956 to the point where an additional $1,000.00 in equipment is necessary.

The participating group were Sanford High School, St. Ignatius High School, American Legion, Midget League, Pony League and the Little League. They totaled approximately 1,000. The $1,000.00 also included repairs to the park.

The Park Department is beginning to have trouble with Dutch Elm disease. Three trees were lost in 1956 but a program has been started to fight this disease with the help of the State Forestry Service.

We have been keeping an ice skating rink on No. 1 Pond cleared of snow as much as possible for the convenience of children and adults.

Respectfully submitted,

ROLAND LANGLOIS

KENNETH BURGESS

Mr. Maurice J. Maurice, Chairman
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor
Sanford, Maine

Dear Mr. Maurice:

In accordance with Chapter 91, Section 142 of the Revised Statutes of 1954 and your request, the records of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1956.

I herewith enclose my report of this audit with supporting schedules and questionnaire.

The records of the Town Treasurer, Selectmen, Superintendent of Schools and Town Clerk and Tax Collector of the Town of Sanford have been audited weekly and their records checked with mine and have been found to be correct.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET M. SHAW,

Auditor

QUESTIONNAIRE COVERING MUNICIPAL

SCHOOL SIGNALS

The "No School Signal" will be sounded only on those occasions when concern for the pupils makes it imperative.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home, even when school is in session, if road conditions in their locality are particularly hazardous.

Whenever possible, information on the "No School Signal" will be given over the following radio stations: Station WGAN, Portland; Station WIDE, Biddeford; Station WWNH, Rochester; Station WCSH, Portland.

On occasions when the "No School Signal" is sounded at 7:45 A. M., there will be no school for the entire day. The reason for this is the impossibility of securing busses and setting up bus routes during the noon hour. Please note that the signal for the afternoon session has been changed from 11:30 A. M. to 12:15 P. M.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1956 fiscal year it is a pleasure to report on the status of the public school system of Sanford.

We should never review the results of a year without remembering that it takes the energy, initiative and loyal spirit of able people working together with mutual respect and helpfulness to accomplish what the Sanford Schools have achieved during 1956. The necessary funds and facilities have been supplied, but the teachers and others directly concerned with the operation of the school plant have done the job. I feel that the citizens of Sanford have every reason to be proud of the public schools and that the staff deserves warmest congratulations for its accomplishments during the year just past.

From my observation, the people of a community, whether it is a large city or a small town, get pretty much the type and quality of education they want. The actions of the Sanford School Board, through use of citizen committees, close cooperation with the PTA, close cooperation with business and industry, the formation of a PTA council, approval of an industry-education committee, the many new programs developed and presented to the community on educational issues, clearly show their efforts TO KEEP THE SCHOOLS A VITAL PART OF THE COMMUNITY. The school board, I am certain, is sincere about making the Sanford educational program as good as, or better, than the educational program in any other part of New England.

The educational policy of the Sanford schools is to combine the teaching of academic and practical subjects with the development of character. To carry out this policy high priority is placed on moral and spiritual values.

To maintain this educational program, in the face of our expanding population, we must now meet the need for more elementary school classrooms. If our teachers and children are to achieve the results we expect of them, we must provide not only adequate classroom space but also areas for physical education and for group assembly where a child's individual and social abilities can be developed.

We are fortunate here in Sanford to have a high school plant large enough to handle, for years to come, the student population for this entire area which includes the towns of

EDUCATION

Alfred, Waterboro, Lyman, Newfield, Parsonsfield, Acton, Shapleigh, and Lebanon. The only problem at the high school level is the size and location of our vocational school. The present school cannot adequately accommodate our extensive vocational training courses and I strongly recommend the building of a new vocational school close to our present secondary school plant, in the very near future. You will recall that Town Meeting Members approved of a new vocational school in 1954 but the program was delayed because of disagreement over the selection of the site.

The critical problem of elementary school housing will be discussed in this report under the heading—"Elementary School Enrollment."

In achieving effective citizenship, the child learns loyalty to our democratic ideals.

The Schools Today:

The schools today are asked to do many things and the list grows and grows with the passing years. In an effort to cope with the demands of society for school programs that will offer equal opportunity to all children, the schools have assumed many new responsibilities. Nearly every community asks its schools to do most, if not all, of the following:

EDUCATION

1. Teach the basic skills and impart knowledge in the traditional fields of academic study, and teach students to think and reason.

2. Train boys and girls in the vocation of their choice.

3. Impart other knowledge that will help children become competent adults and good citizens.

In realizing individual capacities, children participate in a range of leisure time activities.

4. Provide guidance for students on their school careers and the selection of jobs, and counselling on personal problems.

5. Provide physical education programs to develop healthy bodies and sponsor athletic events for the entertainment of the community.

6. Develop appreciation of music and arts and offer training in crafts and hobbies, as well as other leisure time activities.

7. Provide supervised recreation for after school hours to combat the threat of juvenile delinquency and to help students develop social poise and assurance.

EDUCATION

8. Provide eye, ear and dental examinations and other medical services to help maintain students' physical and mental health.

9. Provide special classroom help or separate programs for exceptional children — the handicapped, the retarded, the gifted — and remedial programs for those who have fallen behind their age group in class.

In achieving increasingly effective human relationships, children learn to work and play with others

10. Provide a hot lunch program for all children and conveyance for those living generally one mile from a school building.

11. Offer an adult education program to allow parents and other adults a chance to pursue their studies or learn new skills.

It is small wonder that the schools do not manage to do everything as well as you might wish. It is, perhaps, more surprising that they manage to do so many things as well as they do.

Every community must determine for itself — in cooperation with the school board and school authorities — just what the aims of its schools should be. At times it will seem that the infinite variety of opinions and viewpoints can never be compromised. But almost always "agreement" has one thing working in its favor: the overwhelming majority of citizens want good schools for their children.

Clearly the question today is not whether our schools should expand their functions, but how, and how much. The answers are not easy to find, and they will not be the same for any two communities. I urge all citizens to join PTA's and other citizen groups and join with your school committee in charting the paths of our schools of tomorrow.

Our Reading Program:

Depth — A Third Dimension.

Each year I like to discuss some phase of our instructional program and it seems timely to discuss at the close of 1956 our reading program.

Today's reading program has deepened beyond a basic reading text to make use of many readers, all geared to the ability of the individual child, of library books (furnished by our excellent local libraries); magazines and newspapers; and of such informal materials as road maps, timetables, directories, vacation folders, recipes, patterns, income tax reports — whatever makes reading of practical use.

Nor does it stop with print, if we accept the point of view that reading is adjusting to everything in the realm of sensation. Then we deepen the program to include the reading of leaves on the trees and clouds in the sky, shadows and stars and sounds, turns in the road and signs of the time — all the things that Carl Sandburg had in mind when he wrote of Lincoln's schooling ("Abe Lincoln Grown Up").

"Abe learned to read the tricks and whimsies of the sky — the clear skies and cloudy weather, the creeping vines and ivy and wild grape, the recurrence of dogwood blossoms in spring, the ways of snow, rain, drizzle, sleet, the visitors of sky and weather coming and going hour by hour — he tried to read their secrets, he tried to be friendly with their mystery."

As the program grows deeper, reading becomes less and less an isolated subject. True, there are reading "periods" scheduled several times a day for all children in our Sanford schools — but there is an increasing correlation of reading with the other language acts — writing, speaking and listening (this phase of our program is being carefully evaluated in our supervisory meetings during the months ahead). Direction and purpose for reading is discovered when the child takes part in a school play or in a panel discussion. More and more we have come to realize that reading is one of many activities and that all are simply means of achieving desirable ends. We are, therefore, starting with a definition of ends, and through them are arriving at the purposes that reading will serve best.

Today's reading program reaches from babyhood where a child gets his first awareness of books to adult life where many of us try to improve our old reading practices.

Today's program has widened to include not only word recognition but also word meaning, different levels of interpretation, study skills, audience reading, library reading, and remedial reading.

Personnel:

The following people left the Sanford school system during 1956:

It hardly seems necessary to point out the serious shortage of teachers existing in the United States today. The graduation classes of last June included far too few recruits for positions in our schools. I would like to compliment our local PTA's for their forward looking program of scholarship aid to deserving high school seniors planning on a teaching career. This is one way of helping more of our youngsters enter the teaching profession.

EDUCATION

SANFORD PUBLIC SCHOOLS
NUMBER OF TEACHERS EMPLOYED

If teaching is to have the firm economic foundation that all professions must have, teachers must not only be paid adequate salaries, but teacher salary schedules must be sound, and justify constant professional improvement. Among the characteristics of such salary schedules are:

1. Beginning salaries high enough to attract well-prepared promising young people.
2. Top salaries high enough to retain highly competent men and women.
3. Salary increases sufficient to provide incentives to continuing improvement.

EDUCATION

4. Annual salary increments in orderly progress toward the maximum salary.

5. Equity of treatment to all classroom teachers of like qualifications.

For many years the salaries of teachers have been low in comparison with those of other professions.

Earnings in general went up faster in the war years than did teachers' salaries. Instead of remaining higher than the average employed unskilled worker, the average salary of teachers throughout the country actually became less.

The following salary schedule was approved by the Sanford

School Committee in 1956:

No degree teachers maximum increased from $3600. to $4000.

B.S. degree teachers maximum increased from $4350. to $4700.

M.A. degree teachers maximum increased from $4650 to $5000.

The new schedule — as approved:

	No Degree	Bachelor's Degree	Master's Degree
1st step	$2700.	$3050.	$3450.
2nd step	2900.	3250.	3650.
3rd step	3100.	3450.	3850.
4th step	3200.	3650.	4050.
5th step	3300.	3750.	4150.
6th step	3400.	3850.	4250.
7th step	3500.	3950.	4350.
8th step	3600.	4050.	4450.
9th step	3700.	4150.	4550.
10th step	3800.	4250.	4650.
11th step	4000.	4350.	4850.
12th step		4500.	5000.
13th step		4700.

In January of 1957 it now appears obvious that your School Committee must raise minimums on the above schedule as many Maine communities are now paying $3200. to first year teachers with a degree and one Maine community is paying $3700. The $3050. offered in Sanford will not attract the average student graduating from a Maine Teachers' College in the spring of 1957.

The average salary paid to Sanford teachers in 1956 fell far below what other Maine communities were paying their teachers.

The Sanford School Committee recognizes this serious problem and is making every effort (within the financial ability of Sanford) to improve the situation.

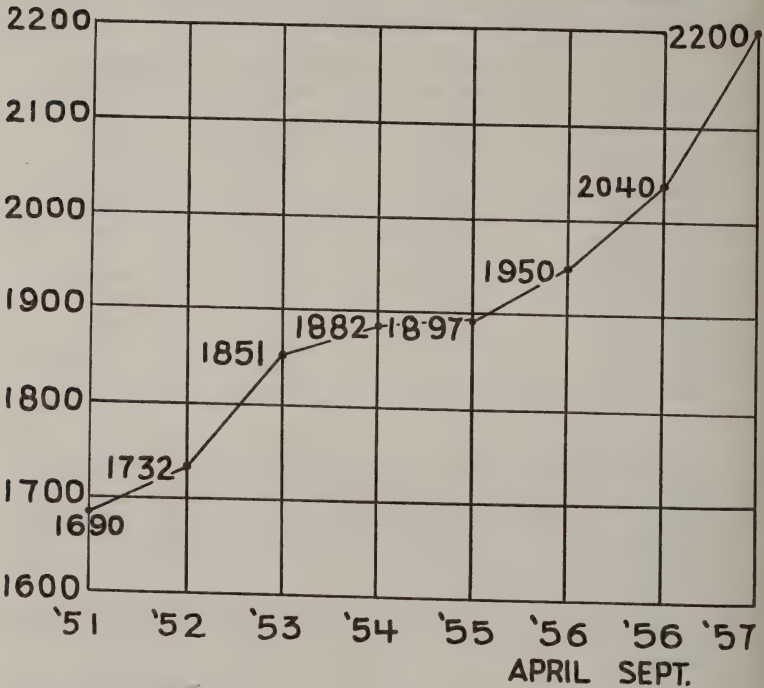

EDUCATION

There can be no substantial sustained improvement in American education unless professional teachers are employed at professional salaries.

Elementary School Enrollment:

The grade schools of Sanford are organized so that there is one classroom available for each grade in several neighborhood schools. For many years the entering class at the Lincoln, Lafayette, Longfellow and Edison schools would run between twenty-five and forty students. The schools were large enough to absorb an occasional class of forty or fifty students as long as it occurred in a different school every year.

SANFORD PUBLIC SCHOOLS ENROLLMENT

EDUCATION

The problem became critical when in September 1956 the following sub-primary classes reported to already over-crowded buildings:

School	Sub-Primary Enrollment
Lincoln School	53
Lafayette School	63
Longfellow School	46
Edison School	44

The School Committee solved the problem for one year by putting the sub-primary classes on a half-day session, but the real dilemma occurs in September 1957 when the above children will have to attend school on a full-day basis.

The elementary school plant consists of fifty classrooms and if twenty-five children were assigned to each classroom, a maximum of 1250 children could be cared for. It has not been unusual, since 1950, to have over two hundred new students report for school in September. Projecting this figure over a nine year period we would have a total elementary enrollment of 1800 children. Obviously, more elementary classrooms must be provided immediately.

In addition to the need for new classrooms to house a growing school population, I feel that I should point out some of the inadequacies in our present elementary school plant.

First, our junior high schools are without indoor assembly areas; physical education rooms; science laboratories; general shop areas for the boys and home and family living areas for the girls. They have inadequate toilet facilities, and faulty ventilation.

Second, the Longfellow School is out of harmony with present-day educational concepts.

In an effort to clarify the need for new elementary classrooms your School Committee requested that Town Meeting Members appoint a committee to study school building needs. This committee has been named and will meet with the School Committee and make recommendations, after a study of the situation is made.

School buildings must be regarded as more than mere shelter. The school plant is a reflection of educational desires, purposes, and ideals of the community in which it is located. It is a complex educational facility. Its design is the result of the combined thinking of parents, teachers, school board members, and an architect who has specialized in schoolhouse planning.

In modern school building construction:

EDUCATION

1. Classrooms are larger. Larger sites provide more outside play area.
2. Classrooms have become more homelike and livable. Furniture is movable. Plastic floor covering and colorful paints have brightened the floors and walls.
3. Buildings are more flexible. Many interior walls can be moved without difficulty.
4. The use of glass brick, larger windows, and bilateral lighting admits more light.
5. Buildings are designed for adult use and as a community educational centers.
6. One story buildings are most common. Multi-story buildings are seldom constructed except in densely populated communities where space is limited.

I am confident that an exhaustive study of the need for new buildings will be made and from this study will come recommendations for future school construction in Sanford.

Public Schools Belong to the People:

Any effort to improve our schools must begin with the re-assertion of the fact that the public schools belong to the people. The ultimate responsibility, therefore, resides with the people and with those who are charged to make decisions in their behalf. More and more it is becoming apparent that the first question to be re-examined is the nature of the task schools are now expected to perform.

Legally, it is permissible to assign the school a great variety of jobs. But, what is legal and what is wise sometimes differ. The question of what is practicable also arises. There can be little question, however, that our schools are being asked today to do far more than they can do at a proper level of quality with the resources they are given.

The men and women who staff our schools are a remarkably able and resourceful group of people. This is so generally recognized as to require no documentation here. But teachers are not magicians and there is a limit to the number of things they can do simultaneously. There is also a limit to the number of children they can teach well, at the same time.

I take this opportunity to again compliment the staff of teachers in our Sanford schools.

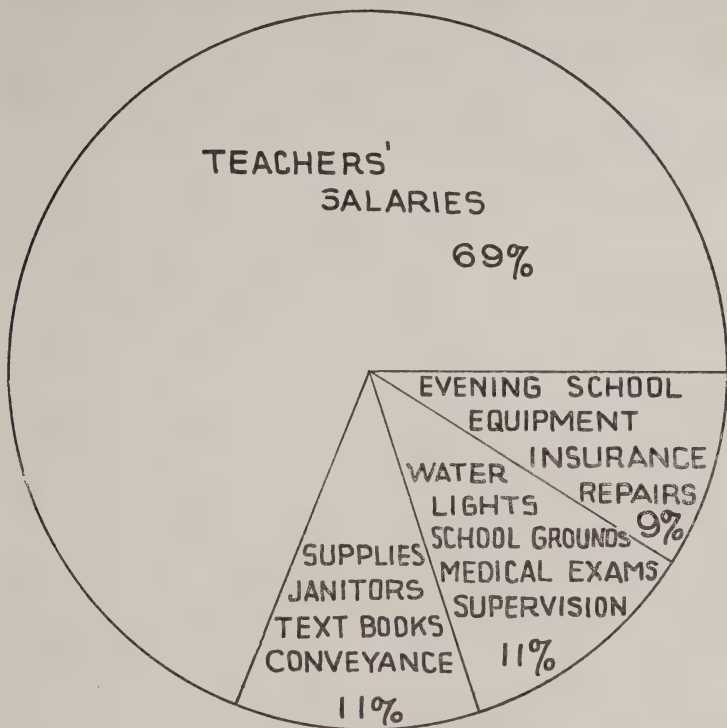

The Main Road:

Education is responsible for maintaining continuity of thought and culture and moral values between present and past. Neither utilitarian education nor speculative theory should lead off too soon from the "main road" of education. That "main road" of accumulated knowledge and fundamental culture, leading from the remote past through the present and into the future, should be kept wide open and well paved. There is a great need in the confused world of today for better morals, more self discipline, and a sounder sense of values. Possibly the greatest contribution education can make toward meeting that need is to give all who pass through its doors a deeper awareness of what we owe to the great artists and scientists, the teachers, inventors, the explorers and statesmen, the poets and patriots of the past.

EDUCATION

SANFORD PUBLIC SCHOOL DOLLAR - 1957

And Finally:

Finally, although we talk much of money and efficiency, it is always education and the learning process that is important. Our purpose must be directed toward the improvement of the individual mind, and all our efforts succeed or fail in terms of this single test.

EDUCATION

A democracy is a society of persons, not an aggregate of people; and although we use statistics and dollars to guide us in our thinking, no solution in terms of aggregates alone should satisfy us. The educational program itself must be looked to for its contribution to educate citizenship.

In Conclusion:

I have been privileged for the past several years to have been associated with the Sanford School Committee. If my administration has been successful it has been because of the inspiration provided by this group of individuals. They have given unsparingly of their time and have constantly tried to improve educational conditions in the community.

In the name of the children of Sanford I would like to thank all of you for your friendly assistance and your firm belief in the future of Sanford.

NEIL V. SULLIVAN,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The Superintendent of Schools in his report has covered in detail most of the significant aspects of the public school operations during the past year and has included a look at the future. One or two matters nevertheless may well be brought to the attention of the Town by the School Committee directly.

First, the School Committee desires to emphasize that Sanford must have many more classrooms for the steadily increasing school population, and at the earliest possible date. A special committee appointed by the moderator under vote of the town to work in conjunction with the School Committee is presently considering the exact nature and scope of this need in order to assist the town and the school committee to meet this pressing situation.

Second, if Sanford is to keep pace in providing adequate education, we must be vigilant to protect the high quality of the teaching staff. This means that Sanford must be prepared to offer and to pay teaching salaries to meet the competition so that we can hold the good teachers we now have and so that good teachers will be attracted to our system.

We believe that good teachers are also attracted by a modern and adequate school plant, because good school buildings and equipment make the efforts of good teachers more effective and helps to show them that the cause of education and their own personal welfare receive firm public support.

Finally we desire to express the feeling of the committee that Sanford in the past has had good schools because the public has demanded and supported them, correctly recognizing the paramount importance of good education for its young people. The cooperation between the School Committee and the Superintendent, the warrant committee, the press, the service clubs and the town meeting members, and the people of the Town generally has been outstanding proof of this attitude. We know that high quality education now constitutes the single biggest factor considered by business and industry in choosing plant location and personnel for future growth. The future of our town and the future of our youth requires that we recognize this and act accordingly.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE S. WILLARD,
ROLAND A. GAUTHIER,
HAZEL L. DROWN,

Superintending School Committee.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment

The enrollment as of October 1 was 657 and the present enrollment is 629—a drop-out since the beginning of the school year of 28. This is an average drop-out for Sanford High for this period of time.

Evaluation

The Courses of Study on which teachers have been working will have been completed before the end of this school year. This is timely as we have requested the School Board that an evaluation of Sanford High School be made. This is in line with high school evaluations being made all over New England. A self evaluation will first be made by the Sanford High faculty and then a visiting committee of outside school officials will come in for their part in the total evaluation. It is my own privilege to serve on a visiting committee to help in the evaluation of other high schools. It is expected that this may be beneficial to Sanford High School.

Industrial Arts and Vocational Education

Sanford High School has been able even through the local recession to meet the needs of its boys for a diversified program in its shops. The Industrial Arts (9th and 10th grades) program has been improved each year. The Vocational (11 and 12th years) program has been expanded. Courses of Studies have been carefully prepared and course improvements made to the point that our Vocational School course is recognized throughout the state as one of the very best. Vocational Agriculture will be added next year to round out what should eventually be one of the best courses in New England. This will take some further revision and expansion of the existing program, however.

Several new industries already in Sanford, and others investigating the possibilities of moving here, have looked to the Vocational Shop Course to produce young men well grounded in the basic manipulative skills—boys who will be trainable in their organizations. In order to revise and expand our program to meet the demands of industry, new Vocational School facilities are needed. A building near the present high school with room to house the Machine Shop, Building Trades, and the Auto Mechanics Shop (now housed in a garage) is a recommendation for the near future if the Vocational Course meets the challenge of new industry. The new Agricultural Course would also be housed in a new vocational building. The present dissemination of the shops is not at all conducive to the best interests of the students. We have felt for a long time that the distance between the high school building and the shops has created problems that should be rectified as soon as possible.

EDUCATION

Faculty

There have been several faculty changes and additions this year. Mrs. Gladys Waddington has joined the English Department, Mr. Anthony Bahros and Mr. Charles Caramihalis the Social Studies Department. Mr. John Caramihalis is teaching Biology and General Science. They have carried on their work with enthusiasm and efficiency.

Sports

A year ago, in my report, I mentioned the fact that Sanford High had nearly finished its "building period" in athletics. That this was true in football is evident from the fact that Sanford High was FF state champion in that sport. Our football team and Coaches Nicholson and Bahros deserve a good deal of credit. John Caramihalis, coach of the Junior Varsity, had an excellent record as did Charles Caramihalis with his undefeated freshman team. Basketball is a year or so away from successful competition with the larger schools. The improved coaching in the Elementary and Junior High Schools, and a rise in interest in basketball in the High School means steadily improving teams under Coaches Bahros and Charles Caramihalis.

The indoor track season last winter saw Sanford High as the champion of southwestern Maine under the coaching of Mr. Nicholson.

Intramural basketball is being carried on by Mr. Nunan even though limited in its scope by lack of available time for competition.

Driver Education

Driver Education is once more available for two semesters and ninety-six students will be able to profit from the instruction this year. This will not take care of all those who wish to elect Driver Education, however.

Cafeteria

The Sanford cafeteria, under the management of Mrs. Ellen Goodwin and aided by an efficient staff, continues to carry on successfully in spite of high food prices. Each year more and more parents realize that it is good economy for their children to take advantage of the meals served in the schools. Between 800 and 1,000 Type A meals are cooked each day in the Sanford High cafeteria.

Musical Organizations

The Band and Glee Club continue to hold an important place among co-curricular activities. Following are the scheduled public appearances for this school year:

Band

- Football Games
- Veterans' Day Parade
- American Education Week (concert)
- Annual Winter Concert
- Pop Concert
- Combined Concert (pending)
- Memorial Day Parade
- Music at Assemblies
- Western Maine Music Festival

Glee Club

- American Education Week (concert)
- Christmas Program (Rotary)
- Kiwanis
- Ethelbert Nevin Music Club
- Elks Memorial Service
- Men's Club—Congregational Church
- District Meeting—Maine Federation of Music Assembly
- Western Maine Concert in Kittery
- Western Maine Music Festival
- Christmas Carol Singing
- Farm Bureau

We must systematically continue to study Sanford problems as related to Sanford High School and must also continue to develop in this school the broad program which has been underway for several years. Paralleling the progress made in the town itself must be a continued progress within our school. What our school is, will be reflected by the interest and desires of the people of Sanford.

FRENCH PROGRAM

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit my report as Co-Ordinator of the French Program in the Sanford-Springvale Elementary Schools.

The program is now in its second whole year. This year Mrs. Muriel Sladen is very capably serving as Supervisor of French in the elementary schools, replacing Mr. Joseph Deschenes, who had been appointed principal of Long-fellow. Mrs. Sladen majored in French in College and has had several years of successful elementary school teaching. Her knowledge of the French language, together with her acquaintance with elementary methods, were great assets for her in carrying on the program. She therefore brought to the program a great deal of enthusiasm and professional ability.

Several innovations were made this year. All the six hundred pupils studying French in grades four through eight received a mark in French on their report cards at the end of the first half year. Although marks are sometimes considered an extrinsic motivation, many students began to show increased ability in French once the marks had been issued. The marks also called the attention of the parents to their children's work in French.

In early December a desirable innovation was made upon the suggestion of Superintendent Sullivan. In each class, a daily ten minute French period is held. During this period, one student who has been appointed as teacher for the week by the Supervisor, conducts a general conversational period, during which topics previously studied under the supervisor are reviewed and practiced by the pupils. The classroom teacher acts to maintain discipline and to help whenever need arises. These conversational periods are extremely important in helping the pupils to retain the things they have learned in their regular classes and to develop oral fluency and proficiency.

A record player, a tape recorder, and records of French songs were purchased for the use of the Supervisor. Singing is considered by experts in the field of teaching of foreign languages as one of the most valuable means of teaching a language, since the rhythm of the music helps to establish the natural rhythm of the spoken language and to develop a better pronunciation.

Because Mrs. Sladen was assigned to full duty as supervisor, she was able to give more time to each class. This year, pupils in grades four through six had two periods of French a week with a total of fifty minutes. Pupils in the upper classes had a total of forty minutes a week.

Thus far this year pupils in the lower grades have learned the days of the weeks, the months, greetings, and numbers from one to a thousand. They are able to carry out simple commands pertaining to the classroom and to point out parts of their bodies. Students in the upper classes have proceeded to the point where they can carry on more difficult conversations, can follow all types of classroom directions, and are now ready to start writing and reading French. A reading book, Totor et Tristan, especially designed for the elementary school will be used by the eighth grades.

A program is being planned for a meeting of the Searchlight Club in mid March. This will be similar to the programs conducted by Mr. Deschenes and the co-ordinator at meetings of various civic groups last year. The co-ordinator is to explain the purposes and methods of the program, while Mrs. Sladen will conduct a model class.

Visits to classrooms where the pupils are being taught by Mrs. Sladen show the students are progressing very satisfactorily and are very enthusiastic about their program, if one may judge from the number of hands in the air and the eagerness of the pupils in participating in the conversation.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD F. BOOTH,

Co-Ordinator, Elementary
Schools French Program.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ELEMENTARY MUSIC

I herewith submit my report as Supervisor of Elementary Music.

Music means many things to many people. To some it means the enjoyment of the most complicated symphony—to some the pleasure that listening to our present day songs and singers on radio and television brings—to some the fun of singing in a choir or glee club—but to all it means enjoyment. To our children in the schools it has various meanings also. To some it is the time for relaxation and “a change in the days occupation”—or a chance to participate in a total group activity—or the opportunity to let off a little of the pent up energy that has been channeled and held in check during the study of the fundamentals—or a chance to improve ones ability in the fundamentals of music. But whatever the meaning it has for our children, it can truthfully be said that some form of music is enjoyable to all. I say, some form because music has many faces. It isn't just the group singing that makes up the music lesson. Granted, this is an important part of every lesson, but it is not the total picture. The children are taught the basic fundamentals, rhythemics in its many forms, the ability to listen to music made by others, and are taught the enjoyment that one can receive from creating his own songs.

The music curriculum in the elementary schools of Sanford has been set forth in printed form and it is proving its worth every day. Thus the teachers have a written guide of the activities and subject matter on which to base their year's work. By following the structural outline all classes are covering the same basic fundamentals at their individual grade level—while progressing at their own rate of speed. Many favorable comments from out of town and out of state educators have been received concerning this project.

All in all, the children of Sanford are acquiring a well-rounded musical foundation that will serve them in good stead in adult life. We, in the elementary field, are trying to give each student a background on which to build in adult life. Many of our pupils will not have any formal musical training upon leaving junior high school unless they are fortunate enough to have a membership in our excellent High School Band or Glee Club or an opportunity to sing in a church choir or other adult group. Therefore, it is our responsibility to provide them with as many and varied musical experiences as possible.

EDUCATION

As the supervisor I meet every class for one half hour each week. During this time, I teach the new work to be accomplished, which the individual teachers carry out until my next visit. Every child in the Sanford schools is getting some phase of musical activity on a daily basis, which is included in the teachers' daily plan. With all teachers, I help plan the overall program and assist whenever possible. Music is a difficult subject for a teacher with a limited musical background, but it is interesting to note, that oftentimes these teachers will have the most interesting lessons.

Every building is equipped with pianos so that each class has the advantage of piano accompaniment at least part of the time. However, if more pianos were available many of our more musical teachers could certainly put them to good use.

In the junior high schools we have only one extra curriculum activity in vocal music—namely, the Sanford Junior High Girls Glee Club. This year there were over one hundred girls that signed up for try-outs in this organization. At this writing, there is a membership of approximately sixty with a waiting list of about thirty-five. Plans are already underway for the Western Maine Music Festival to be held in Biddeford in May. I feel sure that the people of Sanford will be very proud of this group as they represent them at the Festival. Last year's group returned home with an excellent rating and a feeling of satisfaction. During the school year they raised the money for the trip to Rumford by sponsoring socials at both the Hamlin and Emerson Schools. A report on the Glee Club would not be complete, however, without a word of appreciation to Mrs. Louise Hayden for her untiring work in behalf of our junior high girls.

American Education Week was highlighted in the elementary schools this year with the presentation of two operettas at the junior high school level. The Hamlin School presented The White Gypsy at the Sanford Memorial Gymnasium followed the next week by Emerson School's King Ko-Ko at the Sanford Town Hall. Public appearances at this age level greatly contributes to the growth of our young teen-agers. The educational value cannot be measured. Thanks to the cooperation of the teachers and students these operettas followed the patterns already set by the preceding schools and were very warmly received by the public.

The yardstick for any school program and its success is the classroom teacher and her ability as an educator. May I compliment the citizens of Sanford on the calibre of the men and women that man their schools, for without their cooperation, determination, and support this public school music program could not survive.

EDUCATION

My thanks to you, Mr. Sullivan, and all school personnel, for all courtesies extended to me and the elementary music program. I consider it a privilege to work with the future citizens of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH L. HARMON,

Supervisor of Elementary Music

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The annual report of the Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Safety activities of the public schools under my supervision is hereby respectfully submitted.

To be valid, the objectives of this area in general education, that of health and physical education, must be based upon the growth, development, and adjustment needs of the children. As the needs and abilities of the pupils change, the objectives must be changed. The only possible way that these needs can be met is for the children to engage in activities under leadership. The nature of the objectives is related directly to and is dependent upon the nature of the activities. Objectives become different for different children when stated in specific form because they relate to specific needs. To determine a list of objectives for the physical education of Sanford children, a valid procedure is to analyse and observe activities for their results and then choose as objectives those results which are desirable for individual growth, development, and adjustment according to social and local standards and needs.

The results of physical education activities in this school organization are the source of the objectives in physical education that can be controlled through effort. Obviously, these objectives, whether general or specific, immediate or remote, must be adapted to the best possible use of existing facilities available to the individual school group. Children generally have immediate objectives; they are less aware of future needs and learn only gradually to adopt remote objectives.

In Sanford, the daily program is under the direction of the classroom teacher, with the supervisor making periodic visits to the group. This teacher keeps in mind constantly the generalized, specific, immediate and remote objectives in physical education and uses them as a guide in her methods of leading this educational activity. The boys and girls also have objectives and the teacher must understand and sympathize with them and deal with these objectives when planning lessons. Frequently the objectives held by different persons are in conflict. There should be no conflict between supervisor, principal or teacher however. When conflict arise between the teacher, the child or the parent, these differences should be discussed and garmonized. It is the immediate responsibility of the teacher, perhaps with some assistance from the specialist, to analyze the results of the activities used and to help her children adopt and achieve desirable objectives. In this process, our pupils have an opportunity of sharing in deciding what they are to learn.

Motivation, a basic element in learning activities, is related to objectives and results and must be dealt with in obtaining these results. Power to act must be released, that is, strength and skill used in certain ways because of the pupils' objective and goal. Motivation is internal and can only be suggested by the instructor. It depends on the nature, intensity, and clarity of the individual's purposes and tends to become stronger as the attainment of the goal becomes more immediate. Motives are related directly to feelings and understandings. The teacher, therefore, studies, accepts, guides, and suggests revisions in the physical education motives of her pupils.

Objectives should be clearly stated, understandable, attainable, and locally and socially desirable. A clear statement of the objectives in physical education in Sanford has therefore become important for several reasons. A favorable public attitude depends upon such a statement, sound supervision and administration depends upon it, and our teachers cannot teach intelligently and effectively without it.

Leadership

The primary objective in public physical education is to lead and guide children in activities so they will have new experiences and enjoy life. It is therefore necessary for the more mature teacher to influence the less mature child or group of children in realizing the standards of development and adjustment that must be attained. The purpose of leadership in physical education then is to guarantee activity to all children under conditions of safety, freedom and democracy and to set high standards.

Development

Development is the second generalized objective in physical education; it may be immediate or cumulative. Maintenance and re-establishment of functional efficiency are included in the concept of development. The kind and degree of development attained are limited by the variety, amount, intensity, and duration of the activity, and the facilities available for those activities.

Participation in physical education activities modifies the human personality in three aspects at the same time; the activities used are ones in which the skeleton, the muscles, the nervous system including the cortex, and the sense organs are used and from which flow development and adjustment in terms of ideas, concepts, understandings, judgments, interests, attitudes, emotions, ideals, strength, skills and endurance.

EDUCATION

Adjustment

Adjustment is the third generalized objectives in physical education. It is a complicated objective in which development is implied—development as well as adjustment results when a pupils adjust to their environment. Adjustment and development is then the result of the struggle of the individual in activities to achieve a satisfying relationship between his needs and his environment. Activity is the means of adjustment. Children are born into the environment of adult customs, and must learn gradually during childhood and youth to adjust to these customs. Local customs then become objectives in child education in the immediate school system. The forms and variety of adjustments are determined by the physical and biological environment including leadership that is present in the school.

Standards

The fourth objective is standards which are the result of judgment of qualities or values in human experience. They are guides to the leader and learned so that desired qualities of development and adjustment may be attained. Standards are usually chosen as objectives. Using standards, quality judgments are made regarding people, activity, leadership, environment, development and adjustment. In physical education activities, children make quality judgments relating to courage, loyalty, courtesy, fairness, honesty, cooperation, sportsmanship, and citizenship in general, therefore, the activities under leadership contribute directly to their personality development.

It is important for children to develop skill but more important for them to develop those character qualities so necessary for group living in a dynamic and democratic society. The teacher therefore must develop high standards of conduct in her classes, helping her pupils to develop good sportsmanship, not tolerating profanity, cheating, or bullying. She must help children to learn to abide by the rules, play hard to win, accept the final score of the game in its true perspective, play fair, avoid unnecessary arguments about decisions given by officials, await their turn when using playground apparatus, cooperate, be cheerful and courteous at all times. These and other traits are not inherited but are developed and improved by the children themselves while engaging in activities under the guidance of the understanding classroom teacher and the specialist supervisor.

Each activity in physical education involves all four objectives; that the accomplishment of these objectives in the physical education program in Sanford is my direct responsibility.

To this end I make the following summary: the daily program of physical education for all pupils is being carried out so far as possible under the facilities at hand.

The elementary and junior high school varsity athletic programs are being carried out under very able leadership. The combined junior high school football team practice and game schedule was very successful under the coaching of our new teacher, Richard Gilpatric. The winter basketball program under the four grammar school coaches, and the two junior high teams under Mr. Johnson and Mr. John Caramihalis progresses well and shows a good source of player material for future secondary teams.

The physical education supervisor has again furnished the necessary equipment and personnel for the many socials in the school system as well as allied neighborhood organizations. Several visitations to nearby towns will again bear fruit in better oriented groups entering Sanford High School in the coming years.

The Saturday morning program of recreation education classes continues to be an important part in the program of activities of the public schools of Sanford. Once again, it has been found that high school pupils feel the need for this supplemental activity and enter the morning groups whenever space and personnel availability makes it possible. The help of Miss Barbara Stackpole in the girls activities, and of several senior high school students in the boys activities is greatly appreciated by the supervisor.

Vacation activities during the February holidays were provided with the assistance of Bob Blouin and Donna Bridges. Morning classes were well attended and fully justify this program for the sixth consecutive year. The Basketball Tournament for Elementary and Junior High School age groups was a success, both from an athletic and financial point of view. There were a total of nineteen teams entered in the two divisions of play. The junior competition was won by a team from St. Ignatius parochial grammar school and the senior division was won by a well balanced group of Springvale boys of junior high and freshman school age. This tournament is again under the planning stage and will again be part of the vacation program of activities.

While the Track and Field events teams for boys have not met with desired success in the local meet, they continue to be a great favorite with both junior high school groups. The success of our present track team in the Suburban league recommends the continuence of this athletic activity.

Baseball for boys and softball for girls again made up the spring activity schedule and was quite successful. We once again found, however, that the lack of playing surfaces in Sanford greatly handicapped our program at the junior high and grammar school levels.

EDUCATION

At present, a complete survey of existing equipment, facilities, safety conditions and use of all playgrounds is being made by the principals of the buildings with the aid of the supervisor. Future recommendations will be made as a result of this survey. While the generosity of the local parent-teachers continues in regards to playground equipment, it is quite apparent that we must make new municipal effort in the rehabilitation of our school play areas and equipment.

As a result of the attendance of the supervisor at the first group meeting of instructors of Woods Safety at Gorham State Teachers College last May, he was asked to cooperate in the National Regional institute held at Sargeant Camp in Peterboro, N. H., last September. A complete curriculum involving from this institute will be initiated in the senior and junior high school boys groups during the coming school year. It will include gun safety, woods survival, basic knowledge of state laws, and practical use of same.

As new areas of study within the realm of physical education, recreation, health education, safety in all areas of school activity, and associated subjects opens up, it is earnestly recommended that they become a part of the school curriculum as soon as practicable.

Again, as in the several reports that I have previously been permitted to submit, I offer my deepest appreciation and thanks to the Superintendent of Schools, the Superintending School Committee, principals and classroom teachers and other school personnel that have made my position a happy one in the year past.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD W. BEALS,

Director of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety
Sanford Public Schools

SCHOOL NURSING REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1956

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Following is the report of the school nursing program for 1956.

The nursing program was carried on as a section of the total school health program. Close working relationships were established with all health programs in the school and community.

Parents, teachers and concerned individuals were familiarized with observations, situations and recommendations pertaining to an individual child.

The school nurse served as organizer for the program activities. These organized activities were executed in cooperation with other professional individuals.

The most spectacular event during this year was the use of the Salk Polio Vaccine for prevention of poliomyelitis. Vaccine was supplied to us by the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, and the Federal and State Departments of Health.

Clinics were organized, held and attended. Following is a report of vaccine administered through December, 1956:

3047 children received 1st dose
3008 children received 2nd dose
540 children received 3rd dose

Clinics will be continued until June, 1957. We have been notified that allotment of free vaccine will be discontinued at that date. This extensive preventative poliomyelitis program could not have been accomplished without the assistance of the health officer and nurses of the Community Health Association, and to them I express my deepest gratitude. Also, I wish to extend my appreciation to the school personnel, the press and to the many volunteer workers for assistance rendered at these clinics.

Vaccine for protection against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus was offered to the sub-primary and first grade children. 187 children received that type of vaccine. Also, 105 children in this age group were vaccinated against smallpox. The health officer attended these clinics and they were held in the school building.

EDUCATION

A plan for allotment of free hot noon lunches to children was discussed with the supervisor of the school lunch program. We concluded that the number of children cared for would be a percentage number of each school's enrollment. The Principals were requested to contact the nurse when this percentage number was filled and still more free lunches needed. We hope this plan will provide hot lunches for all deserving children.

The Milk Fund sponsored the gift of one-half pint milk daily to 59 children.

The specific program for control and prevention of tuberculosis was continued as in other years. 694 children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades had the patch tuberculin test applied. Nine of these children showed a reaction signifying that each needed a chest X-ray. These X-rays were arranged for at the Goodall Hospital. None of these children were found to have a contagious type of a tuberculous infection. Also, patch testing and chest X-rays were taken of five children who had been in contact with an adult who had an infectious type of tuberculosis. These children were found to be non-infectious. 68 chest X-rays were taken of other school children, were referred by physicians or were tuberculosis contacts known to us from other years.

An index file was kept of dates of teachers' and school personnel chest X-rays. This routine is in accordance with the State law of Maine requiring school personnel to have chest X-rays every two years. Teachers were notified of dates the X-rays were due and arrangements made for 13 of them to be X-rayed at a clinic at the Goodall Hospital.

Considerable work was done with children needing special care. At the request of the family physician, arrangements were completed for two children to attend a speech clinic, one child to attend a convulsive clinic, three to attend a cardiac clinic, two to have a mental evaluation and three to attend an orthopedic clinic.

Mentally retarded children received consideration according to our facilities. Arrangements were made for two children to have mental evaluation tests. Results of these tests made it easier for the teachers of these children. At the request of the Superintendent of Schools a list was compiled of known mentally retarded children. An application was made out and sent in for the admission of one child to the Pownall State School. The child was accepted and is attending the school at present.

Assistance was given, whenever possible, in helping with maladjusted children. 23 conferences were held with parents, teachers and psychiatric workers in seeking help for this type of child.

EDUCATION

Consideration was given to a plan for a more comprehensive nursing service for the High School. Conferences were held with the Principal of the High School and more nursing service is to be given at a future date.

Each classroom has been given a folder with information concerning the school nursing program, rules for prevention of contagion, routine for emergency care and first aid, slips for exclusion of children and material for vision examination.

A health record is on file in the school for each student. This record gives a picture of the child's physical condition and our findings at the time of the different examinations. This record is cumulative from the sub-primary through the twelfth grade.

First Aid cabinets in the schools were kept filled with material needed for minor injuries.

Children attending the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades received the following examinations:

1. Vision examination by an optometrist.
2. Physical examinations by a medical doctor.
3. Foot examinations by a podiatrist.

These examinations were beneficial to the children from the viewpoint of education and case finding. As for education, the children were taught the routine procedure for such examinations and the necessity for constant care of their physical condition. Case finding or defect detection informed the family and child of early abnormal conditions. Parents were informed of findings which needed care. Different organizations rendered service by providing for correction of defects for children unable to finance their own corrections.

Examinations were provided for children in Grades 5, 6 and 8 who planned to participate in competitive sports. Recommendations of the medical doctor were reported to the Principal of the school.

The group audiometer testing was done in Grades 2 through 8. Children having a low hearing average in this test were referred to their family doctors for care and advice.

This year 82% of referred examined children have had care from their family doctors. This percentage is most gratifying.

Total of visits made during the year was as follows: 482 visits to classrooms; 80 visits to parents of school children; and 170 visits were made to the nurse's office by parents and interested individuals.

EDUCATION

Statistical proof as to the effectiveness of the school nursing program is impossible to report. However, it has been proven that the school children possess a high degree of interest in their own physical condition. Also, parents are becoming increasingly aware of and showing interest in their children's physical and emotional health. In general, it is hoped that all children benefited from the above program.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURA E. TABER, R. N.

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report for the year 1956 as Supervisor of Art Education in the Sanford Public Schools.

This past year has been one of a great many changes in personnel and in grade placement of teachers. This presents new problems in the art department since each of these people requires orientation. Art Education has changed so rapidly in the past ten years that it is not easy for teachers to gather the newest concepts without help. Even those recently out of college may have been exposed to practices now considered obsolete. Within the last five years only, there has been some very valuable writing in both the philosophy and the psychology of Art Education. Sociologists too have added their distinctive interpretations of the potentialities of creative art experiences in terms of the growth and developmental learning of the child. They have coordinated their ideas to express a great concern for the culture of our society. They tell us that our culture is in danger of falling apart and that the arts reflect this decadence. There is a great deal for inner values and a means of transmitting a sense of values to successive generations. Art Education, in its concern with the unity of material, form and content, its concern with developing an adequate seeing, imagination, and intuition, is one means of conveying to the child an idea of a meaningful unity that will stand him in good stead in any situation which requires a sense of coordination. These people see the development of such minds as of utmost importance to the well-being of our society. This places a tremendous responsibility upon the art educator. We are constantly being urged to acquaint our teachers with this new concept; yet there is no definite formula for teaching creative art education, for its very value lies in its creativity.

It is to be hoped that the guide book, Art in Education for Elementary Grades which we published in 1955, is helpful in this respect. In it is no fixed curriculum since the very essence of the creative art experience is peculiarly abstract in nature. The guide is designed to provide a skeleton upon which to build each year an individual room program which will fit the ever-changing needs of successive groups of varying personalities which confront a teacher. The richness of such a program depends upon each teacher's acceptance of the underlying philosophy presented in the guide and her own ingenuity in providing the proper atmosphere, the most provocative motivation, and the type of art activity from which her group will profit most at the psychological moment. The guide also presents specific objectives, an outline of content area, a brief summary of levels of growth in art ability and the various stages of child development in art expression, lists of suggested activities for the well-balanced program on the lower and upper elementary grade levels, lists of helpful audio-visual aids, and a bibliography.

We want our art program in Sanford to be meaningful and it is the aim of the art supervisor to be ready at all times to assist the teachers and their pupils in fulfilling any current objectives that are part of long range plans or to motivate a current interest in experimentation in a new medium. To this end, my program has been made more flexible to the extent that I no longer adhere to a fixed time schedule although I plan to be in definite buildings on stated days. This plan is new and is working out gradually. Some of the teachers have taken advantage of the opportunity to plan activities which require more than the previous time allowance in their rooms and we have been able to work on murals, new media, and three-dimensional projects which otherwise might not have materialized. As an example: Preparations for Education Night at the Sanford Gymnasium resulted in a full day's work in two third grades in one building on sawdust and paste sculpture and papier mache modelling of numerous animals for the science exhibit on hibernation. Since that time I have been impressed by the freedom and spontaneity of the two-dimensional work of these children. I feel sure that the extra amount of time spent with this group will have long range results in integrative effects upon their personalities as they continue in profitable creative experiences.

The evidence of these long range results are being increasingly noticeable in the young adults of junior high and high school age. The Junior high school art committees for the two operettas given by the Hamlin and Emerson schools in the fall were exceptionally capable and self reliant. The high school young people also prove themselves excellent products of our creative art program. Each year they show more independence and ingenuity. Those people who placed themselves responsible for the Carnival Ball and Prom decorations, Distaff work and operetta scenery have this past year dispatched their plans and all the attendant art work involved, both two and three-dimensional, with a surprising maturity and capability. We were able to send sixty outstanding paintings abroad from the junior and senior high schools in the American Junior Red Cross art exchange program. These were exhibited in store windows in Sanford. Entrance in the "Keep Maine Green" poster contest resulted in a first prize winner at junior high level for the county, and first prize in the county and honorable mention in the state for a high school student.

We continue to have excellent cooperation. At this writing plans are being made for in-service training for those teachers who wish to enrich their programs. Coordination from one grade level to the next shows improvement in all buildings, and all of the new teachers show active interest in becoming familiar with the newest trends in Art Education.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Sullivan, the Superintending School Committee, Mr. Page, Mr. Towle, and the Elementary School Principals and Teachers for their continued support of the art education program.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Supervisor of Art Education.

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1957

We, the members of the Board of Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor, elected to serve you during the year 1957, herewith submit a brief account of our stewardship.

General Conditions

Looking at other municipalities that have been hit with the loss of their chief industry, Sanford, in taking inventory, has much to be thankful for, even though the year 1957 makes it impossible for us to add any new industry's name to the list shown in our summary report of last year. Many one-time single large industry towns are in the arena for economic survival vying with one another in a market where competition is razor-sharp, where the stakes for survival require the undivided efforts of each and everyone of us. Sanford is one of many embattled municipalities fighting to attract new industries, striving to develop a diversified industrial structure—"Sanford—The Town That Refused to Die." is still on the come-back trail—let us all, with renewed vigor, and redoubled effort, put our shoulders to the wheel of industrial diversification and roll on to a greater and better Sanford. With confidence in ourselves, faith in an Omnipotent Providence, combined with the determination and will to win, we can, in 1958, not only give vibrant meaning to the slogan "Sanford—The Town That Refused to Die" but in addition, actually convince industrial prospects that "Sanford is The Town with the Forward Look."

Trend of Educational Costs

While realizing that most taxpayers are disturbed over increasing costs of education, may we say that this problem is not unique with Sanford, that it is a universal problem confronting all municipalities in this fair land of ours, that the trend in rising educational costs holds ominous portents for the future. This trend of ever increasing costs for education is due, in the main, to world conditions brought about through the launching of Sputnik I and II by Soviet Russia. At the present rate of increase, and looking into the foreseeable future, we may ultimately see tax bills in orbit, if some form of subsidy to education is not provided by the federal government. This ponderous and complex problem while receiving the attention of the best minds in the nation, still remains unsolved, and thereby gives rise to the question: "How long is the real and personal property taxpayer going to be able to continue paying for the ever-increasing costs of education?" The answer to this question is taxing the best brains in the land—an answer must be found if our system of education is to go forward to meet the needs of the times. We are not without realizing that taxes lay a most heavy hand upon the shoulders of all citizens, but then again, do the citizens realize that every demand for increased services mean greater expenditures which in turn necessitate the appropriation of more money, meaning more taxes.

Sanford State Armory

Last November the new armory was dedicated—this building is already being used by the School Department for certain phases of its athletic program, and for other community activities, when not being actually used by the National Guard. Dedication and acceptance of this building by the Defense Department and the State of Maine, removed from the shoulders of our taxpayers, a most burdensome expense. Our office, in electing to have the town do that phase of the work which involved grading, fill, landscaping, teaming and seeding, bringing all utilities to the building, etc., resulted in a saving of $2,461.80 for the town.

Public Assistance

Welfare costs during the past year showed no appreciable change over the previous year even though certain industries laid off quite a number of people. Prognostication of heavy relief expenditures following the closing of Goodall-Sanford, Inc., in 1954, has never materialized. A check of welfare expenditures since that eventful year shows no abnormal increase. This, we believe, is irrefutable testimony that Sanford people have deep-rooted traits of frugality and "saving for a rainy day," when working.

Summing up, we have tried to highlight some of the many municipal activities, no doubt many more have escaped mention, but this does not mean that they received less attention, may we assure you that all problems were given our undivided study with the sole thought of resolving them in the best interests of the town.

In closing, we wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all municipal departments for their cooperation in helping to make our tasks a little lighter, and last but not least, may we say to the clerical staff in all municipal offices, thank you one and all for work well done. Finally we wish to extend our sincere thanks to you, the citizens of Sanford, for having given us the opportunity to serve you.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,

THEODORE C. GAUTHIER,

F. EVERETT NUTTER,

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

January 16, 1958

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen
Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The Board of Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1957.

The firefighting equipment of the Sanford Fire Department is in good operating condition. The main floor of the fire station has been cleaned and newly painted. We are now in the process of cleaning, repairing and painting the basement. This will make the interior of the station in very good condition.

The fire alarm system is in good condition, but there are some areas in town that need fire alarm boxes.

The permanent men made 903 inspections this past year. They inspected places of business, factories, churches, schools, public buildings and tenements.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the Board of Selectmen and their clerks, the Springvale Fire Department, Police Department, Highway Department, Water Department, Town Garage crew, Ladies' Auxiliary, Permanent and Call Men and each and every person who assisted us during the year 1957.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK HAMMOND, Chief
CHARLES PIKE, 1st Assistant
EDGAR WHICHER, 2nd Assistant

SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

December 31, 1957

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen
Town of Sanford, Maine

Dear Sirs:

The Board of Engineers of the Springvale Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1957.

The Springvale Fire Station and firefighting equipment are in very good condition. During the winter of 1956 and 1957 the permanent men cleaned and painted the basement and the ground floor walls and ceilings of the Station.

We have replaced one fire alarm box this year and expect to install one rebuilt box and two new boxes in new locations in 1958.

The permanent men have made 750 building inspections in business places, schools, churches and shoe factories this year.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the Selectmen and their clerks, the Sanford Fire Department, Police and Highway Departments, Call Men and Permanent Men for their cooperation and assistance in the past year.

We would also like to thank the Ladies' Auxiliary for the fine job they did in keeping the firemen well fed during the forest fires at South Sanford in May, 1957.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMORE, L. HANSCOM, Chief
HILLIARD M. BOOTHBY, Assistant
RICHARD G. LAMB, Assistant

REPORT OF THE SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

Gentlemen:

Happenings of the past year have provided much that the people of the country as a whole should seriously consider. The Russian "Sputnick" and the "Dognick" indicate that it is now possible to propel a missile great distances and into orbit around the world, traveling at incredible speed. The logical conclusion is that a missile armed with an atomic or hydrogen bomb could be delivered to a target anywhere in the world and so controlled that it would drop in close proximity to that target. Should this be attempted by one of the great powers, the need for a trained group in every community to combat fire, clear debris, and control hysteria would be a problem for the Civil Defense forces. In addition this group would be expected to provide food, clothing and a plan of evacuation to save as many people and as much property as possible.

The aim of the Civil Defense Organization is to instill confidence, to insure protection to many, and in anticipation of such devastation to lock the barn door now and not wait for the horse to be stolen.

We are not a regimented people as yet, we can do pretty much as we want with our time, and with our money. As long as we obey the laws of the land we can go anywhere, and do most anything we like, but the day will come when it will not be so easy to do these things. That day will be close at hand when some other country, with ideas of expansion, and knowing that the people here are not prepared to defend themselves in times of great stress, may decide that that is the opportune time to strike.

It should be the earnest desire of all the people to have some of the more simple rudiments of self protection taught them in order that the confusion expected could be reduced to a great extent. Please be cognizant of the fact that "It can happen here" and probably will in the future, because someone has said that wars are inevitable.

There are several segments of the local Civil Defense organization that are doing a good job, Police and Fire Department Auxiliaries and the mass feeding groups. The Civil Air Patrol unit, although not a part of the Civil Defense group, are always ready to give assistance when search is necessary or a communications problem is apparent. These units have been of great value in the promotion of training schedules.

The Director of Civil Defense must be someone who is dedicated to this type of service to the community. He must have the time and the patience to proceed with those programs that lead to the eventual 100% participation of the residents. His wages will be in the satisfaction of a job well done. A lack of time necessary to promote these factors of this worthwhile job is the fact that your director has seen fit to resign, in the hope that another person may take up the torch and carry on.

The surplus property and matching funds program of the Federal Government provide an easier solution to the stockpiling of items of equipment to be used in training and for use should the need arise. Much added equipment has been secured through these means and there will be other items added next year.

It is hoped that the new Director will perform much more creditably, and suffice it to say that it has been a pleasure to have served for over two years as Director without incurring the displeasure of those to whom the Director is responsible.

Respectfully submitted,

MOORE GREENWOOD

HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1957

To the Selectmen, Town of Sanford, Maine.

Gentlemen:

As Health Officer for the Town of Sanford from January 1, 1957 to January 1, 1958, I herewith respectfully submit a report of health activities during the current year.

Medical and surgical care was given to welfare cases where needed. When necessary, State children who are boarded out were also given medical care. Old age assistance cases were also cared for. This included visits to the Mountain View Infirmary and convalescent homes in Sanford, Acton and Lebanon.

Whenever complaints were received, public nuisances and infractions of the plumbing and sanitary laws were investigated and dealt with.

Vaccinations and inoculations were given to all children having parental consent.

Contagious diseases were dealt with as required by law.

Numerous polio and influenzal clinics were held during the year. Response to these were excellent.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.,

Health Officer.

NURSING REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION, INC., 1957

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The directors and nursing staff of the Community Health Association, Inc., submit a summary of activities carried on in 1957.

These activities were financed by town appropriation, special benefit programs, gifts and individual fees charged to patients. Although we had a basic fee for bedside nursing, no individual was refused care if unable to pay for service. No fees are requested for health education visits.

All nursing care visits were observed under the direction of the patients' attending physician. Activities pertaining to prevention of contagion were conducted under the supervision and guidance of the local health officer. Three doctors from the local Medical Association were appointed to serve as an advisory group for policy making for our work. Two full-time nurses were employed and the nurse employed by the school department supervised the nursing program.

The directors met at frequent intervals to receive reports of the nursing program and to discuss needs and policies. The directors are a volunteer group of workers and render invaluable assistance to the community in devoting time and energy for this public health nursing program.

Following are statements concerning visits, clinics and activities:

- (1) Bedside Nursing Care—1,026 visits made to patients (increase of 158 over 1956).
- (2) Combination service of bedside nursing care and health education.

186 visits to tuberculosis patients, tuberculosis contacts and suspects.

122 visits to diabetic patients.

56 visits to cardiac patients.

353 visits to cancer patients.

86 visits to crippled individuals.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

(3) Clinics:

Foot Clinics—Attendance was 177 visits by individuals.

Chest Clinics—185 chest X-rays were taken at Goodall Hospital. These were sent to Hebron Sanatorium for reading. The York County Tuberculosis Association paid for X-rays for 18 of these patients.

Salk Polio Vaccine Clinics—5,226 injections of Salk Polio Vaccine were given at clinics attended by the health officer who was assisted by the nurses and volunteer helpers.

Immunization Clinics—The health officer, assisted by the nurses, conducted clinics for immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. 315 doses of above vaccine were given at these clinics. 62 children were vaccinated against small-pox.

Assistance was given at a clinic for the giving of Asian Flu vaccine and 469 individuals received the inoculations.

Influenza Vaccine Clinic—The nurses conducted a program in the parochial schools as time allowed. Plans were formulated for a more extensive program with this group.

One nurse spent approximately two hours every school day at the Sanford High School, assisting with the nursing program with that age group.

20 children received care at the Sanford Health Camp. These children were referred by their family physicians because of emotional or physical disturbances. Seven weeks of concentrated care improved their condition and follow-up care is given during the rest of the year.

A series of Mothers' Classes was held for pre-natal patients. 21 individuals registered for this course. Three classes in the series were conducted by the Association nurses and last class by a nurse from the Goodall Hospital.

We hope that by our program, individuals and families have been shown the means for applying to their daily lives information and procedures which will assist them to either get well or to keep well.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.,
Supervisor.

REPORT OF THE PARK COMMISSIONERS

The year 1957 has been a very gratifying one for your Park Commissioners.

We had a record attendance for the playgrounds of 12,788 for 8 weeks attendance with a good group of supervisors.

The ball park was used 7 days a week for 4 months with an attendance of over 2,000 boys.

Improvements were made at the 3 playgrounds.

We have added a new watering system at the Elizabeth Benton Playground wading pool which will be used next summer.

The Dutch Elm Disease in Sanford has been kept at a very low level. We only lost three trees because of this disease. Last spring we cut all dead limbs and sprayed. In the middle of the summer we sprayed again, and in that way we kept the disease very low. The Dutch Elm Program will be kept up in 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

ROLAND LANGLAIS,

KENNETH BERGERON,

CHARLES BLOUIN,

Park Commissioners.

Mr. Maurice J. Maurice, Chairman
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor
Sanford, Maine

Dear Mr. Maurice:

In accordance with Municipal Accounting and Auditing practices described in Chapters 311 and 504, Public Laws of 1957 and at your request, the records of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1957.

I herewith enclose my report of this audit with supporting schedules and questionnaire.

I hereby certify that the records of the Town Treasurer, Selectmen, Superintendent of Schools and Town Clerk and Tax Collector of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1957 and found to be correct.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET M. SHAW,

Auditor.

SCHOOL SIGNALS

The "No School Signal" will be sounded only on those occasions when concern for the pupils makes it imperative.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home, even when school is in session, if road conditions in their locality are particularly hazardous.

Whenever possible, information on the "No School Signal" will be given over the following radio stations: Station WGAN, Portland; Station WIDE, Biddeford; Station WWNH, Rochester; Station WCSH, Portland; and Station WSME, Sanford.

On occasions when the "No School Signal" is sounded at 7:45 A. M., there will be no school for the entire day. The reason for this is the impossibility of securing busses and setting up bus routes during the noon hour. Please note that the signal for the afternoon session has been changed from 11:30 A. M. to 12:15 P. M.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1957 fiscal year it is a pleasure to report on the status of the public school system of Sanford. This report is designed to give you a brief, concise, factual picture of your public schools in this community. The pages following will enable all those interested in public education to understand the strengths, the weaknesses, the problems facing public education at the local level. You will help Sanford as well as yourself if you take an active interest in public education.

The people of the United States were startled late in 1957 when they first read about, and then observed, a Russian satellite orbiting around us in outer space. The days following saw a barrage of criticism directed at education at all levels, but particularly at the mathematics and science programs being carried on in our high schools and colleges.

Amazingly enough, there are some educators who believe that the current barrage of attacks upon our educational system should be ignored. Their reasoning is frequently based on the facts that our schools have periodically been under attack in the past and yet they have survived these waves of criticism and have still managed to progress toward desirable goals.

I disagree with what I feel certain, is this minority of educators. Undoubtedly one reason that educators have been slow to respond to the criticism levied against the schools has been their inability to compile facts and figures on the product being trained in our schools. Here in Sanford we are able to accurately measure the effectiveness of the work being carried on in our schools and a major portion of this report will be spent on the results obtained, during 1957, from a comprehensive achievement testing program involving grades 2 to 9.

Typical of thought beyond the immediate reaction to Sputnik was an editorial in the New York Herald Tribune. It said that the time had come not to panic, but to think about "The true purpose of education is to cherish and unfold the seed of immortality already sown within us, to develop to their fullest extent, the capacities of every kind with which the God who made us has endowed us."

Anna Jameson.

our sins of omission and commission and our inadequacies and our failures as a people and as a nation. Educators agreed with its conclusion that our long-term national defense depends on better education, and that we must "tackle the whole national educational crisis in the way a mighty and responsible nation ought to tackle it—with all our resources, ingenuity and serious attention."

A year ago the President's Committee for Scientists and Engineers presented its ideas in a bulletin, "Improving Science and Mathematics in Elementary and Secondary Schools," including the following:

"The quality and content of educational programs in elementary and secondary schools exert a powerful influence on the career choices of youth. The number of students who prepare to enter scientific careers, as well as their competence, depends in large measure upon the completeness and the quality of instruction in science and mathematics.

"High quality education in science and mathematics will be achieved as improved teaching, higher education standards, and increased motivation are achieved in all courses of instruction."

Among the scientific, technical and engineering societies represented on the President's Committee for Scientists and Engineers there is substantial agreement that school systems must be improved in all aspects together in order to improve sufficiently the quality and scope of offerings in science, and mathematics. The future of our country and the world depends upon understanding psychology, history, government, ethics, languages and human relationships quite as much as upon our ability to rival successive Sputniks. These must be included in better education for all our people if we are to maintain our national position as a leader of the human race toward peace and better living in the decades ahead, but WE MUST LAY THE GROUNDWORK IMMEDIATELY FOR SCIENTIFIC LEADERSHIP at the same time.

As stated above, I believe that school administrators have an obligation to themselves and to our educational system to interpret what they are doing to the public and to make available to that public the facts about the quality of work our schools are doing.

The Sanford School Committee has, for the past several years, made all facts and figures on local education available to the public. Public meetings, "Know Your School" programs, detailed press releases on all activities, brochures and a complete "open door" policy have been followed by the local School Committee.

system. It may not be possible to change the minds of biased critics, but only through publicizing all information can the schools hope to maintain the respect and confidence of the American public.

Science Research Test Results of Sanford Public Schools Grades 2-9

A comprehensive Achievement Testing Program involving Grades 2-9 has been completed in the Sanford schools. The results of the testing have been prepared and analyzed by the superintendent of schools, principals, guidance director, and teachers in all grades involved. The over-all results, which will be used as a continuing part of the evaluation of our system, indicate that our schools rank with the better schools in the nation.

The Program

All elementary students in Grades 2-8 were tested with the Science Research Associates Achievement Battery. This battery, which tests knowledge in all the academic areas of the elementary curriculum except art and music, is a five-hour battery of tests yielding ten part scores and average score related to the grade level of each pupil tested.

It provides the teacher with an excellent measure of the academic progress of each child and permits her to plan remedial work wherever needed. The pupils' scores are listed individually in a Progress Folder providing the teacher with an index that is most helpful in explaining the pupil's development to the parent.

There has also been prepared a Progress Chart for each classroom, one for each grade by schools, and a Master Chart which graphs the results system-wide. It is most pleasing to note in this Master Chart that no grade in the Sanford schools falls very far below grade level in any of the part scores. In fact, system-wide, Grades 4 and 8 score above grade level on ALL parts of the lengthy battery. Grade 7 shows a slight drop of 3 months below grade level in Arithmetic Concepts and Computations, but any drop of less than 5 months is not serious. Grades 5 and 6 show drops of 1-3 months in Reading Comprehension and Vocabulary below grade level or average.

When one considers that these town-wide grade scores involve all youngsters in each grade regardless of the range of intelligence or other factors of previous school problems, the job done by our children on this nationally-used battery speaks very well of the quality of work being done in our schools by pupils and teachers alike. In the words of Mr. William T. Stimson, New England Director of Science Research Associates, "Any town might well be proud of the showing of the Sanford Elementary Schools."

Teacher Workshop Held

In order to implement the use of the test results by the classroom teacher, Mr. Stimson spent the day in Sanford last May 3rd. His time was divided between two groups, as he met in the morning with Dr. Sullivan and the several principals, and in the afternoon conducted a workshop for all teachers. At the second meeting the discussion involved the analysis of the test results by schools and grades, the interpretation of individual's scores, the relationship of the test scores to daily work in the classroom and plans for further study of any areas below the national average.

Although those in charge of the development of the educational program have a definite need for the kind of information our recent testing has produced, that the classroom teacher understands and uses the test results to help each child is of major importance. The recent workshop on Testing was planned with this thought in mind.

One of the obvious revelations of the testing of significance for the future is the fact that an increasingly large percentage of our youth is working at an academic level which will qualify them for education beyond high school, if they desire it. Another point brought out in the examination of individual scores, even in the excellent 8th grade, is the fact that a small number of students have a definite need for remedial reading help. In other words, in spite of the best efforts of all concerned, some pupils do not gain mastery over reading skills in the first six years of training normally devoted to this work. For these children continued academic progress is very closely related to remedial help offered to them in Grades 7-12 at the time at which it will help them the most.

Ninth Grade Program

Last month our 9th grade also participated in the Testing Program and worked on the difficult Iowa Test of Educational Development, an 8-hour battery designed to measure future promise as well as present status of each pupil tested. The 170 students taking the vigorous testing turned in an impressive showing on their first experience with such exacting materials. The average score of the group was at the national average for 9th grades. In the tests on the Interpretation of Social Studies, Basic Social Concepts, and Correctness of Expression the group exceeded national standards. In Mathematics and Vocabulary there appeared to be some need for remedial work in the class, for a few pupils who showed some retardation. However, comparing the scores made by Sanford's 9th graders with norms for New England High Schools, our pupils ranked above the New England average.

High School Study Group Meet

As in the case of the elementary schools, teachers of the 9th graders, Principal Page and Mr. Towle, Guidance Director, met with the Science Research Associates' representative to discuss the test findings. A discussion of means for strengthening basic skills in Mathematics and the development of Vocabulary strength highlighted the meeting, to implement the use of the results and individual study on each pupil tested was presented to the group by means of an opaque projector. Much valuable information was gained by this technique in preparing for the advancement of the students' programs as 10th graders.

The proportion of the class working at an academic level satisfactory for success in schools beyond high school is most gratifying and accounts in large part for the excellent scores made by the group.

Again, as in the case of the elementary pupils, there exists a small group of pupils who need additional reading help to insure the greatest academic progress. This problem is found throughout the nation, but many schools are just beginning to meet it. It is already being worked on in our High School as several groups of pupils have had special help this year; if anything, more attention should be given to this area in the future.

Finally, the individual analysis also uncovered a few students working at least a grade above their classmates. Meeting the needs of these "gifted" people is another area of special concern to all.

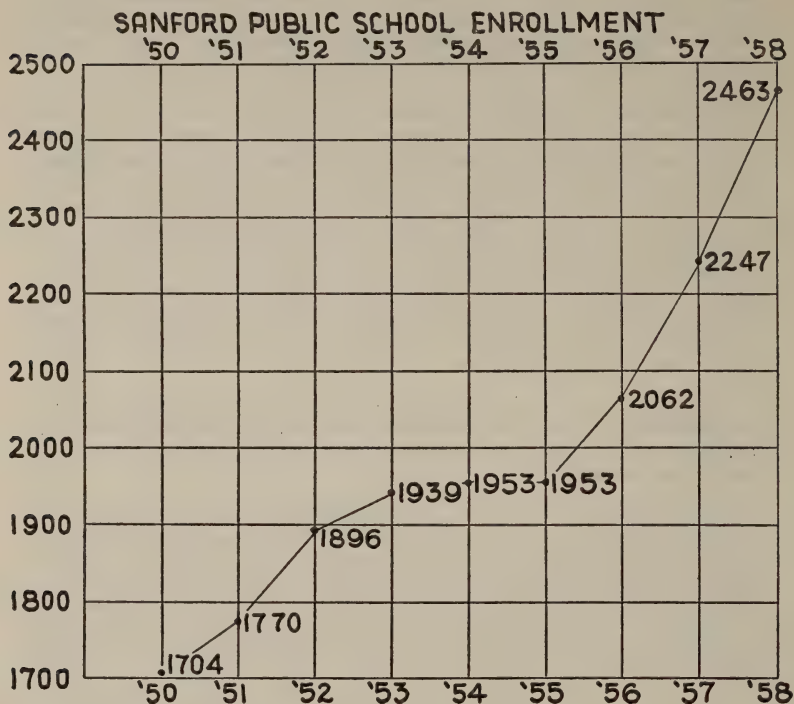

"Man can be set free from the yoke of his own nature only by education. It alone can make it possible for him to subordinate the impulses of his body to the guidance of his developing mind."

M. A. Bakunin, Dieu et l'Etat—1871.

EDUCATION

For the past several years a program in the elementary schools has permitted the gifted student to work at his own level of achievement and ability.

Today, a program is being planned in our secondary school to give any gifted student an opportunity to work far beyond what we have always considered "high school level work" in the field of mathematics and science.

New Schools

Town Meeting Members at the December Town Meeting in 1956 authorized the Moderator to name a panel of Sanford citizens to study the school building needs existing in the public schools in this community. The Moderator named the following citizens to the Committee:

Dr. Kenneth Kornetsky, Chairman
Mrs. Eva Ford
Mr. Donald Bartlett
Mr. Phidelem Demers
Mr. Ralph Worcester

The Committee made an exhaustive study of school facilities, visiting the various school plants, holding meetings with school personnel, and finally holding a public meeting in the Sanford Memorial Gymnasium to give all citizens in the community an opportunity to express themselves relative to the question being studied by the Committee. In May, 1957 the Committee made their final report at a Special Town Meeting, recommending that a new Junior High School be constructed, and the shell of a new Vocational School. Town Meeting Members accepted the report of the Committee and raised and appropriated $650,000 for the project $550,000 to be spent on the new Junior High School and $100,000 on the shell of the Vocational School.

Town Meeting members again authorized the Moderator to select a Committee of 8 citizens to work with the Superintending School Committee to carry out the directions of the Town Meeting members. The following citizens were named by the Moderator:

Mr. Paul A. Baldwin, Chairman
Mr. Donald Bartlett
Mr. Perley Bradford
Mr. Andre Chabot
Mr. Charles Dostie
Mr. Mason Dutton
Dr. Kenneth Kornetsky
Mr. Albert Lamontagne
Mr. Ralph Worcester

In addition to the above named group the following members of the Sanford School Committee are serving as members of this Committee:

Mrs. Hazel L. Drown, R. N.
Mr. Roland A. Gauthier
Mr. George S. Willard

The group worked diligently through the last six months of 1957 and it appears today that construction will start early

Ambitious Repair Program

Town Meeting members approved of spending $28,500 on repairing the public school plant in 1957. The School Committee had curtailed their repair program during 1954-55-56 and many major repairs were urgently needed.

Hamlin School:

- New fluorescent lights in seven classrooms.
- New lighting system in corridors and all auxiliary rooms.
- New toilet fixtures throughout building.
- New roof.

Longfellow School:

- New toilet fixtures.
- Major repairs to roof.
- Painting exterior of building.
- Major boiler repairs.

Edison School:

- New doors for fire exits.
- New roof.
- New asphalt tile in several rooms.

Band Hall:

- Painting exterior of building.
- New lighting on first floor.
- New asphalt tile on first floor.

Emerson School:

- Major changes in basement of building improving cafeteria and one new classroom.
- Major boiler repairs.
- New fluorescent lighting in four classrooms.

Lincoln School:

- New roof
- Painting corridors.
- Waterproofing exterior of building.
- New doors for fire exits.

Sanford High School:

- Painting all exterior sash and trim.
- Waterproofing north wall.
- Major changes in basement area.
- Repairs to roof.
- Painting.
- Development of new health room.

Memorial Gymnasium:

New storage areas.
Landscaping and new retaining wall.
New walk-in refrigerator.

Lafayette School.

New steps and retaining wall.
Painting.

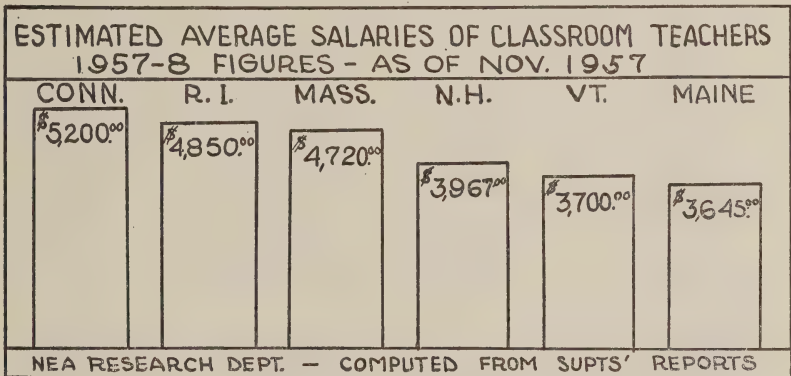

The above includes most of the major repair projects. In addition, each custodian was required to complete minor repairs as needed in all buildings.

Enrollment

Over 2,200 students reported for school in September. This represented an increase of approximately 200 students over the 1956 enrollment. All available classrooms were taxed to capacity and some classes included over 40 students in one room.

Staff

Seven new teachers were added to the teaching corps during the summer of 1957 to handle the bulging enrollment.

The School Dollar

A look at two graphs on these pages point out the problem faced by your School Committee. The first graph describes the almost phenomenal growth in our public school population since 1950 and the other how the school dollar is spent at the local level. This second graph points out that 70% of the school dollar is spent on teachers' salaries. Listed below is a comparison of salaries being paid to teachers in other Maine communities and how Sanford compares:

EDUCATION

Yes, our schools have problems. They have constantly needed more teachers to handle the increasing school enrollment and, more teachers and more students mean an increased local appropriation for these new teachers and the textbooks, supplies and equipment needed for this growing school population. In addition, your School Committee must remain competitive in salaries being paid to experienced teachers or Sanford will be unable to retain its present corps of excellent teachers.

The School Committee has tried to keep classes at a size under 40 and this has resulted in doubling up of classes when the enrollment runs between 40 and 60 in a particular grade.

In September 1957 it was necessary to employ 6 new teachers in the Sanford public schools. Figuring at an average salary of $3,900. this would amount to $23,400. in a fiscal year. In September 1958 it will be necessary to employ 8 new teachers in the Sanford system—5 at the elementary level and 3 at the secondary level. Again basing this on an annual average salary of $3,900., the cost for new teachers would be $31,200.

Almost without exception the increase in the School Department budget is based on two factors—14 new teachers over a two-year period, and a salary schedule adjustment for the approximately 100 teachers in the Sanford School system.

Some Comparative Costs

The excellent program being carried on in our local schools lead many people to believe that the cost of the program is much higher than in other Maine communities. This, however, is not true. For example, the State Department of Education released on September 9, 1957, the following statistics based on costs for the preceding fiscal year:

Cost per pupil in all Maine secondary schools	$313.72
Cost per pupil at Sanford High School	316.00

This release shows that most York County High Schools and high schools of comparative size in Maine have a per capita cost well above the Sanford cost of $316.00. Few, if any, of these schools can boast of the broad curriculum being offered at Sanford High School, despite the fact that their per capita cost is greater than our $316.00 cost.

Figures released by the State Department on comparable district date for 1956-57 on the school costs are equally revealing. The per capita cost (average for all Sanford children, sub-primary through 12) was $244.69. Another Maine community of comparable size, during this same period, had a per capita cost of $313.56.

Curriculum

I feel certain that most Sanford citizens know that during the year a special class for the mentally retarded child was inaugurated. Because of the importance of this new class I have requested the teacher of this group to make a separate report and I urge you to read her analysis of the work being carried on with this group of children.

A renewed effort is being made to give additional help to the gifted child. Consideration is now being given to possible special classes for this group.

The course being given in all elementary schools to children in Grade 4 and above in French progressed in a most satisfactory manner. I am highly pleased with the progress made in this area and with the interest shown in the Sanford Program by communities throughout the United States. A special report follows on this subject.

A course in Vocational Agriculture was introduced at Sanford High School after a careful survey of the student body was made. Results of the survey indicated that well over 50 boys were interested in the course, with about half of the boys from Sanford, and the other half from our towns sending tuition students to Sanford High School. This course is heavily subsidized by the federal government.

Basic to all curriculum planning in Sanford is the commitment of the schools to further the democratic way of life. From this commitment arises concern with the welfare and full development of every person. This concern shows itself in the creation of school programs that are adjusted to fit individual children, provision of broad opportunities for the development of many talents and abilities, adoption of practices that further mental and physical health, and extension of the scope of the curriculum to include all experiences that will make individuals increasingly effective in everyday living.

Human relations and all basic skills, including a strong emphasis on the three R's, necessary for group living are the business of schools that are educating for democracy. Boys and girls must be educated for democratic life through planned experiences in living democratically. Here in Sanford our teachers meet many times during the year and cooperatively work on a program to meet the needs of Sanford children. When weaknesses are discovered a concerted effort is made by all to discover why the weakness exists and then, means of correcting the weakness.

Conclusion

In June 1874 in a speech before the House of Commons, Benjamin Disraeli stated:

"Upon the education of the people of this country the fate of this country depends. There is no period in the history of the world in which I believe it has been more important that the disposition and mind of the people should be considered by the State than it is at present." Today, eighty-five years later, this message is again apropos. Either we accept the challenge of IMPROVING EDUCATION AT EVERY LEVEL or we will fall far behind Russia and her satellites.

I commend the people of this community for the support, both morale and financial, given public education for the past fifty years.

I commend the dedicated teachers who have contributed unselfishly of their time in doing all those extra things for the children in our schools.

I urge all of you to take an increased interest in public education in 1958 and join with school authorities in making our good schools better and, by doing this, provide your children with the skills and abilities necessary to meet every challenge in what is becoming an increasingly complicated society.

My sincere thanks to the three dedicated citizens who comprise your Superintending School Committee—Mr. Roland A. Gauthier, Mrs. Hazel L. Drown, and Mr. George S. Willard. I have been constantly inspired by their sincere efforts to improve education at the local level and to economize wherever possible. The only motivation I have noted on the part of this committee has been to do the best they can for the children in your schools and to keep the cost of public education at a minimum. They have given unsparingly of their time and have provided your Superintendent with the help necessary to cope with every problem. In the name of the children of Sanford, I would like to thank all of you for your friendly assistance and your firm belief in the future of Sanford.

Superintendent of Schools.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment

The enrollment as of October 1 was 712 and the present enrollment is 705—a net dropout since the beginning of school year of 7. This is one of the smallest losses in many years—partially the result, we hope, of the fact that Sanford High is offering a broad enough course of study so that most students find subjects of interest and value.

Vocational Education

We are pleased that Sanford citizens have shown their interest and approval of the high school vocational courses by voting to build a new Vocational School building in the vicinity of the high school. This building will house the following—Building Trades, Machine, Auto Mechanics, and Agricultural Shops. It is our hope that the new shops will continue to meet even more satisfactorily the challenge of new industries. The agriculture course, under the instructorship of Mr. Malcolm Roberts has, we feel, justified itself in its first year of operation.

Faculty

Several changes and additions have been made this year. Norman Goodwin and Virgil Ward have joined the Business Department and Miss Catherine Sullivan and Mrs. Elizabeth Brock the English Department. James Couser has been added to the Math and Science Departments. Reginald Hammond has taken the place, in the Science Department, of George Reef who is taking advance work at Boston University. Miss Suzanne Grendron follows Alfred Nicholson who has left teaching for industry. Mrs. Deborah Matthews has taken the place of Mrs. Julia Gould who has been transferred to Emerson Junior High School. All of the new teachers are carrying on their work with enthusiasm. The morale of the entire group is exceptionally high.

Sports

After a football state championship in Class B (class determined by the football record of a school) in 1956, Sanford High embarked on a rebuilding season with the loss of a large group of veterans. The 1957 team surprised even its most optimistic followers with five wins against four losses. The coaches—Anthony Bahros, John Caramihalis and Charles Caramihalis combined to form an excellent varsity and junior varsity coaching staff.

Track is being coached this year by Charles Caramihalis. It will be a “building” year after the loss last June of most of the point winners of 1957.

Basketball is beginning to show the effect of efforts during the past few years to furnish game opportunities for a large group of boys. Intramural basketball is now available for boys who do not make the varsity, junior varsity or freshmen squads. For the first time in several years time and space are adequate for this important youth activity.

Music

Arrangements have been made to continue the joint Band Concerts which have been so popular during the past two years. This year the concert will be with Keene High School of Keene, New Hampshire. The Band Boosters have voted to raise money toward the purchase of new band uniforms.

The Glee Club has increased in size to 57 students. The Glee Club Booster group has interested more parents and friends to the point that booster meetings are large and the members active. The Operetta—“The Gondoliers” will be given this year.

Guidance

Follow-up studies have been made of the 1950, 1952, and 1954 classes. From these, valuable suggestions for curriculum studies were obtained.

Library

A real effort has been made during the past year to increase the effectiveness of the school library. Additional shelves have been built, more books have been purchased and much work has been done in cataloguing the books. Reserve shelves are in use by subject area teachers and the encyclopedia section has been enlarged.

In the oral report given by the visiting evaluation committee, the chairman, Mr. Joseph Devitt, State Director of Secondary Education, stated that few school libraries in Maine approached the Sanford High library in numbers of books available and in services rendered the students of the school.

Increase in Study Hall Space

Upon completion of the new Vocational School, it is planned to move the Shop “related subjects” classes to the new building. This will give room for a large study hall seating at least 100 students in the main high school building. This, in turn, will allow the study hall students to be withdrawn from the library in line with the recommendation of the evaluating committee.

EDUCATION

Science and Mathematics

At this time when the attention of the entire country is focused on science and mathematics, it is fitting that we take a careful look at these subjects in Sanford High School.

All Seniors have had at least one year of mathematics and one of science. No college preparatory course senior has less than 2 years of mathematics and 2 years of science and more than half of the college course seniors have had 3 or more years of mathematics and science.

The Sanford High science laboratories are well equipped and in achievement tests given last year in both science and math the achievement of our boys and girls ranked high on a national norm. It is worthy of note that the evaluating committee found these subjects to be well taught.

In order to be sure that our science teaching is in line with the present national critical emergency, the Sanford High Science department is taking the following steps:

1. It is studying a report formulated at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on a "new science curriculum for secondary schools."
2. It is trying to create an unprecedented interest among our science students in the Maine Science Fair—a natural vehicle for science research projects.

Evaluation and Accreditation

A law was passed by the state legislature in 1954 for the purpose of improving Secondary Education in the State of Maine. It stipulated that by the year 1960 all high schools in the state must be either approved (as they are now) or accredited. Approval means that a school is adequate but accreditation means that "its aims and objectives are in keeping with the educational needs of the school—community and its program is adequate to carry out its objectives." It was imperative that Sanford High become accredited under this new law even though it has been accredited for several years by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Even though all high schools had until 1960 to secure accreditation, it was felt that Sanford High was in a position to receive an immediate notification of accreditation. Consequently a visiting committee was invited to make a survey of all phases of the activities, the curriculum, the instruction, the administration, and the physical plant. A committee of six members headed by the State Director of Secondary Education, Mr. Joseph Devitt, made a two-day survey. The committee studied carefully the educational philosophy which had, prior to the visit been made by the faculty and administration.

EDUCATION

The committee made many commendations among which were the following:

1. A clear and comprehensive written statement of the educational philosophy and objectives of the school.
2. A highly praiseworthy public relations program under the leadership of the superintendent of schools.
3. An effective and up-to-date curriculum.
4. A professional spirit among the teachers.
5. High morale of the teaching staff.
6. An excellent system of accounting of student activity funds.
7. A low rate of pupil absence.
8. An effective school and branch library.
9. Efficiency of school custodians.
10. Outstanding cafeteria facilities.
11. Efficient organization and operation of general office activities by the school secretary.
12. Excellent care of pupils taken ill during school hours.
13. A well organized audio-visual program.
14. An effective program carried on by the guidance counselor.
15. A high level of instruction.

Several recommendations were made as follows:

1. A certified full-time librarian be provided.
2. Provisions be made so that it will not be necessary to assign study hall pupils to the library.
3. That the assembly program be enlarged to include more of a departmental nature.
4. That office lighting be improved.
5. That the slight leakage in the tunnel be rectified.
6. That more office machines be provided for the business department.
7. That more use of standardized tests be made by subject area teachers.
8. That a study of the vocational school program be made upon the completion of the new vocational school building to the end that the vocational school boys might be integrated into the regular academic classes of the school.

EDUCATION

As a result of this evaluation, the State Department of Education has named Sanford High as one of the high schools to be accredited for a period of five years under the 1954 law and beginning in 1960. This may, at any time, be extended to ten years when the following requirements are met:

1. A full time librarian.
2. Improvement in lighting in the main building.
3. Addition of several showers in the girls' locker room in the gym.

It is hoped that these requirements will be met as soon as possible as Sanford High is one of very few schools in the state that, at this time, can come so close to qualifying for a ten year accreditation.

Conclusion

The following is from the opening statement in the report, "The Contemporary Challenge to American Education" by the Educational Policies Commission of the National Association and American Association of School Administrators.

"Survival in this age may be staked on science, but the building of peace calls for knowledge, insights and abilities of many kinds. Thus, the philosopher, the historian, the social scientist, the student of language and literature, share with the scientist the promise of the future."

In this critical period in the history of our country, a tremendous responsibility rests on the shoulders of all the members of all the high school faculties and administrators throughout the United States. We, in Sanford High School, realize to the fullest extent our own responsibilities. With the continued very valuable assistance by the Superintendent and School Board and the usual fine support by the citizens of the town, Sanford High School will, I am sure, do its part to meet the challenge of the times!

FRENCH PROGRAM

To the Superintendent of Schools:

We hereby submit our report of the French program in the Sanford-Springvale elementary schools.

Mrs. Sladen again is supervisor of the elementary school French program, which is now in its third complete year. As in past years, Mrs. Sladen visits each classroom twice a week for a total of 40 to 50 minutes in each class. A daily ten-minute conversation period in French is also conducted in each room by a pupil under the supervision of the classroom teacher. A total of 708 students in grades four to eight, inclusively, are now participating in the elementary French program.

In the eighth grades pupils are reading a text Colette et ses frères, while seventh grade pupils are reading Toto et Tristan. Both texts are used as basis for oral work and discussion.

In the lower grades, more stress is being placed upon singing and games this year. Songs are considered an excellent teaching device in any foreign language program, since the natural rhythm of the music helps to develop correct intonation and pronunciation. Games that use the French names for objects and parts of the body teach vocabulary in a way that appeals to children in grades four, five, and six.

In conjunction with the physical demonstration by the elementary school pupils during National Education Week, a group of fourth graders gave a song and dance, "Savez-vous planter les choux?" This showed one of the many possible ways of integrating foreign language programs with other school subjects.

In March, Mrs. Sladen and a group of fourth grade beginning pupils demonstrated a typical French class to members of the Searchlight Club. Mr. Booth explained the purposes, aims, and methods of the program. The demonstration was well received.

In April, the supervisor and the co-ordinator visited the elementary school French program in Schenectady, New York. This program, which is televised to all Schenectady public elementary schools, dates from 1952 and is nationally acclaimed. Many similarities in teaching methods and materials were noted, but the visit proved extremely valuable in providing new ideas for our schools.

The annual National Education Week brochure was focused this year on languages in the Sanford schools. Although minor emphasis was placed on the language arts, English, and Latin classes, the stress was on the elementary and high school French programs. The brochure was highly praised by the State Department of Education, by other communities in the State, and by educators throughout the country. It was cited in a recent bulletin of the Maine Association of Secondary School Principals. Many inquiries about the program have been received from other Maine towns and cities which are contemplating such a program.

For the first time, high school freshmen were permitted to elect French so that they would have no interruption in their study of French. Forty-three students in the freshman class are now enrolled in French classes. The firm foundation of oral French received in the elementary schools is greatly reflected in the quality of their work in the high school.

Since the Soviets launched their satellites early this winter, various national authorities, including the President, have called for more and better foreign language teaching. Thus it can be seen that the Sanford School Department was very wise in starting the French program more than three years ago.

EDUCATIONREPORT OF THE

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report as Elementary Music Supervisor.

“For common things of every way
God gave men speech in the common way;
For deeper things men think and feel
God gave the poets words to reveal;
For heights and depths no words can reach
God gave men MUSIC, the soul’s own speech.”

—Anonymous.

Music learning is largely dependent upon one’s will to learn. This learning may begin in the home through rich aural experiences received from the songs the members of the family sings, from the records played, and from the radio and television programs enjoyed. At school skills, techniques, and knowledge about music are acquired to make music more pleasant and meaningful throughout life. Through parents, teachers, and friends, motivation plays a large part in musical growth. Their encouragement, help, and stimulation nurture the pupil in his will to learn.

Love of music is universal. Music has been produced through the ages because singing, playing, and listening to others perform are delightful, satisfying experiences. As our daily life becomes more mechanized, more routine, music is more than ever necessary to relieve monotony and add to the enjoyment of living.

Here in Sanford the music program is so organized that a full time supervisor is working at the elementary level. However, time does not permit a visit to all classes every week, but with the help of Mrs. Hayden at Emerson—working with the added sixth grades as well as with the junior high school classes—and Miss Goodwin at Hawthorne—I am able to meet all of the other classes once a week, and twice with the junior high school divisions at Springvale. This makes a total of ten or eleven classes daily.

These music classes are divided into four areas—singing, listening, rhythms, and creative activities with emphasis on the singing. This area includes the readiness program in the lower grades leading to the teaching of the fundamentals and part music in the upper grades. By the time your sons and daughters reach junior high school they should have a basic foundation of the various activities in music so that Mrs. Hayden and I may give them as many varied and meaningful experiences as possible. When they leave junior high school, unless they are fortunate enough to be chosen for the high school band or glee club, their public instruction in music is ended. Therefore, the seventh and eighth grades are devoted to enlarging the scope and horizons of the students to the utmost.

Last May approximately seventy glee club girls journeyed to Biddeford for the Western Maine Music Festival, and as usual came home with highest acclaim. It is a thrill to participate in this organization and work with your daughters in this project. The way that they conduct themselves at this time is a credit to the Town of Sanford, and to you, their parents. The members of the Sanford Junior High School Glee Club work hard throughout the year, but I am sure that they agree with me when I say that it is certainly worth every minute of their after school time.

This year the Association felt that the Festival was getting too large for some of the communities so a committee has been appointed to divide it geographically. Our units from Sanford will audition in the City of Portland on May 10th this Spring.

Our Glee Club is smaller in number this year than last, but from the rehearsals it would appear that the group will at least equal the performance of their predecessors. As in past years, Mrs. Hayden is our very able accompanist.

The music department is not solely concerned with classroom work and the curriculum activities. Many extra curriculum activities and community projects are included in its function. Generally during Education Week at least one operetta has been performed, but this year the music program was coordinated with the Demonstration at the Gym in connection with the French unit. Several times throughout the year the Glee Club sings at various civic clubs and P. T. A.'s. Socials are held throughout the year at which time the girls earn the money to send themselves to the Festival. All in all, it's a busy but profitable year for this department of your local schools.

Mrs. Bodwell gave a piano to the School Department this fall, which we were very happy to receive. We would welcome any instrumental gifts of this kind. One school is fortunate in having pianos in all but two rooms, but some of the other buildings are not as well equipped. A piano in every room is not a necessity—but a luxury which makes our work easier.

Several P. T. A.'s are using records as the reward for the attendance banner at their meetings. This project is most welcome. Also at a recent Longfellow P. T. A. meeting I was pleased to hear that their project for the year was new record player, which I am sure Mr. Deschenes and his teachers will put to good use.

I was very pleased to see the number of young people at the newly organized Community Concert Series started in Sanford this year. This cultural community enterprise should draw more and more of our older-young people each year. A very fine way to spend an evening and hear outstanding performers in the field of music.

This report has been prepared by your music supervisor, but the credit for the program should go to the classroom teacher. So in closing, may I "tip my hat" to those that do the actual work in making this curriculum in music possible, and offer them my thanks for their cooperation this past year.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH L. HARMON,

Supervisor of Elementary Music.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit my annual report of the Health, Recreation, Physical Education and Safety Activities of the Sanford Public Schools.

In carrying on my work the past year, I have endeavored to coordinate my efforts toward the establishment of a working philosophy of health and physical education activities in the Sanford schools. While many individuals and organizations have worked towards this end, I have tried to do this in direct relationship with our local facilities, our goals, our teaching staff and our pupils, both as individuals and in groups. The group of purposes stated below reflects a socio-economic goal as presented in ten characteristics which we desire for the individual Sanford Public School pupil. These characteristics are:

1. Hereditary strength.
2. Physical security.
3. Participation in an evolving culture.
 - a. Skills, techniques, and knowledges.
 - b. Values, standards, and outlooks.
4. An active, flexible personality.
5. Preparation physically for a suitable occupation.
6. Physical ability to insure economic security.
7. Mental and emotional security.
8. Equality of opportunity.
9. Freedom.
10. Sense of fair play.

I feel that to insure that every child in Sanford secures his individual benefit from the above characteristics, that physical and health education must be systemwide in its extent and application, in its materials and methods, and in its aims and spirits. When analyzing and studying the above list, one cannot help but realize the great implications each of the items has for the individual child as regards the fields of school health and physical education.

In an enlargement and summarization of the above statements, the parent should realize that we in health and physical education are attempting to do our part in the realization of (1) the development of the individual child to his fullest capacity in respect to such things as health, recreation, and philosophy of life, (2) the objectives of human relationship, which refer to relationships among people on the family, group, and society levels, (3) the objectives of economic efficiency, which are concerned with the individual as a producer and a consumer, and (4) the objectives of civic responsibility, which stress the individual's relationship to his local, state, national and international forms of government. School health and physical education, as phases of the total educational process, contribute in a great measure to each of the above objectives. This should be very much in evidence when analyzing the statements in conjunction with our reported activities throughout the school year. As a physical and health educator, I try to show that education cannot be confined to the formalized institution called the school. Instead, it is necessary to foster the realization that it takes place everywhere and is coextensive with life. It is concerned with the periods of infancy and youth as well as the period of adulthood. It is a continuous process. Furthermore, it is not concerned merely with knowledge, but is also concerned with such things as the human body and ethics.

Good health and physical fitness are essentials for the success of the school child. His health and fitness often have a great bearing on his studies and his decisions in school work that calls for deductive reasoning. Socrates once said that people in a state of bad health often made the wrong decisions in regard to affairs of state. Jennings, the great biologist, pointed out that the body can attend to only one thing at a time. Therefore, if the attention of the child is focused on a pain in the chest, a stomach ailment, a nervous condition, or a lack of strength and vitality, it is difficult for him to focus it on the functions necessary to carry a study problem through to a successful result.

Vitality and endurance are essential to the school child. They affect his manner, personality, attractiveness, disposition, and thinking processes. School work often requires long hours of tedious work on the part of the studying child. Failure to have the necessary strength and endurance under study conditions could mean his inability to perform tasks which are essential to his school welfare. When considering the health of the school child, it is important to recognize the many phases of health. The physical and health educator, as well as the classroom teacher, must then be on the alert to the mental, emotional, and social health of the school child.

Good physical and social environment are essential to good school work. The health of the pupil must be provided for. There must be good lighting to protect the eyes, good air to protect the lungs, and adequate safety precautions to protect the body in general. There must be provision for his mental health, provision for his physical advancement, provision for any emergency that may arise, as well as provision for his intellectual improvement. Anything that is conducive to physical, mental and emotional health is important to the morale of the school child and in turn to his efficiency as a member of the class.

In keeping with the above, it is necessary for the whole administration of the school system to be ever on the alert for ways and means of improving the physical plant. Major improvements and repairs are made by the superintendents custodial staff. Responsibility of playgrounds, equipment, supplies, and use of facilities are the responsibility of the supervisor of physical education.

Many improvements are evident in all schools of the town. Bicycle racks were provided for schools that needed them. New playground equipment was placed in the new play area at Longfellow School. Blacktop play courts were installed at Lafayette and Hamlin Schools, and basketball backboards at Edison School. Protective backstop barriers were installed at Longfellow and Edison Schools for improved Softball play conditions. A complete survey of equipment for safety conditions resulted in the replacement of many of the teeter boards, some of which had served their purpose for more than thirty years.

The loss of facilities at Emerson and Longfellow Schools due to crowded conditions has meant quite a curtailment to their physical education programs. It has been necessary therefore to channel much of their assigned time to health education at these two schools. The assignment of Mr. Gilpatrick and Mrs. Gould to the classwork at Emerson School has released the supervisor for additional responsibilities with the two school bands. All other schools have basement activity rooms that continue to be very useful in the winter program. Hamlin School is again not fortunate in having the Springvale Town Hall available for use as an elementary school gymnasium.

Interscholastic athletics at the junior high school level was continued the past year with teams in baseball, track, football and basketball playing under very able coaching staffs. An intramural league of softball was carried on in the spring by Mr. Gilpatrick at the Emerson School. Girls athletic teams are limited to recreational status, with a few playday visitations with nearby elementary schools.

The recreation work of the physical education department was a great success the past year with programs provided for the vacation periods of the school year. The February program also sponsored the Annual Tournament for elementary and junior high school intramural teams. The recent Christmas vacation program, under the direction of Joseph Deschenes and Clyde Kimball was very well attended, and attested to the great need for more adequate recreational facilities in the Town of Sanford.

EDUCATION

The highlight of the November Educational Week was the annual physical education demonstration at the Sanford Memorial Gymnasium. This demonstration, for the first time, included the students of the Sanford High School classes. Twenty-three units of activity were carried on by a total of 37 grade or period classes under the direction of the supervisor, assisted by Mr. Gilpatrick and Mrs. Gould at the elementary level, and Mr. Caramahalís and Mrs. Mathews with the high school groups. The gymnasium was again crowded to capacity and the program well received by our many parents and friends in the area. The cooperation of all classroom teachers and school principals continues to make the work in the department much easier and better results obtained.

An increase in the number of classes to visit, and also some new responsibilities has made a bi-weekly schedule necessary for the first time. It is hoped that with the new facilities planned at the junior high level, and resulting lifting of pressure on elementary facilities that a more adequate indoor program can be provided during inclement weather.

Many socials have been sponsored during the past year, with the junior high school group meeting at the memorial gymnasium several times. This shift to larger facilities was made necessary by the increased numbers attending these social functions. A quite complete rhythmic program throughout all grade levels has added much to the lower grade parties that are held during holidays at the various elementary schools.

It is hoped that further curtailment of program content will not be made necessary by additional loss of space in the near future. With the increased school enrollment, more and better equipped facilities are needed for the physical, mental and social growth of our school children.

Even if repetitious, I again wish to assure you that I deem it a pleasure and a privilege to serve the citizens of Sanford in my present capacity.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD W. BEALS,

Director, Supervisor, Health, Physical Education, Sanford Public Schools.

EDUCATIONREPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE GENERAL EVENING SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit to you my report as principal of the General Evening School, conducted at the Sanford High School, for the year 1956-1957.

Again the General Evening School was opened. All classes were very well attended.

The following courses were given:

- English
- Americanization
- General Mathematics
- Comptometry
- Sheet Metal Work and Lay-out
- Blueprint Reading
- Drafting
- Beginners' Typing
- Advanced Typing
- Sewing
- Adult Physical Education

It was very pleasing to see the interest shown in general mathematics. Because science and mathematics are very vital subjects to all of us today, I most certainly hope that such interest in higher mathematics and science will necessitate the opening of classes in these two subjects.

The sheet metal, lay-out, blueprint reading, and drafting were conducted in conjunction with the Vocational Evening School. These courses were attended chiefly by people working in our local industries, people desiring to improve themselves and provide a better home for their families.

The seriousness of those attending evening school is very gratifying. I believe this can be attributed to the teacher-pupil interest and understanding.

In conclusion I wish to express my appreciation to you, to the School Committee, to the teachers, to the North Star Co., to the students, and to all others who helped make Sanford Evening School successful.

Respectfully submitted,

ITHEL E. PRESCOTT,

Principal Sanford Evening School

SCHOOL NURSING REPORT FOR YEAR 1957

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Following is the report of the school nursing program for 1957.

The nursing program has been carried on this year—as in former years—as a part of our total school health program. The main objective was to assist each school child to attain his maximum potential as a well adjusted, healthy citizen.

Specific services offered were planned and integrated with the assistance of school personnel, professional individuals and community resources.

A plan was completed for a more comprehensive nursing service for High School students. A health unit room was equipped for this project. A nurse is in attendance in this unit for certain periods during the day. At that time she cares for ill students, gives first aid and assists with all health referrals. Other High School services included arranging for and assisting doctors at physical examinations given to sophomores and new students. Vision examinations for sophomores and new students were done by an optometrist, and the nurse assisted with this project. A patch tuberculin test was offered and applied to the sophomores by the nurse. Foot examinations for all sophomore students were completed by a podiatrist. Sixty-one parents were notified of derivations from the average found during these examinations. Such notifications helped develop an effective home-school relationship. However, with the high school age level group an attempt was made to develop personal responsibility in improving his or her own health.

Salk Polio vaccine clinics were offered to the High School students. These were attended by the Health Officer and Nurse. The majority of the students have received the three doses needed for protection against poliomyelitis. A working relationship with the High School physical education directors was standardized. Information concerning the students' physical health was made known to this group by the use of available health records or nurse-instructor conferences. The school department arranged for a community health association nurse to assist with this high school program.

Assistance was given the health officer at clinics where the following number of school children were immunized:

EDUCATION

- 75 had immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.
- 476 had a first dose of Salk polio vaccine.
- 515 had a second dose of Salk polio vaccine.
- 2734 had a third dose of Salk polio vaccine.
- 50 were vaccinated against small-pox.

Physical examinations for the sub-primary, fourth, seventh grades and new students were given by a physician who was assisted by the school nurse. Parents and teachers were informed of the following defects found at the time of the examination.

- 48 children advised to have further heart examinations by their family doctor.
- 66 children advised to have condition of throat rechecked.
- 2 children referred for special postural care.
- 3 children referred for dental care.
- 1 child advised to have investigation of dizzy spells.
- 1 child advised to have investigation of thyroid gland.
- 3 children advised to have care for an orthopedic condition.
- 4 children advised to have care because of obesity.
- 3 children advised to have a blood pressure recheck.
- 3 children advised to have an urinalysis.
- 3 children advised to have hearing investigated.

Boys in the fifth, sixth and eighth grades planning or participating in competitive sports received a complete physical examination and teachers were notified of conditions needing special consideration.

Forty-one children were recommended for further care of vision. This recommendation was made at the time the optometrist examined the sub-primary, fourth and seventh grade students. Also, certain children suspected by their teachers of having unusual defects, were examined, and care suggested as needed.

Children in the grades stated above received a complete foot examination by a podiatrist. A summary of the individual child's foot condition was given the student.

The above examinations, as conducted, give the child continuous care during his entire school life. Seventy-six per cent of referred examined children have had correction for their conditions.

Three hundred one children in the fourth and seventh grades had urinalysis for detection of sugar. These examinations were part of a diabetic detection program. All tests were negative.

EDUCATION

Patch tuberculin tests were applied to 344 children. Three were found to have a positive test and arrangements made for chest X-rays for this group. Also, arrangements were made for 68 children who were past sanatorium patients, tuberculosis contacts and positive patch test re-actors, to have chest X-rays at the Goodall Hospital.

Home instruction was arranged for four crippled children, physically unable to attend school. Two crippled children are receiving special transportation to school. This care for crippled children is part of a State Department of Education program for physically handicapped children.

Other services given were caring for first aid supplies in the schools, assisting teachers in situations involving a child's health, especially in programs for prevention of contagion, arranging for chest X-rays for school personnel, and consideration for care for special children referred to the nursing service by their family physicians.

The Milk Fund sponsored the gift of one-half pint of milk daily for 92 children.

Thirty-one deserving children were referred for free hot noon lunches.

One hundred fourteen home visits to parents and children were included in the nursing service. This parent-and-nurse relationship was an important part of our program. Four hundred eight visits were made to classroom teachers for consultations, and 128 visits made to the nurse's office by parents and interested individuals.

In conclusion, the school has worked with the home and student in helping the individual child to reach his highest degree of all around development.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.,

School Nurse.

EDUCATION

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLASS FOR THE MENTALLY HANDICAPPED

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit my report on the Special Education program for the Mentally Handicapped in the Sanford-Springvale public schools.

In May a survey was made in all the elementary schools in Sanford and Springvale. Over thirty children were referred to me by teachers, principals and the school nurse. All of these children were doing a quality of work about two years behind their actual grade. The academic and health records, along with test scores from past group intelligence and achievement tests of each child, were examined. The principal, the present teacher, and sometimes the previous teacher of each child, were interviewed to gain as much of the necessary information as was available.

The parent was then contacted and the case history of each child was secured. Arrangements were made for a psychometric examination and evaluation in August. Miss Tabor drew up forms for a complete medical examination which each child who qualified was to have before being admitted to the Special Class.

By August the number of referrals had depleted somewhat as some of the children had moved out of town and others were discounted as their records indicated that their mentality was higher than that which is acceptable in a Special Class. However, as the public became aware of the availability of the class, more referrals were made by parents and physicians in this and neighboring communities. Thus the Stanford-Binet Form L individual intelligence test was administered to twenty-three children in Sanford and Springvale. To be eligible for a Special Class a child must have an Intelligence Quotient of above 50 but below 75 on an individual intelligence test such as the Stanford-Binet Form L or the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children. Of the twenty-three children tested fifteen were found to be within the 50-75 limitations. In addition, there were two other children in this category who had been tested previously. Because of the wide age range, some of the very young had to be excluded at this time.

It was deemed inadvisable to include five, six and seven year olds in the same class with thirteen, fourteen and fifteen year olds. From this group twelve children who had a medical examination and parental permission, were admitted to the Special Class. The Intelligence Quotients of this group range from 50-75, with an average I. Q. of 66.

EDUCATION

The Emerson Junior High School was chosen as the site for the new class. A room was renovated during the summer and the new furniture was moved in. Arrangements were made for the transportation of children who live outside the school district. Five children are transported by the school bus and two children from Springvale are conveyed by taxi.

There are nine boys and three girls in the group. Their age range, as of September 1, extends from 8 years, 1 month to 15 years, 3 months, with an average age of 11 years, 5 months.

At the end of the second week of school Metropolitan Achievement Tests were administered in order to determine actual grade-level ability in reading and arithmetic. Results of the test showed the minimum average grade achievement to be .4 and the maximum to be 2.7 with the average for the class at 1.4.

The mentally handicapped, if given the opportunity, can achieve up to fifth grade ability in reading and arithmetic. It is the purpose of Special Education to give them this opportunity. The handicapped, because of a history of constant failures, need instructional methods adapted to their abilities. They need the opportunity to succeed at something. They progress slowly and need constant repetition and review. Many customs and practices of personal and community living which are learned by observation by the average child, must be taught to the mentally handicapped. It is the purpose of the Special Class to educate the child to the limit of his abilities, to teach him to accept his limitations and to function at his fullest capacity.

We have two groups in developmental reading. One group has Reading Readiness, one group is reading in a primer and two children are reading at a slightly higher level. We have two groups for developmental arithmetic, also. One group is working at first grade level and one at third grade level. We work as a class on functional reading and arithmetic, with individual instruction in certain areas.

Writing and Social Studies are integrated with the functional reading class. Health, safety and manners are stressed, as handicapped children are unaware of their importance in personal living and social relations. Lunch time provides us the opportunity of practical experience in table manners. Learning is easier if the experiences are real. The more concrete the learning experience the more easily the child grasps it.

Many of the children are doubly handicapped. Some have serious visual defects, some speech defects, and some emotional disturbances. They have spent the first three months of school adjusting to a new school, a strange type of class, work that they could do, and new classmates of various ages, and most of all to being stared at and asked questions by other boys and girls in the regular classes. It has taken time, but they have finally become adjusted to the class. Since their acceptance of the class, academic progress has been more rapid. The entire group shows a great deal of promise.

The parents of these children and I are grateful to you, Dr. Sullivan, and the Town of Sanford, for allowing these children the opportunity to prove that they can learn.

I wish to thank the teachers and principals in the public schools of Sanford and Springvale for their cooperation in making the needs of these children known to me.

I especially wish to express my appreciation to Miss Laura Tabor, whose interest in handicapped children was the prime factor in initiating this program. Her aid and support in establishing the class have been invaluable.

Respectfully submitted,

CONSTANCE A. HENNINGSSEN,

Special Education.

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report for the year 1957 as Supervisor of Art Education in the Sanford Public Schools.

The factor in art education that I would like to stress in this report is that of visual imagery. In a recent copy of Reader's Digest was an article explaining the value of developing the mind's eye. One of our most valuable human attributes is the ability to retain a mental image of a person, place or object and bring it forth within the brain as a picture. People who have developed this ability are said to have a photographic memory. They perform seemingly miraculous mental feats on the Tee Vee give away programs. Actually image retention is within the capability of most people. Children have the ability to a marked degree, especially if they are encouraged to develop it. This is a primary aim in art education—To develop the ability to retain a mental image and to transfer it to an art medium such as a paint or clay and also to give the interpretation something unique from the personality. The more original the interpretation, the more creative the results.

A phase of my work that I find most interesting is the yearly noticeable transition in the ability of the children to retain visual images since the advent of television. The continual focus of Tee Vee upon small details of humans, animals and objects as well as their complete forms is carrying over into the pictorial representation of children. This is bringing about changes in presentation and motivation in art and craft activities. Some art activities that were primarily carried on at high school level are now enjoyed at junior high school level and activities formerly of junior high level are enjoyed at fifth and sixth grade level. Within a few years I expect this transition to be increasingly obvious in the work of present primary grade children growing up with Tee Vee from an earlier age. I find the high school students take more enjoyment from an abstract approach than they did a few years back and are more adventurous in attempting some of the less traditional methods of representation. The graphic type of Tee Vee commercial is giving them a broader view of what is possible in the handling of line and form. The children of all grade levels are being exposed to more visual aids in appreciation through the use of the opaque projector and film strips which also improves their visual perception.

For the past several years, as reported previously, we have sent junior high school and high school paintings to Washington, D. C., to be distributed abroad as part of the Junior Red Cross Art Exchange Program. As a result of this publicity the Sanford School Art program received a unique distinction in the way of an invitation from the National Art Education Association to send ten pieces of art work, five from high school level and five from the elementary level, to Philadelphia, Pa., to be exhibited at the centennial convention of the National Education Association last June. This exhibition was to show the educators the change that has taken place in art education within the past one hundred years. Sanford was one of two Maine school systems to take part in the exhibit, the other being Portland. Every state in the Union was represented by from one to three communities.

Due to increased enrollment and several additional grades, I have been obliged to change my schedule again this year. I felt that my services were being spread over too wide an area to allow accomplishment of the goals set for the upper grades, where most professional help is needed. Therefore, in the fall of 1957 I began concentrating on the intermediate and junior high grade levels and do not at present visit the primary grades except for consultation and occasional demonstration lessons for which I have set a time aside. I have been pleased with the results so far. The primary teachers, being left to their own resources and the Art Education Guide provided for them, are doing more experimenting with murals and three dimensional activities that are coordinated with their own individual plans and the needs of their particular group of children. Since most of them have observed demonstration teaching over a period of years, they have become familiar with methods of creative motivation and are achieving satisfactory results. On the other hand, at intermediate level, I am better able to plan and motivate consecutive lessons and to witness faster and more tangible improvement in the areas where professional instruction is valuable. At junior high level the departmental program makes it possible to have one teacher at Emerson School and one at Hamlin School to handle all art classes on alternate weeks, which makes for continuity of instruction. Mrs. Louise Hayden and Mr. Burt Whitehouse perform very adequately in this capacity.

We are fortunate to have a new art textbook in the junior and senior high schools titled "Art for Young America." The emphasis of the book is on appreciative art activities and is organized in terms of art qualities as expressed in an everyday environment. It has exceptionally fine examples of lettering, the use of color, paintings, sculpture, architecture, and industrial-art objects.

Another change in my schedule includes an extra half day at the high school making one whole day and a half. This change resulted from the introduction of a class in engineering drawing for seniors showing aptitude and interest in mathematics and engineering. Meeting twice a week, students learn the use of technical drawing instruments, the application of principles of descriptive geometry in the preparation of orthographic and isometric projections, and to make pictorial representations in perspective. This class answers a need of college preparatory students who are not eligible to enroll in the vocational program.

In conclusion, I feel that I can say that the art program, in spite of increased enrollment and extra classes, continues to grow and to expand in new directions, and each year witnesses a better understanding and deeper appreciation of the value of art activities among the teachers.

I wish to thank you, Dr. Sullivan, the Superintending School Committee, Mr. Page, Mr. Towle, and the Elementary School Principals and Teachers for their continued support of the art education program.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Supervisor of Art Education.

REPORT OF THE VOCATIONAL ADULT EVENING SCHOOL

The report of the Vocational Adult Evening School program is as follows:

Vocational education serves adults by increasing their productive capacity and earning ability. The percentage of unskilled labor in America is steadily declining while the semi-skilled operatives increase. More and more people realize this and are seeking to improve their abilities through the vocational training program.

During October 1956, questionnaires were sent out through the schools, to the parents, to determine what evening school courses would be of the most interest to them. There were 639 replies from which the following program was set up. At the Vocational School 48 trainees were enrolled in the Machine Shop Course, 42 in Blue Print Reading, 18 in Sheet Metal Lay-out, 116 in Heliarc Welding, 15 in Electronics, and 10 in Trade Math. These courses operated under the Trade and Industry program for sixteen weeks—November 14, 1956 to March 9, 1957—four evenings a week and a Saturday morning class.

In December, 1956, a need for Bullard Machine operators at Alloy Products was brought to our attention. A training program for such was set up in this plant for two classes—four nights a week. Instructors were Theodore Young and Albert Eaton. Forty-two men enrolled—twenty-three received certificates. These classes operated from January 21 to June 28, 1957. Some of the trainees went to work on other jobs in the plant and thus did not complete the course.

After the courses closed at the Vocational School on March 9, a conference was called with representatives from industry. It brought out the need for additional training in Heliarc Welding and Sheet Metal Lay-out Development. Further interviews were arranged to find out what specific training was needed. Each industry represented at the conference appointed someone from its plant to help set up the course. The following men served in this capacity: Ralph Foster, welding engineer and Mr. Kelly, designing engineer, from Alloy Products Co.; Andrew Suominen, welding engineer, Percy Matherson, sheet metal engineer, from Wasco Chemical Co.; John Barnet, welding engineer, Maurice Whitcomb, sheet metal engineer, from Colonial Aircraft Corp. A conference was held with these men at the Vocational School to set up two courses—one in Advanced Sheet Metal Lay-out Development and another in Advanced Heliarc Welding. The former course was given at the Colonial Aircraft Corp. plant with Mr. Whitcomb, as instructor. Mr. Matherson and Mr. Kelly were the consultants from industry. The Heliarc Welding (advanced) was given at the Vocational School with Mr. Barnet, instructor, and Mr. Suominen and Mr. Foster as consultants. Registration for these were on April 1 and 3. Twelve men were enrolled in the Advanced Sheet Metal Course and twenty-two in the Advanced Heliarc Welding, which operated ten weeks, April 6 to June 12.

I would like to take this opportunity to call to your attention the men who instructed, faithfully and well, in the 1957 Vocational Education program: Mr. Earl Gorrie, Welding, Richard Holden, Machine Shop, Melvin Landon, Electronics, John Barnet, Welding, William Schultz, Trade Math, Edward Botka, Sheet Metal Lay-out, Emile Cote, Blue Print Reading and Drafting, Forrest Pillsbury, Welding, Carl Hurd, Welding, Albert Eaton, Bullard program, George Bray, Bullard, Theodore Young, Bullard, Maurice Whitcomb, Sheet Metal Lay-out.

Another Bullard program at Alloy Products Co. started August 19, 1957 and finished December 23, 1957. All the men who enrolled had taken the general aptitude tests given by the Maine Employment Security Commission. Fifteen began the course—three went on the night shift so were unable to continue after 51 hours; two others had 78 hours and the remaining ten completed the entire 105 hours.

We are fortunate that men from industry have shown a desire to cooperate with the School Department and Superintendent in helping to set up the type of training most practical and suitable for our community.

Our thanks go to them—but without men who desire to learn and want this training we could not have these classes. We believe these men, and many more like them, are one reason why Sanford is such a fine place in which to live. Men who have worked all day at a job come night after night, faithfully trying to improve themselves and provide a better way of life for themselves and their families. It is a privilege and a challenge to help to direct such a program.

Respectfully submitted,

CARL J. LAMB.

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1958

We, the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford herewith submit our annual report for the year 1958.

The Town continues to make progress. We have an increase in new constructions, especially homes; not as great as we hoped for, but on a substantial sound basis.

Most of our industries are continually expanding and employing more people.

Our town indebtedness is in a very favorable position compared with neighboring town and cities, both in Maine and New Hampshire.

We are continuing to make improvements in our roads, and taking full advantage of State and Federal Aid in long range planning for a better highway system. However, we feel that reconstruction of our Main Street is a very important necessity and that ways and means must be found to expedite this project.

New schools are in the process of construction. Parks, Playgrounds, and Parkways are being extended each year. All of these Town improvements, however, are being made gradually with constant consideration given to keeping the Town within a reasonable tax structure.

We consider the acquisition of the Mousam River water rights by a gift from the Grossman interests will prove in the future a very valuable asset, not only to the Town of Sanford but the entire Mousam Valley.

We have endeavored during the year to carry out the duties authorized at the Annual Town Meeting judiciously, and to get full value for all expenditures.

The cooperation of our citizens, and the confidence you have placed in us by your vote, is appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

F. EVERETT NUTTER,
THEODORE C. GAUTHIER,
MAURICE J. MAURICE.

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Sanford, Maine
January 27, 1959

To the Board of Selectmen

Gentlemen:

The Board of Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1958.

The Sanford Fire Department equipment is in good working condition but we wish to remind all citizens that we are operating a 500 gallon pumper that is 30 years old and a forest fire truck that is 22 years old. We also have radios in service over 10 years old.

The building is in fair condition due to new paint — replacing of old iron water pipes with copper tubing and many carpenter jobs all done by the permanent men.

The fire alarm system is in fair condition but there is much need for more new fire alarm boxes in many parts of our town.

The Call Men earned and spent $550.50 for a two-way radio. The radio was installed on one of the tank trucks which makes the truck a more efficient piece of fire fighting equipment.

The department has made 986 inspections this year and would like to thank everyone for the cooperation given the inspectors.

We wish to thank the Board of Selectmen and their very able clerks, the Springvale Fire Department, Police Department, Highway Department, Town Garage crew, Ladies' Auxiliary, Call and Permanent Men, and each and every person who assisted us during the year 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK, HAMMOND, Chief
CHARLES PIKE, Assistant
EDGAR R. WHICHER, Assistant

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF THE SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

December 31, 1958

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen:

Another year has passed and the problems of seeking the solution to every citizen participating in a program to save lives and property, in this locality, has met with the usual apathy. The dedicated group of individuals who realize the vital necessity for preparation for an emergency, have retained their interest, and a few have been added, to provide incentive, to those who spend many hours in planning and guidance.

The past year has shown appreciable gain in material things, in that, new sirens have been installed, so that the "WARNING SIGNALS" may be heard over the whole town area. Many items of equipment have been purchased through a government surplus property arrangement, with the State and Federal agencies responsible. Through the use of matching funds, other charges for service and equipment will be materially reduced to the town. A building donated by the town which was formerly at the airport has been moved to the Town Garage area. This will be erected for the storage of vehicles and equipment and will also provide an office and work area for Civil Defense activities. Pumping equipment will be placed on one of the surplus property vehicles which may be used for forest fire fighting, and for any other emergency that may have use for this type of device.

The Springvale Town Hall stage area has been converted into a meeting room, where various components of Civil Defense may meet in more desirable surroundings.

Most active in the program has been the Auxiliary Police Unit. This group will take an active part in any emergency, and they have been increasing in numbers, due to the active interest of the original detachment. Fire Department auxiliaries have remained static over the year, but renewal of interest is apparent at the close of the year, which augurs for a more active participation in the coming year.

Several practice alerts were held during the past twelve months, to test communication lines and to remind the people that "TAKE COVER" is one of the rules to be followed if an attack is imminent.

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTY

There have been no serious emergencies the past year to tax the efficiency of the whole group, for which we are truly grateful, and it is our sincere prayer that we will have another year without them. Should the occasion arise, the local citizenry will be better able to cope with emergencies if they will take a little time from their busy schedules to investigate what Civil Defense and Public Safety really means.

Many thanks to all those persons who have aided me since I was appointed as director, in my attempt to make the CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY program workable.

LAWRENCE ILES,

Director

NURSING REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION, Inc., 1958

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The directors and nursing staff of the Community Health Association, Inc., submit a summary of activities carried on in 1958.

These activities were financed by town appropriation, special benefit programs, gifts and individual fees charged to patients. Although we had a basic fee for bedside nursing, no individual was refused care if unable to pay for service. No fees are requested for health education visits.

All nursing care visits were observed under the direction of the patients' attending physician. Activities pertaining to prevention of contagion were conducted under the supervision and guidance of the local health officer. Three doctors from the local Medical Association serve as an advisory group for policy making for our work. Two full-time nurses were employed and the nurse employed by the school department supervised the nursing program.

The directors met at frequent intervals to receive reports of the nursing program and to discuss needs and policies. The directors are a volunteer group of workers and render invaluable assistance to the community in devoting time and energy for this public health nursing program.

Following are statements concerning visits, clinics and activities:

- (1) Bedside Nursing Care—1,121 visits made to patients (increase of 95 over 1957).
- (2) Combination service of bedside nursing care and health education.

252 visits to tuberculosis patients, tuberculosis contacts and suspects.
161 visits to diabetic patients.
74 visits to cardiac patients.
198 visits to cancer patients.
259 visits to crippled individuals.
508 visits to well babies, pre-school children, school children and adults for health supervision.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

(3) Clinics:

Foot Clinics—Attendance was 177 visits by individuals.

Chest Clinics—122 chest X-rays were taken at Goodall Hospital. These were sent to Hebron Sanatorium for reading. The York County Tuberculosis Association paid for X-rays for 8 of these patients.

Salk Polio Vaccine Clinics—782 injections of Salk Polio Vaccine were given at clinics attended by the health officer who was assisted by the nurses and volunteer helpers.

Immunization Clinics—The health officer, assisted by the nurses, conducted clinics for immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. 307 doses of above vaccine were given at these clinics. 103 children were vaccinated against small-pox. The nurses conducted a program in the parochial schools as time allowed. Plans were formulated for a more extensive program with this group.

One nurse spent approximately two hours every school day at the Sanford High School, assisting with the nursing program with that age group.

25 children received care at the Sanford Health Camp. These children were referred by their family physicians because of emotional or physical disturbances. Seven weeks of concentrated care improved their condition and follow-up care is given during the rest of the year.

A Diabetic Fair was held in November with two Community Health nurses in attendance along with other professional groups. 387 urinalysis were done for the detection of diabetes and 600 chest X-rays were done by technicians from the Department of Health and Welfare in Augusta. Many displays were shown to help the individual and his family cope with his problems and maintain the ultimate degree of good health.

The office of the Community Health Association has been moved from the Trust Company Building to the Town Hall Annex, Room 14-15.

We hope that by our program, individuals and families have been shown the means for applying to their daily lives information and procedures which will assist them to either get well or to keep well.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL L. DROWN, R. N.

Supervisor.

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1958

Gentlemen:

The following is a report of health activities during the year ending December 31st, 1958.

As in previous years all public and parochial schools were visited. School children with consent of parents were vaccinated against small pox and inoculated against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. Initial doses were begun when needed — boosters were given as required. Polio vaccine and influenzal injections were given as needed and requested.

Well baby and pre-school clinics were continued. These were held on the third Thursday of every month between the hours of 12:30 to 2:00 P. M. These clinics continue to be held at the Unitarian Church Gymnasium on Lebanon Street. Facilities for such clinics are excellent at this location and the Reverend Seaward is to be thanked for his cooperation.

All clinics were under the supervision of the Community Health Association nurses. As in the past they continue to be good organizers and working with them has been a pleasure.

Town and State patients were visited and cared for at the Town Infirmary and surrounding nursing homes. Office and house visits were rendered to patients needing care and treatment.

Infringements of plumbing and sanitary laws were investigated as received.

Contagious diseases were dealt with as required by law.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.,

Health Officer.

RECREATIONREPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

We have had a very successful year in 1958. We planted over 36 trees and only lost 2 with Dutch Elm Disease but had to take down 29 trees that were either dead or dying that could not be saved.

We sprayed twice last spring and summer which helped in our tree program. We plan to put in about 50 this year.

The ball parks had a very good year. They had three leagues that played all summer with about 6,000 boys attending.

The three municipal playgrounds, Elizabeth Benton, Carpentier Park, and Springvale also had a very good year. Total enrollment at the three areas for the summer was better than 11,000, according to Supervisor Charles Towle.

Respectfully submitted,

ROLAND LANGLAIS, Chairman

WILLIAM E. NUTTER

CHARLES BLOUIN

Mr. F. Everett Nutter, Chairman
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor
Sanford, Maine

Dear Mr. Nutter:

In accordance with Municipal Accounting and Auditing practices described in Chapters 311 and 504, Public Laws of 1957 and at your request, the records of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1958.

I herewith enclose my report of this audit with supporting schedules and questionnaire.

I hereby certify that the records of the Town Treasurer, Selectmen, Superintendent of School and Town Clerk and Tax Collector of the Town of Sanford have been audited for the year ending December 31, 1958 and found to be correct.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET M. SHAW,

Auditor

SCHOOL SIGNALS

The "No School Signal" will be sounded only on those occasions when concern for the pupils makes it imperative.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home, even when school is in session, if road conditions in their locality are particularly hazardous.

Whenever possible, information on the "No School Signal" will be given over the following radio stations: Station WGAN, Portland; Station WIDE, Biddeford; Station WWNH, Rochester; Station WCSH, Portland; and Station WSME, Sanford.

On occasions when the "No School Signal" is sounded at 7:45 A. M., there will be no school for the entire day. The reason for this is the impossibility of securing busses and setting up bus routes during the noon hour. Please note that the signal for the afternoon session has been changed from 11:30 A. M. to 12:15 P. M.

EDUCATIONANNUAL REPORT OF THE
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS — 1958

This report covers the year 1958 and will be general in scope. Details concerning individual schools and activities may be found in the reports of Principals and Supervisors which follow this report.

As any business or organization grows, it becomes necessary to periodically adjust the administrative organization within that system. Over the past several years the Public Schools of Sanford have had considerable growth, in the number of students, teachers necessary to handle these students, and this past year two additional buildings. To reasonably insure that the functions of the school system are properly carried out it becomes necessary to reassign some responsibilities, and in some cases to add personnel. Both of the above now appear necessary in Sanford.

The responsibilities of the school principals have already been broadened to include a vital role in the budgeting, purchasing, and accounting of supplies, equipment, and teaching materials. They, in turn, have involved the teachers with whom they work. This decentralization accomplishes two things — it relieves the central office of some of the detail work but, more important, it creates an awareness on the part of principals and teachers of the high cost of most items purchased, with the result that more discipline in the purchase and use of supplies and equipment is manifested. This attitude, in turn, sifts down to the pupils. Thus waste and excessive use of materials is kept at a minimum.

This year I am recommending to the School Committee that the functions of the Elementary Supervisors of Art, Music, and Physical Education be changed. Presently they spend the bulk of their time with the elementary pupils whom they personally teach. If this practice were to be continued during the next school year, additional teachers in these areas would have to be hired for the new junior high school. In the interest of economy and a slight change in emphasis in curriculum at the elementary level — grades 1 through 6 — plans are now being formulated to use these supervisors primarily in the new junior high school where they will teach classes. They will also act as consultants to the elementary teachers who will teach these special areas to their classes. It is also planned to have these supervisors conduct workshops periodically in order to increase the regular classroom teachers' effectiveness in these areas. I don't feel that there will be any significant negative effects due to this change, because elementary teachers in their college training are given considerable instruction in the areas of art, music and physical education.

The slight change in emphasis in the elementary curriculum referred to above means that with the change in function of the special supervisors the classroom teacher would have her class for the entire day and she would have more flexibility in programming blocks of time for the various experiences that the child needs at this level. Thus she will be able to spend more time on the 3 R's, if this appears necessary. Under the existing system a definite block of time is programmed for art, music, and physical education each week and the child gets this special instruction even though it may well be that he could more profitably spend his time on reading, arithmetic, or spelling.

Implied in the above position is a basic philosophical orientation which I hold, that is, that the top priority at the elementary level must be assigned to the BASIC TOOL subjects, reading, writing, arithmetic, which are so necessary for any future success in junior high, high school, and post high school endeavor, be it further training or on the job. This does not preclude the value of the other subjects which are taught at the elementary level, it does, however, make them secondary to the three R's.

To further implement this emphasis upon a sound basic education at the elementary level with enriching experience in art, music, and physical education taught by the classroom teachers, I am recommending to the Superintending School Committee that some plan be evolved whereby a block of time, say two days per month, is set aside for administrative and supervisory work by the elementary principal.

Under the present organization all elementary principals teach full time. Thus they are unable to adequately supervise the on-going program in their buildings. Also, with 44 elementary classes next year, plus the new junior high school and high school, the Superintendent's supervision is spotty at best.

The curriculum offered our young people at all levels is excellent. The slight change in emphasis previously mentioned in no way detracts from the above statement. After a detailed study of the program in the Sanford Public Schools, it is obvious to me that over the years your School Committee, Dr. Sullivan, and the professional staff have been keenly alert and have implemented the latest research and developments in the area of curriculum. At this time I cannot improve upon the thinking and work that they have done. I am especially pleased with the program that has been designed for the new Junior High School. These two years, prior to entry into High School, are especially important to the youngsters. This is the time when the pupils' aptitudes, interests, and abilities begin to sharpen and it is essential that they be given opportunities to explore many areas and have many experiences. I feel sure that the following program, carried out by competent teachers, will do a great deal to insure each pupil's success, commensurate with his ability, when he gets to the High School.

The curriculum for the new Junior High is as follows:

Subjects	Periods per Week
English	5
Mathematics	5
History and Geography	5
Science	3
Home Economics (Girls)	2
Shop (Boys)	2
French	1
Physical Education	2
Music	2
Art	1

The Junior High Report Card is presently under study with the objective of changing it so that it will correspond to the High School card rather than the Elementary one. The three ranks (A, B, C.) now used in the Junior High are less definite than the five ranks (A, B, C, D, E) used at the High School and have caused some misunderstanding among parents when their child gets to the ninth grade.

Very little comment is necessary regarding Sanford High School. Over the years it has built up a reputation which may well be the envy of many communities. This has been done at a most reasonable cost per pupil. Principal Page and his fine staff deserve a great deal of credit for the outstanding results they continue to produce year after year.

I am especially pleased with the manner in which the extra-curricular program is carried out at Sanford High School. It receives the proper emphasis — secondary to the curricular. Coaches, teachers, and pupils accept this point of view and we have no problems in this area. I am very proud of our groups, they do things well and in the proper spirit. They enjoy success and still maintain perspective. This is the best evidence of the calibre of our pupils and their teachers.

Sanford, in maintaining a Vocational School for its High School age students, is doing something which most communities are just beginning to think about. There can be no question that it meets the needs of a growing segment of the student body. Contrary to the view held in some quarters, the Vocational School program is not designed as terminal education. That is, we are not attempting to turn out finished carpenters, mechanics, or machinists. We are, however, giving these students a foundation of knowledge and skills in these special areas which should be of value whether a student goes directly to a job or continues his education in a trade school or as an apprentice.

EDUCATION

While the instruction and the equipment in the Vocational School is good, the present housing arrangement is most unsatisfactory. This condition will be corrected with the completion of the new Vocational Building.

The completion of the Vocational Building poses some problems, however. At this writing there is no money appropriated for the completion of the building after the shell is finished. It is my understanding that a special appropriation will have to be made at a special Town Meeting, and that the vocational school boys, working with their instructors, are to finish the building. I have serious reservations concerning this plan of action.

1. Will the State Department of Education approve this use of pupils? This would prevent their covering the areas of study specified by the department. A large subsidy payment could be jeopardized if we failed to meet state requirements as to areas of study covered during the school year.
2. Assuming that the boys could do most of the work, how long would it take them to finish the building? Their school day is actually less than 6 hours. Also, each group could only work for a two-week period after which they are shifted back to the academic program in the High School for two weeks.
3. There are some areas where the boys and even the teachers are limited in ability necessary to do the job. I think primarily of the heating, plumbing and electricity.
4. It also appears reasonable to conclude that the quality of work which would be done by the boys will not measure up to that done by the tradesmen employed by the general contractor. In view of the fact that this structure will be used by Sanford students for many many years to come, the difference in cost prorated over these years would be too small not to spend enough to do the job well. The history of using student labor in school construction clearly indicates that this is not a sound practice and is actually false economy. The citizens of Sanford should think this problem through before making a final decision. I strongly recommend that sufficient funds be raised to allow the present general contractor to complete this work.

The critical element in maintaining good schools is the classroom teacher. While administrative leadership, teaching supplies and materials, equipment, and facilities all play an important part, it is the classroom teacher in the final analysis who determines the character of a school and the education that the youngsters receive. To hold our good teachers and to recruit comparable replacements as the need arises should be our primary objective if we desire to maintain the type of schools Sanford has had over the years. Generally, there are three things that will hold good teachers:

1. Effective working conditions.
2. Pleasant living conditions.
3. A professional salary that is commensurate with duties.

I feel that Sanford meets the first two conditions as well as any community in New England. I know of no community which has better working or living conditions for teachers than Sanford. The question of teachers' salaries poses a most difficult problem. I have studied the Sanford Teachers' salary schedules over the past years and also salaries paid to individual teachers over the years. Generally, my conclusion is that in view of all involved factors the town has done very well in keeping its schedules competitive and has paid individual teachers well for duties performed. Without a doubt there are some teachers who feel the above is not true in their specific cases. This does not discount the fact that the citizens of Sanford have made every reasonable effort to pay their teachers professional salaries.

Presently the School Committee, the Superintendent, and the Sanford Teachers' Association are all studying the salary picture for the next school year. I am sure that every effort by all parties concerned will be made to keep our salaries competitive with surrounding areas and to pay our teachers salaries commensurate with their duties and responsibilities.

The Salary Schedule now in effect follows:

EDUCATION

Present plans for housing Elementary pupils for the school year 1959-60 are as follows:

KEEP ROOSEVELT SCHOOL OPEN (3 Sub-Primaries). This accommodates 6 sections of pupils.

LAFAYETTE:

Transfer Mentally Retarded Class back to Emerson.

Add one Grade 2.

Lineup of grades is 2—1's, 2—2's, 1—3, 4, 5, 6 (all 3 rooms filled).

EDISON:

Transfer Grade 5 to Emerson.

Add one Grade 3.

Grades 2 and 3 to take excess pupils in these grades at Longfellow.

Lineup of grades is 1—Sub-Primary, 2—1's, 2—2's, 2—3's, 1—4 (all 8 rooms filled).

EMERSON:

All 7's and 8's to new Junior High School.

Add one 5 from Edison, one 5 from Longfellow.

Retain two 6's (Pupils from Edison and Longfellow Grade 5's).

Mentally Retarded Class returned to Emerson.

Lineup of grades is 2—5's, 2—6's, Mentally Retarded Class (3 rooms open).

LONGFELLOW:

Transfer one Grade 5 to Emerson.

Excess pupils of Grades 2 and 3 to Edison.

Reactivate lunch program.

Lineup of grades is 2—1't, 1—2, 1—3, 2—4's, 1—5, 1—6 (all rooms filled).

LINCOLN:

Same as this year.

Lineup of grades is 1—Sub-Primary, 2—1's, 2—2's, 2—3's, 1—4 (all 8 rooms filled).

HAMLIN:

All 7's and 8's to new Junior High School.

Lineup of grades is 1—, 2—5's, 2—6's (3 rooms open).

HAWTHORNE:

Same as this year.

Lineup of grades is 1—Sub-Primary combined with Grade 1, and one second and third grade combined.

Future housing of the elementary pupils should be studied from three points.

1. The number of rooms presently available.
2. The enrollments expected in the next few years.
3. The condition of the present buildings.

The following is a projected Housing Plan which assumes that there will be no net in-migration of pupils into the Sanford Public Schools. That is, no substantial number of families, with elementary school age children, moving into Sanford in the near future.

1960-61	1961-62	1962-63

It should be noted that if all of the present elementary schools are kept in operation, and if the questionable assumption of no net in-migration holds true, then the school year 1962-63 will see all of the present elementary schools filled to capacity.

I think that the recent report of the Sanford Planning Board, submitted to the citizens in 1958, best summarizes the condition of our Elementary School Buildings—

“In Sanford, as in most older towns and cities the typical school plant is inadequate by present day standards. More often than not, the elementary school is a rather old, multi-story structure with inadequate facilities and a yard too small to serve as an effective playground and far too small to permit building enlargement or even space for attractive landscaping. Though Sanford can be justifiably proud of its excellent educational program, it is clear that the physical facilities of its elementary schools falls far short of matching this excellence.”

The area of elementary school housing will need our serious attention within the near future.

Finally, I would like to address myself to the question of financing our public schools. I believe that this area has had more attention than any other phase of our schools. In the past several years I have experienced more questions, comments, and conclusions concerning school costs than all other areas of the school put together. I think that this high degree of interest is healthy providing each of us takes time to relate the proper dimensions to the problem rather than just focusing upon cost without an intelligent consideration of the other factors which directly impinge upon costs. Certainly we would all agree that the true cost of something must be related to the need which, in turn, determines the value of the item that we are purchasing. I sincerely believe that thinking men in America today agree that the education of our youth is perhaps our most important obligation. It has been stated by many that our very survival depends upon the job we do in our schools. If this is true, and I believe it is, then all of us must make whatever sacrifice is necessary to insure that our children will receive that which is rightfully theirs according to our great American tradition. Certainly we must explore ways of doing this important task in the most efficient, effective, and economical manner possible. Certainly we must examine the base of support which historically has been the real estate tax, and which many thinking people feel has reached the point of unmanageable limits. There are many problems and questions still unsolved and unanswered but with collective effort and sincere good will by all of our people we will find answers to these questions and problems.

I would be less than honest if I could promise that in the near future the costs of educating our children would decrease. As long as we have more and more pupils coming to school and staying longer and longer—as long as we have to hire more teachers to properly teach these youngsters—as long as we have to purchase supplies, equipment, and facilities for these pupils—and as long as the costs of all of the above keep rising, our school budget will continue to increase. There is no other way, assuming that we desire to give our children a good, sound, education.

This year we in the School Department have done as much as possible to keep costs down. We have implemented staff budgeting, purchasing, and accounting. We purchase only what is absolutely essential. We purchase in quantity and bid many of the items. We strictly control inventory and judiciously use all materials, equipment, and facilities. Everyone in the system—principals, teachers, custodians, and pupils, have responded admirably in our effort to be economical. They are to be commended.

To acknowledge all of the groups and individuals that have contributed to our school system during this past year is impossible in a report of this nature. I would, however, single out the following:

The Educational Sub-Committee of the Town Warrant Committee. This group of men spent many hours studying the school budget. Their entire approach was one of intelligence and conscientious application. That their recommendation to cut costs by eliminating parts of the program was not voted in the Town Meeting should in no way be construed as a rebuff or a personal failure. I hope to have the privilege and pleasure of working with many of these same men in future years. I commend them for a job well done.

EDUCATION

The Superintending School Committee, Mrs. Drown, Mr. Gauthier, and Mr. Willard. Their central focus in all decisions of policy has been the welfare of the children. Any Superintendent can ask for no more.

The Building Committee for our new schools—Paul Baldwin, Chairman, Mrs. Hazel Drown, Mr. George Willard, Mr. Roland Gauthier, Dr. Kenneth Kornetsky, Mr. Ralph Worcester, Mr. Charles Dostie, Mr. Mason Dutton, Mr. Donald Bartlett, Mr. Andre Chabot, and Mr. Leslie MacKay, Clerk of the Works. Under this Committee's direction, plus Mr. MacKay's personal attention as Clerk of the Works, Sanford is getting truly outstanding value for dollars spent.

Finally, my two most capable assistants in the office, Mrs. Landry and Mrs. Pascucci. Their competence and devotion to their work is inspiring. My transition to a new school system was greatly simplified because of their help, understanding and patience.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH J. PETROSKI,

Superintendent.

REPORT FROM THE PRINCIPAL OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment and Attendance

The enrollment as of October 1 was 748 and the present enrollment is 720 — a net loss of 28 since that date. This is the exact drop-out which occurred a year ago although the percentage was somewhat smaller because of this year's larger enrollment.

Daily attendance has been very satisfactory during this school year. A typical week shows the percent of absenteeism.

January 5	3.4%
January 6	6.4%
January 7	5.8%
January 8	4.1%
January 9	4.1%

This is extremely gratifying inasmuch as the absenteeism noted is far below the average for the state and nation.

Industrial Arts and Vocational Education

The Industrial Arts program under the direction of Mr. Edward Botka and Mr. Emile Cote has continued to provide exploratory experience in a number of areas. During the first year the student learns the basic uses of hand tools and power equipment. During the second year more advanced work is undertaken. During the ninth and tenth year the following areas are undertaken:

1. Woodworking
2. Sheet Metal Work
3. Electricity
4. Welding
5. Leather Work
6. Art Metal Work
7. Plastics
8. Basic Auto Mechanics
9. Basic Machine Shop

In the VOCATIONAL SHOP in the eleventh and twelfth years the following is offered:

1. Automotive Mechanics
2. Building Trades
3. Machine Shop

EDUCATION

At the present time one class in General Agriculture is offered and three classes in Vocational Agriculture.

Upon the completion of the new Vocational Building all vocational shop courses, agriculture, and related vocational shop subjects such as Engineering Drawing, Consumer Science, Materials of Industry and Shop Mathematics will be moved to that building.

Library

Continual effort is being made to improve the library — the “instructional heart” of any good school. It was the recommendation of the 1957 visiting evaluating committee that all study pupils be scheduled in other study halls so that the library might be used strictly for reference work. As soon as the vocational related subject laboratory can be transferred to the Vocational School, that room will be used for a new study hall seating about 100 students.

Science

The Science Department has been strengthened by the addition of Mr. William Paul who teaches Chemistry and Biology. Led by Mr. Francis Topping, head of the department, the school is presently giving a very satisfactory account of itself in that area. It is interesting to note that the evaluation committee also commended the school for its excellent science facilities — outstanding in the state.

Mathematics

Sanford High has not remained idle in this very important department so necessary in this challenging era. During the past year more specialized teaching has been carried on. Mrs. Rollins, the head of the department, has been chairman of a state curriculum committee in mathematics where new concepts in the teaching of that subject have been investigated and included in a proposed new mathematics curriculum for the state. Students in Sanford High will still be well grounded in the fundamentals of mathematics but will also be introduced to the new mathematics necessary for the present age.

Co-curricula and Extra-curricula Activities

Among the activities of the school, athletics continues to play an important part. Coach Nunan's baseball team was one of the top teams of the Telegram League. Coach Bahros' football team, while not of championship calibre, did give a very creditable account of itself. Coach Charles Caramihalis is working hard with a fairly large squad in Track. Mr. Robert Arsenault, a graduate of the University of Maine, was elected basketball coach. In his first year of coaching, he is showing enthusiasm and a real knowledge of the game. As a result, the basketball team is showing definite promise.

Girls' basketball under Mrs. Matthews and intramural basketball and freshman basketball under Mr. Nunan all serve to provide opportunities for athletic activities for a great number of students.

The Glee Club numbering 61 is continuing its many appearances during the year. A double quartet from this group is always in demand for local and state-wide appearances. A quartet, chosen in competition with other high school musical groups in Maine, will travel to New York during the February vacation to compete among the Ted Mack contestants for a place on that program.

The Band is one of the best in recent years. It is appearing this year with new uniforms purchased by the efforts of the Band Boosters with the generous support of the Sanford High School Alumni and friends. Over $5,000.00 has been raised for this purpose.

A survey has recently been made by a faculty committee to study the need for more extra-curricular opportunities. It is felt that even more effort should be made to increase the number of club opportunities to the end that all students might find interesting and valuable activities.

Faculty Changes

Several faculty changes have taken place during this school year. As noted above, Mr. Paul was added to the Science Department. Mr. Robert Arsenault, the basketball coach, is a full time teacher of Social Studies and Science. Two teachers are on leave of absence. Miss Suzanne Gendron is working for her Master's Degree at Boston University, while Mr. Norman Goodwin is serving in the armed services. Mr. Virgil Ward, a business teacher, resigned to take a similar position at Fryeburg Academy. Miss Claire St. Pierre and Mrs. Barbara Roberts are filling these two positions.

College Entrance Board Tests

For the first time in its history, Sanford High has been chosen as a College Board Testing Center. Thirty students from Sanford High and five from St. Ignatius took the Scholastic Aptitude Tests on January 10 at Sanford High School. For several years the school has also been the testing center of York County for the Bowdoin "State of Maine" exams.

Sanford High School Philosophy of Education

The Sanford High Philosophy and the Aims and Objectives of Education were submitted by the faculty and administration of the school to the Evaluation Committee before the evaluation of the high school took place in December 1957. Accreditation was to be accorded only if the school was meeting the educational needs of the community. The PHILOSOPHY AND AIMS AND OBJECTIVES must have reflected the purposes of the school and serve as a basis for its policies and activities. They are given below:

Education in democracy both within and without the school should develop in each individual the knowledge, interest, ideals, habits, and powers whereby the student will find his place and use that place to benefit both himself and the society in which he lives.

We are endeavoring:

To develop initiative, self-control, good workmanship and proper habits of work.

To develop a desire for further knowledge.

To develop self reliance and self direction necessary to our complex world of today.

To furnish the student with a knowledge of "tool subjects" such as Mathematics and English, and broad understanding of scientific, social, and cultural knowledge which has been accumulated by preceding generations and is considered an essential part in the development of an educated man.

To promote an interest in community affairs.

To develop a democratic attitude toward fellow students.

To make provision for individual differences.

To teach students to take part in, enjoy and find value in extra-curricula and leisure-time activities.

To provide preparation for entrance to colleges, universities, and other schools commensurate with the abilities and choices of students.

To provide a broad, general program of study for students who expect to complete their formal education on graduating from high school.

To provide an opportunity to acquire in Home Economics, the techniques and skills needed to meet successfully the problems of immediate personal and family life.

EDUCATION

To provide an opportunity for students to acquire the basic skills and attitudes necessary for business pursuits.

To provide an opportunity for enrichment in the programs of the gifted students.

To provide special remedial assistance for retarded students.

To prepare a qualified group of vocationally-minded students in the basic skills required in industry.

Follow-up of Recommendations of Evaluating Committee

Since the recommendations of the visiting evaluating committee in December 1957, an effort has been made to implement these recommendations as soon as feasible.

It was recommended that a full time certified librarian be employed. Miss Edna Folsom, head of the English Department, is now giving full time librarian service and will receive full time library certification by September 1959.

Boys' shower facilities in the gym locker rooms have been improved.

Plans for a more rapid purchase of office machines for the Business Department have been made. These are recommendations (not requirements) made by the visiting committee.

As a result of all of these improvements, only two major changes or additions still remain to be completed before the five year accreditation can be extended to ten years.

1. Improvement of lighting in the main building.
2. Addition of several showers in the girls' locker room in the gym.

It is hoped that these two improvements may be completed in 1959-1960.

Per Capita Cost

In the figures released by the State Department of Education in September 1958 the PER PUPIL COST IN SANFORD HIGH was $345.77 which placed it seventh among the eight larger high schools and academics of York County. Figures are as follows:

York High	$ 550.94
Berwick Academy	507.11
Wells High	400.00
Traip Academy, Kittery	389.57

EDUCATION

Thornton Academy	359.28
Kennebunk High	351.31
SANFORD HIGH	345.77
Biddeford High	318.00

It is gratifying that Sanford High School — the only York County school to be accredited up to this time under the new law — is meeting the accreditation standards without an unusually large per capita cost. Care has been taken to keep within a reasonable school budget and yet provide a broad range of services to the high school students. Every effort has been made to keep the curriculum up to date and adapted to a well rounded education.

In conclusion, I would like to express my appreciation to Superintendent Petroski, to the members of the School Board, and to the citizens of Sanford for their most valuable and wholehearted support.

Respectfully submitted,

LAWRENCE L. PAGE,

Principal.

EDUCATION

REPORTS OF ELEMENTARY PRINCIPALS

EMERSON SCHOOL—Clinton W. Guilford, Principal

I hereby submit my report as Principal of the Emerson School:

The enrollment as of January 1958 was 254; the present enrollment is 233. This means a difference of 21, due in part to the fact that the Special Education Class for the mentally handicapped was moved to the Lafayette School.

The Emerson School, at the present time, consists of two sixth grades, three seventh grades, and three eighth grades. The sixth grades have permanent teachers; the seventh and eighth grades are set up on a departmental basis, with heterogeneous grouping.

The Emerson School program is made up of 30 fifty-minute periods per week. A pupil does twenty-seven periods of class work, with three study periods per week. Of these twenty-seven work periods he has eight classes of language arts, five classes of mathematics, four classes of social science, four classes of general science, two periods of music, two periods of physical education, one period of French, one period of club work. The club period is organized for seventh and eighth grades only.

There are eight different types of clubs. Each pupil must join one club of his choice; a pupil may change clubs only at midyear. A teacher is not required to have more than thirty pupils in her club at any one time. Some of the clubs are:

1. Book Club.
2. Camping and Outdoor Living
3. Handicraft — knitting and sewing
4. Handicraft — drawing, designing, etc.
5. Modeling — airplanes, boats, etc.
6. Patrol Boys
7. Sports Club
8. Dance Club

Sports at the Emerson School, for boys, consist of the usual games of football, basketball, and baseball. The girls have softball and basketball. Within the last few years the sports program has taken on a new look; this has been accomplished by combining the Hamlin and Emerson boys to form football and baseball teams. This idea has worked out so well that the same plans were used this year, starting our basketball season. The reason for this is because more boys get a chance to play. Before adopting this scheme there was only one team to be formed. Now with the adoption of the intramural idea there are many teams, each team playing the other teams at least twice, giving more boys a chance to play. In the event that a game is played out of town an all-star team is formed by choosing the outstanding players from all the teams.

The Emerson School building is in fair condition. During the last year new steps were made at the boys' entrance inside, and a cement apron and steps were made on the outside. The cafeteria has had new flooring and new pine paneling on the walls. The windows need much attention, all seventy-five of them need insulation. Another safety measure might be to have a cement wall for the coal bin, in place of the present wooden one.

Our philosophy at the Emerson School is to accept the child where we find him, to try to meet his needs, to try to keep him interested, and to do the most possible for him during the time we have him.

In closing, I would like to tell the parents of our children that we have few problem cases we cannot handle, but we must and will have discipline. If such problems occur it may be necessary to telephone or to call at your home.

HAMLIN SCHOOL—Burt Whitehouse, Principal

I hereby submit an annual report as Principal of Hamlin School.

Enrollment

The enrollment as of September 2, 1958 was 202 pupils, with one fourth grade, two fifth grades, two sixth grades, two seventh grades, and one eighth grade. The present enrollment is 207, an increase since the beginning of the school year of 5. The increase is due to new families moving into the community.

Faculty

There were no changes made in the teaching staff this year.

Condition of Building and Equipment

The building and equipment are in good condition, which is indicative of excellent maintenance being given both by the custodian. New crash bars were installed on entrance doors this last year. Improvements of grounds were made as shrubbery was purchased and planted by the Springvale P.T.A. this year.

EDUCATION

Teaching Materials

The teachers have and use a rich variety of excellent teaching materials which make the school more effective in reaching its important goals. All materials are of good quality and in good working order. All these materials are used in integrated fashion to enable each pupil to function as a member of the various groups of which he is or will be a part.

Teaching Methods

The techniques of teaching used are the most modern approved types. These techniques furnish immediate help with difficulties that threaten to lower morale and production of good work from the pupils. They also aid each pupil to analyze critically his or her own work and performance.

Curriculum

An outline of subject matter used in each grade is in the Curriculum Guides of Sanford's public schools, which was prepared to aid the instructional program. Also the school curriculum includes all experiences of the pupils both in and out of school in order that the pupils may gain desired knowledge, understanding, and attitudes in a maximum degree.

Pupil Activities Both in School and After School

Both the musical and athletic programs are well attended by the pupils. Especially in the Junior High grades many pupils participate in the Glee Club and Junior Band. A well rounded athletic program is very popular with both boys and girls.

EDUCATION

Condition of Building and Equipment

Playground equipment in need of repair.
Classrooms and first floor corridor need painting.

Teaching Materials

Adequate except for shortage of supplementary reading books.

Teaching Methods

Stress on individual development, but with an eye to local curriculum goals and national standards.

Curriculum

Much work being done to make the curriculum satisfy the needs of each pupil at a rate of speed which assures his success.

Pupil Activities in School

Above average pupils being encouraged to travel at own rates of speed in supplementary books so that they will not be held down to average performance, nor be subjected to needless drill in skills and processes they have already mastered.

Partner work being used extensively to encourage critical thinking in the mastering of processes, with careful checking of the pupils' ability to work independently in tests at the end of units.

HAWTHORNE SCHOOL—Mrs. Amy Ellingwood, Principal

I herewith submit my report as Principal of the Hawthorne School.

Last year because of the increased enrollment, the fourth grade was taken out of the Hawthorne School and sent up town, leaving us the Sub-Primary, first, second, and third grades.

We had as of October 1, 22 enrolled in the sub-primary, 11 in the first grade, 13 in the second grade, and 13 in the third grade.

Miss Goodwin, who teaches the sub-primary and first grade, enrolled our largest sub-primary class this year.

The sub-primary children have one session. This is the first time that our sub-primary children have been dismissed at noon.

EDUCATION

We have had our classrooms, hall, and teachers' rooms all newly painted, also have new draperies this year. All of these things were very badly needed.

We are well supplied with the books and equipment necessary to do a first class teaching job.

We use the same basic textbooks which are used in town and try to follow the same teaching methods. We use the Guide Books which were made possible through the Teachers' Conferences which were held monthly.

Once a month we hold Assemblies, in which every child participates.

We presented an interesting program for parents and friends during National Education Week.

Our classes all had the opportunity of visiting the Goodall Memorial Library during the National Book Week.

We have an active P.T.A. at the Hawthorne School which mainly supports our Hot Lunch Program. This year, because of the one session for sub-primary pupils, the number of diners was so small that we had to apply for help from the town, which was readily given.

The special teachers all visit our school. We also carry on the same Health Program.

LAFAYETTE SCHOOL—Clyde P. Kimball, Principal

The enrollment of the Lafayette School in September, 1958 was 198 pupils, but by January it had increased to 204.

There have been a few changes in staff and classes this year. The two sub-primary classes have been moved to the Roosevelt School. We have two first grades, one of which is taught by Mrs. Marilyn Gillingham, a new teacher. The Special Class, taught by Mrs. Constance Henningsen, was moved from the Emerson School to the Lafayette.

The condition of the building is excellent, and the Playground is well equipped. The swings and teeters were replaced last year. The new basketball court, purchased by the Lafayette P. T. A., and four baskets on the building, help make the playground an excellent recreational area for all of the children in this district.

The school is well supplied with the best of teaching materials such as textbooks, maps, globes, audio-visual aids, encyclopedias, and reference books.

The most approved teaching methods are used. With an excellent teaching staff these methods are applied to their greatest advantages, so that all of our pupils will profit from them. We group our children according to their abilities, especially in reading. This gives each child a greater incentive to learn and allows him to progress according to his rate of learning.

We try to follow closely the curriculum that the Sanford teachers recently constructed and attempt to attain the objectives which have been stated as our goal.

The Lafayette School has a well-rounded program for pupil activities, both inside and outside of school, which includes library, work, Scouts, Brownies, sports, safety patrol, band, music, and dancing.

We have a very active Parent-Teacher Association which works to create a better social relationship between the parents and the school.

LINCOLN SCHOOL—Miss Florence Batchelder, Principal

I hereby submit to you my report as Principal of the Lincoln School.

The enrollment as of September 3 was 201. Since that time eight children have been transferred to the Lincoln School from Sanford, five from other towns in Maine, and two come from out of the state. While, at the same time, five children have been transferred to a school in Sanford, and five children have moved out of the state. At the present time our enrollment is 206, or a gain of five pupils.

The Lincoln School is a Primary school consisting of two sub-primary classes, two first, two second, two third grades and one fourth grade.

Two changes were made this year in our teaching staff. Mrs. Lucia Topping transferred from the fourth grade to the second grade, filling the vacancy left when Mrs. Sullivan resigned. Mrs. Pauline Johnson came to us from the Edison School and is teaching the fourth grade.

A good start means success. We feel that the children in the primary grades acquire a good foundation for all learning with the use of good materials and equipment, a fine curriculum, excellent teaching methods and pleasant surroundings.

During Education Week about two hundred parents and friends visited our school. The highlight of the week was the assembly in which all classes participated. Several other assemblies were held during the year.

The usual special day parties were held this year on Valentine's Day, the last day of school in June, Hallowe'en, and Christmas.

Nearly fifty percent of our children are transported to and from school as they live more than one mile from school.

An average of 75 children have had hot lunches each day and at the present time about 30 children are bringing cold lunches.

Until June two Girl Scout Troops met each week in our cafeteria. Since September only one troop has met here.

Besides the regular cleaning during the summer an extensive plaster job was done and two rooms were painted. All the windows need fixing so that they may be opened and then closed tightly.

In conclusion I wish to thank Mr. Petroski, all the teachers, parents, and children for their help and fine cooperation.

LONGFELLOW SCHOOL—Joseph Deschenes, Principal

Many changes have been made in the set-up of classrooms at the Longfellow School this past fall because of the increase in school enrollment. The hot lunch program was dropped for one year for want of an additional classroom. We now have a total of nine classrooms with a first grade in the Band Hall. Our rooms and enrollments are now separated as follows:

Grade 1	Mrs. Thyng	24 pupils
Grade 1	Mrs. Hanson	23 pupils
Grade 2	Mrs. Gorrie	30 pupils
Grade 3	Mrs. Lister	30 pupils
Grade 4	Mrs. Bennett	34 pupils
Grade 4	Mrs. Thayer	33 pupils
Grade 5	Mrs. Schmottlach	34 pupils
Grade 5	Mrs. Brown	35 pupils
Grade 6	Mr. Deschenes	33 pupils
Total Enrollment		276 pupils

Two new teachers were added to the Longfellow staff this past fall. Mr. Robert Brown, graduate of Gorham State Teacher's College, teaching grade five; Mrs. Natalie Thayer, graduate of Nasson College, teaching grade four.

EDUCATION

The work done on the Longfellow school building during the summer of 1958 has put the building in very good shape. A new roof is now in the offing and is expected to be put on shortly.

Our building was recently inspected by the Sanford Fire Department and except for a very few minor corrections that were suggested by our fire chief, was found to be as safe as we could possibly have it. The few corrections that were suggested are now being taken care of by the Sanford School Department so that our building will be as safe as we can possibly have it. Along with this precaution, we have a system of fire drill practice that we use as often as possible.

I would state that the building is now in good shape.

Many of the Longfellow school faculty are furthering their professional training through semester extension courses that are offered by the many schools in or near this community. Through this training we have been able to increase our teaching potential through the use of the many new materials and methods which are needed today in education.

Teaching is done through methods which we have found used and proven by accepted teaching theories of today. Our curriculum, which we follow closely in connection with our textbooks, has proved to be an excellent guide. This guide has proven itself by the progress shown in our annual spring testing program compared with national norms.

Many pupil activities are being carried on at the Longfellow School under the direction of the teachers. Our first grades are now working on a new rhythm band program.

Our fifth and sixth grades will be starting a new choral group after the vacations, with the help of Miss Harmon.

Our fourth grades will start a square dance team with the help of Mr. Beals.

The Longfellow School has a bicycle safety group with every child having to take a test before receiving his or her patch.

As many as sixty percent of our pupils belong to groups such as girl scouts, boy scouts, brownies, and church groups.

The new program of having the principals and teachers of each building work on their own school budgets has been an excellent lesson in business administration for all of us. It has helped each of us to come to know and understand the tremendous amounts of money that are needed to operate schools. I believe that it has also helped in lowering costs since we now understand more fully the reasons for these costs.

I would like to end this report by stating that we here at Longfeilow are also proud that we have a good P.T.A. group made up of parents who are really interested in the future education of their children and who are helping us in every way possible to meet this goal.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL—Mrs. Leatrice Martin, Principal

The Junior Primary Department of the Roosevelt School was opened for the first time September 3, 1958, with 143 pupils present. There are three teachers on the staff, with six sessions of classes.

Mrs. Jacqueline Gilpatrick has 27 in the morning, and 26 in the afternoon. Mrs. Deborah Brooks has 23 in the morning, and 20 in the afternoon. Mrs. Leatrice Martin has 25 in the morning, and 22 in the afternoon. The three teachers here find that we like being together without older children, and it is working out very well having only Junior Primary classes.

If you were to come to visit our rooms you would find that the lighting is excellent, the rooms large and cheerful. The sink in each room is a big help for art work and other things that arise with little children. The foyer is in need of some work in order to brighten it up for the children as they enter. I am sure it would be an improvement for the mothers who attend our Mothers' Club and have to sit there during our meetings.

When the child comes to us in September, his routine in school life is started. He begins to adjust to a new life of learning to share with others, being courteous, following directions, and developing good health habits.

The Scott Foresman readiness program is used, which follows with three primers that they complete before they enter the first grade. They learn to count to one hundred, recognize number concepts one to ten, and number words one to five. The children start penmanship the last half of the school year.

We observed Hallowe'en with a party for each session. At Christmas time, Santa visited our school and presented each child with a gift, followed by the exchange of gifts and refreshments.

EDUCATION

During National Education Week we had about 75 parents visit our rooms. Classes were carried on as usual for the parents to observe.

There has been a Mothers' Club organized, and they meet the second Wednesday of every month. We have an average attendance of about 65. Their project for the year was to purchase a record player for each room. Their goal has been reached. The teachers have a room mother for each session, which helps on these projects, along with the officers and all other mothers.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks for the cooperation I have received from my teachers and for the assistance given to me by Mr. Petroski.

REPORT FROM THE PRINCIPAL OF THE GENERAL EVENING SCHOOL

ITHEL E. PRESCOTT

I herewith submit to you my report as principal of the General Evening School for the school year 1957-1958.

The General Evening School opened in January and continued for ten weeks.

The following courses were given and were well attended:

- General Mathematics
- Geometry
- Advanced Mathematics
- Bookkeeping
- Beginners' Typewriting
- Advanced Typewriting
- Flower Making
- Sewing
- American Red Cross First Aid
- Adult Physical Education

For the second year a great deal of interest was shown in mathematics, with more interest in geometry and advanced algebra. This shows that people of today are becoming more and more mathematical minded.

It was decided not to open the General Evening School for the school year 1959-1960 until the fall of 1959.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to the School Committee, to the teachers, to the students, and to all others who helped make Sanford General Evening School successful.

EDUCATION

REPORT FROM DIRECTOR OF ADULT VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

CARL J. LAMB

The report of the Vocational Adult Evening School program for the year 1958 is as follows:

New skills, ideas, facts, and attitudes are needed to cope with the rapid and continuous changes now going on in the world. Production methods are quickly outmoded by new inventions. New techniques must be learned.

Registration for the Vocational Evening School courses was held at the Sanford High School on January 6 and 7, 1958. 183 people registered for the following courses:

Sheet Metal	21
Machine Shop	30
Acetylene Welding	26
Electric Welding	38
Heliarc Welding	49
Trade Mathematics	8
Drafting	8
Electronics	3

From the above we operated the following courses: Twenty-week Sheet Metal course held at Colonial Aircraft Corporation; twenty-six week Heliarc Welding course at the Vocational School; ten-week Machine Shop course; fourteen-week course in General Welding, both acetylene and electric.

We paid out $3,195.50 for instruction and supervision for the courses, of which 50% will be subsidized by the state. Received for tuition, registration, and heliarc welding fees, $1,380.30.

Last year's report stated "We are fortunate that men from industry have shown a desire to cooperate with the School Department in helping set up the type of training most practical and suitable for the community." We are glad to report such continued cooperation and we again extend our thanks to all cooperating industries. We commend the men in the classes for their desire to learn and to improve their abilities.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL NURSE

MISS LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.

The functions of the school nursing program are to give assistance to the individual child in developing a healthy body and to become an emotionally adjusted individual.

Printed material explaining the school nursing activities was sent to parents. Such material acquainted them with procedures and findings pertaining to their child. Consultations with the parents were held as indicated.

Known information about a child was made available to the teachers by keeping health records and by teacher-nurse conferences. Marked teacher interest in the welfare of the children has been an important factor in establishing an effective program.

Community and clinic resources were used in developing the program and securing assistance for the individual.

Following is summary of specific activities:

1. Physical Examinations

Children examined were students in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh, and ninth grades, plus new students in our system. Also examined were boys in the fifth, sixth, and eighth grades who wished to participate in competitive sports. These examinations were done by qualified doctors. Results of examinations were recorded on child's individual health record. Parents were notified if examining physician advised further care.

Recommendations made by doctors:

- 98 children referred for further care of throat condition.
- Mental evaluation advised for one child.
- 7 children advised to have needed dental care.
- 71 children advised to have a further heart examination by own doctor.
- 3 children were found to have ear infections.
- 2 children showed signs of extreme nervousness.
- 6 children advised to have care for obesity.
- 3 children needed care for birth marks.
- 1 child advised to have a basal metabolism done.
- 6 children needed further care for speech defects.
- 2 children needed care for a nasal obstruction.
- 6 children found to have orthopedic conditions.
- Faulty muscle coordination noted in 2 children.
- 1 child advised to have care for a hernia.

EDUCATION

- 1 child advised to have chest X-ray.
- 1 child was found to have low blood pressure.
- 6 children were found to have high blood pressure.

Assistance was given parents, as needed, in obtaining care for the above conditions.

2. Tuberculosis Prevention Program

Arrangements were made for 18 children to have chest X-rays. These children were contacts to known cases of tuberculosis or past sanatorium patients.

372 children were given the patch tuberculin test. Two children had a positive test and care advised.

A record was kept of school personnel routine chest X-rays. All school personnel are required to have X-rays every two years. Arrangements were made for 21 teachers to have such X-rays at the Goodall Hospital.

3. Sight Conservation Program

Children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh, tenth grades, and new students in the system had their vision examined by an optometrist.

52 children were found to need further examinations. Parents were notified of recommendations.

41 of the 52 children received care as recommended. Children in grades not mentioned above were given a test by the classroom teacher. Any child found to have difficulty was re-examined by the optometrist.

4. Program for Conservation of Hearing

Group audiometer testing was done in the second through the eighth grades. 32 children were found to have hearing below average. Parents were notified and 24 received corrective care.

5. Diabetic Detection Program

408 students had urinalysis for detection of sugar. 5 were found to have an excess amount of sugar. These children were referred to their family physicians for care. Teachers were notified of diabetic children attending their classes and explanation given of possible needed care.

6. Foot Examinations

Children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh, and tenth grades had their feet examined by a podiatrist. The fit of the shoes was noted. Parents were notified of serious defects found during the examination.

7. Program for Prevention of Contagion

Teachers were familiarized with State Laws pertaining to contagious diseases. Parents of sub-primary, and new students were given typed copies of rules pertaining to school attendance at the time of a contagious disease in the home.

Salk Polio vaccine clinics were continued as needed for children of school age. 492 doses were given in the past year to children of school age.

8. Program with Physically Handicapped

Clinic and follow-up visits were made as necessary. 26 home visits were made to children of the above classification. Arrangements were made for four children confined to their homes to have home instruction. Also, arrangements made for two crippled children to have special transportation to school.

9. Program for Mental and Emotional Health and Behavior Adjustment

Arrangements were made for two children to have an examination at Sweetser Home in Saco.

Applications were made out for admission of two children to the Pineland Training Center.

Close working relationship was established with teacher of special class.

Conferences were held with parents of four children presenting behavior problems and plans formulated for care.

10. Attendance in Health Unit at High School

A nurse loaned by the Community Health Association for two hours daily attended the health unit and cared for students needing first aid or ones reporting ill.

Other Activities

1. Seven talks were given to various groups explaining the school nursing program.

2. Arrangements were made for 68 children to have free milk; and 7 to have free noon lunches.

3. First aid supplies kept up to date in all schools.

4. Assistance given to various organizations in obtaining material relief for children — e. g., shoes, clothing, eye glasses, etc.

EDUCATION

5. 398 visits to classrooms for consultations with classroom teachers.

6. 40 visits to parents for special consultations.

7. 56 visits to children in their homes.

In conclusion, our school nursing program has been carried on in such a way that the home, school, and community have worked together to give a maximum of nursing care to all children.

REPORT OF TEACHER FOR THE MENTALLY HANDICAPPED

MRS. CONSTANCE HENNINGSSEN

I hereby submit my report on the Special Education program for the Mentally Handicapped in the Sanford-Springvale Public Schools.

May I first say I am deeply gratified with the progress these children have made thus far. Nearly all have taken great strides academically, while a few are progressing at a much slower pace. However, there are other ways to measure progress than through academic achievement. Social and emotional growth are more important in many cases and it is in these areas that I measure progress.

In May the Metropolitan Achievement Tests Primary Battery Form R were again administered to this group. The results at this time were a grade level score of 1.4 to 3.2 with an average of 2.0 in reading and a range of 1.6 to 2.8 with an average of 2.2 in average achievement. These results show an improvement of 6 months in reading and 8 months in average achievement. Although group tests are not reliable with this type child, it is an indication that some progress has been made.

Later that month the Stanford-Binet Individual Intelligence Test Form L was administered to 16 children in the elementary schools of Sanford and Springvale upon referral by their teachers. Of the 16 tested, 3 were found to be within the 50-75 I. Q. range, 2 were below, and the remainder only slightly above. Of the 3 eligible for the Special Class, 1 was accepted for the fall term and the other 2 were put on the waiting list.

At the end of the 1957-58 school year we packed our belongings and moved to the Lafayette School in preparation for the fall term. This move necessitated a reversal of transportation arrangements. Bus transportation is being provided for two children and taxi transportation for six.

When the class was resumed in the fall one boy was returned to the regular grades and two girls were entered on the enrollment. Thus the enrollment now stands at thirteen, with 5 girls and 8 boys. They have all adapted themselves quite readily to the change of schools, in fact they are getting along much better being with children their own age. We feel we are fortunate to be in a building where there is playground equipment suitable for our age group. We also have the benefit of visits by the music supervisor.

Miss Tabor has found time to fit our class in her crowded health schedule so that all the girls and boys have had physical and eye examinations. This service is particularly beneficial as this type of child usually is in poorer health and physical condition than the average child.

Since September there have been four more referrals for psychometric diagnosis by parents and with the advent of new children in the Junior-Primary and transfers from outside districts it is apparent there will be more referrals within the school system by June 1959. At this growing rate it is obvious that the need for a second class will be imperative. The wide age range of the children in the class now and those on the waiting list also points up the need for a separation according to chronological age. We hope this need can be met soon.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF ART SUPERVISOR

MISS HAZEL HARRISON

I herewith submit my annual report for the year 1958 as Supervisor of Art Education in the Sanford Public Schools.

In years past there has been a false assumption held by some, and it is that the arts are on the periphery of education. Actually, the exact opposite of this idea is proving to be true. For a small number of years much research regarding the value of the arts to education has been taking place, not only among art educators, but in our scientific institutions. There is the ever more wide-spread fear in the minds of our most eminent thinkers that we are in danger of becoming mere specialists in destruction. Effort is being made to find the means of broadening the vision of technical specialists. Because the arts are a language whose emotions can be understood by peoples in any part of the universe, they are now considered one of our most valuable and elemental instruments for world understanding and a hope for world peace.

As an example of this line of reasoning I would like to quote from the Report of the Committee for the Study of the Visual Arts at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1952-54, ART EDUCATION FOR THE SCIENTIST AND ENGINEER (Boston, 1957) pp. 10-11.

"Education should be concerned with the continuing re-evaluation of facts, as well as with acquiring them; the visual arts must approach the intellect through the senses. It may well be that one of the important contributions which a visual arts program can make to modern education is to reverse the usual learning process so that, by sharpening the senses, enjoyment will lead to knowing as well as knowing to enjoyment. But, if a more 'practical' example is needed to show how artistic experience works in behalf of education, one might indicate that civilized accomplishment is normally the result of alert, sensitive, and inventive personalities and suggest that the power which art exercises over the imagination can only add to the acumen of the person who can make use of it. Thus, besides directly informing the mind about an 'extra' subject, an art program can cultivate a feeling for intuitive qualities which cannot be strictly advanced by logic, yet upon which the modern scientist finds himself increasingly dependent."

I believe we can say that our art program is contributing to the alertness, sensitivity, and inventiveness of each personality capable of taking advantage of what is offered. Our program is creative. With few exceptions, when a child takes home an expression in art it has been the result of motivation rather than a dictated lesson. This is a progressive development as the child advances from grade level to grade level. A basic objective of the department is to make the individual increasingly independent and capable of making more aesthetic choices concerning the means of expressing his ideas. At the same time we want him to experience group projects such as murals, and be capable of the cooperation and good judgment necessary for a unification of ideas to take place.

In the primary grades the main objective is that the child become acquainted with the various art media and acquire a love for expression for its own sake without too much regard for art elements.

In the intermediate grades, the child becomes acquainted with a number of art elements such as rhythm, repetition, harmony, unity, and some color theory on an entirely experimental basis.

The junior high school student is exposed to a more scientific art vocabulary and color theory, and becomes familiar with leisure time activities such as sketching from the pose, portrait drawing, outdoor sketching, and abstract design as well as some utilitarian skills such as lettering and poster-making. Each individual is encouraged to adhere to his own standard of accomplishment which is quite definite at this time. Under our program we do not find the average child experiencing what is sometimes known as an adolescent breakdown in expression because of self-consciousness. This is due to the gradual rise in standards of achievement expected which maintains a steady increase in self-confidence.

In the high school art classes students who elect art as a subject are expected to have a serious interest and a desire to participate wholeheartedly in an aesthetic experience. Various techniques in a number of media are presented and an individual style encouraged. There is often exceptional ability at this grade level which receives special attention.

Creativity is also a feature of the technical drawing class of college seniors. Once they have become familiar with their equipment and have learned the fundamental projections they are given an opportunity to draw plans for individual creations.

My weekly schedule is similar to that of last year. I teach in grades four through six every week, grades seven and eight on alternate weeks and act on a consultant basis for the junior-primary and first three grades. Eight periods a week are spent at the high school with six classes composed of all grade levels and two classes of seniors electing technical drawing.

In conclusion, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Petroski, the Superintending School Committee, Mr. Page, Mr. Towle, and the Elementary School Principals and teachers for their valuable help in carrying out the objectives of the art education program.

REPORT ON THE ELEMENTARY FRENCH PROGRAM

MRS. MURIEL W. SLADEN, Supervisor
EDWARD F. BOOTH, Co-Ordinator

We hereby submit our report of the French program in the Sanford-Springvale elementary schools.

Mrs. Sladen continues as supervisor of the program. As in the past, she visits each classroom twice a week for twenty minutes at a time. This year finds her meeting twenty-seven separate classes, having a total enrollment of 767, sixty more than last year.

Because it was discovered that the pupils were able to handle written material earlier than was believed possible, texts were moved down one grade this year. TRISTAN ET TOTOR, formerly placed in the seventh grade, was very effectively used by the sixth graders. Seventh graders are reading from COLETTE ET SES FRERES, previously an eighth grade text; the present eighth graders are using EN VACANCES, a reading text formerly found in first-year French in high school. Progress was very satisfactory in all grades.

For the first time, written grammatical exercises were given this year to the eighth grade pupils; Mrs. Sladen is highly pleased with the results of these exercises.

During this past year, we gave two demonstrations before professional groups. In April, we conducted a demonstration class for the superintendents at the Tri-State Conference at North Conway, N. H. In November, a demonstration class was given for the members of the Maine Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French at Bowdoin, a group made up of high school and college French instructors. Fifth and sixth grade pupils participated in these demonstrations. Mr. Booth explained the Sanford program, while Mrs. Sladen conducted the class and answered questions from the floor. Very favorable comments were received on both programs.

In addition, during the spring, the Sanford program was visited by teachers from various communities in the state to seek advice and to get tips on programs that they started in their communities this fall. Such communities include some of the larger cities, such as Augusta, Lewiston, Portland, and Westbrook.

EDUCATION

In conclusion, may we recommend that, in view of the ever increasing elementary school population, a change be made in the Sanford program. We recommend that all pupils in grades four, five, and six continue to take elementary French, but that only children who have demonstrated a superior ability in French be allowed to continue French in the seventh and eighth grades. This is in keeping with the latest practice in FLES.

REPORT ON ELEMENTARY MUSIC

MISS RUTH HARMON, Supervisor

I herewith submit my annual report as Supervisor of Elementary Music for the year 1958.

This year for the first time the Music Supervisor changed to a new schedule of visiting every classroom once in two weeks. This was necessary due to the extra building used for sub-primaries and a few extra primary classrooms. I visit both morning and afternoon sessions of the beginners and a new arrangement had to be made this year. The length of each visit was extended by five or ten minutes and the new schedule has worked out fairly well. However, it is my hope that weekly visits can be resumed next year.

During these lessons I review previous work done and introduce new work to be accomplished in the next two weeks. All teachers are not equally endowed musically, but in most cases the work is progressing satisfactorily.

There are a few teachers who are interested in obtaining pianos for their classrooms. These are a great help in carrying out a complete music program — singing, rhythms, and listening. Through the courtesy of Mr. Carrier we have one more piano at the Lafayette School this fall, and are very appreciative of any good conditioned instruments given to the schools.

Beside the regular classroom work based on the curriculum the Supervisor is on call to assist in any special projects that might arise during the school year. Below is a list of those activities engaged in during the past year:

1. In the spring the Edison School put on a Minstrel Show at the Sanford Town Hall. Mrs. Howgate and her teachers had a well organized entertainment, the pupils played to a capacity house, and did a very commendable job.
2. As usual the Lafayette School had their annual Spring Program when each room performed as a unit. This is one of the highlights of this building, and the parents are always assured of a very enjoyable evening.
3. Last year in May the Sanford Junior High Girls' Glee Club sang at the Western Maine Music Festival in Portland. Their audition was very satisfactory and the girls were a credit to the Town of Sanford. For their age, this group does an outstanding job.

4. In June the above group performed at a Sports Assembly at the Gym and were very well received.
5. This fall, National Education Week was celebrated with programs in the Lincoln, Edison, and Hawthorne Schools. They were well attended by parents and friends.
6. Christmas is always a busy time with programs, assemblies, and special activities in all the schools.

This year the glee club numbers approximately 35 girls from the Emerson and Hamlin Schools. This is a self-supporting school organization and during the year the girls raise about $100. for Festival expenses and new music. Our socials have had an average attendance of 220 and are a huge success. They are very well chaperoned by the faculty of the two schools. I am happy to see that parents are oftentimes in the balcony to see how things are going. They are welcome at all times to see how the younger set conducts itself socially. It's an interesting experience.

The glee club meets once a week at each school for an hour. Attendance is nearly always 100 percent and shows the interest taken by the girls. This year the Festival is to be in Lewiston and plans are under way for this annual event.

In closing, my thanks to the Superintendent of Schools and the School Committee for their support. However, without the cooperation of each and every teacher with whom I work, the curriculum in music education could not be carried out.
